COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE River again filled with floating ice.

To morrow night Skiff's minstrels per form here.

Several fights occurred on 5th street, on Saturday evening. Two tramps in the lockup on Saturday night. Services in nearly all of the churches were largely attended, especially the Bethel and Methodist ; no doubt from the fact of there having revival meetings. Mrs. Charles E. Bennett, of Philadelphia, will be buried from the residence of her brother-law, Joseph M. Bennett, No. 322 Walnut street, to morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

We are sorry to learn of the protracted illness of Mis. J. W. Yocum, who has been seriously sick for the past few months.

The heavy wind of yesterday has done considerable damage to property in Columbia and vicinity. Several shutters, and chimneys, were blown off their houses on Walnut street. A house on the Chestnut Hill turnpike had the whole roof blown off. Late in the afternoon the wind still kept up, but the weather got fearful cold. In the morning although windy, it was comparatively warm.

Uncle Tom's Cabin combination played here on Saturday. At the matinee in the afternoon $23 was taken in at the door, and in the evening $160. It is surprising that they had so large a house. The piece was simply butchered. It reminded one of a lot of school children reciting a dialogue.

As William Serena, an extra brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad, was placing a coupling pin in the bull nose of a car, on Saturday in the cast yard, another car shifted by an engine, struck him, and he was severely squeezed, but nothing serious will result. He was taken home and Dr. Craig attended his injuries.

The Vigle's Steamor.

The long expected and looked-for new steamer for the Vigilant fire company, arrived Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. The boys were on hand, and with many a cheer, the engine was "housed." From that time on till midnight the spacious engine room was packed, but as the nonneed by the election officers the dele-steamer was well greased and dirty, its ap pearance could not be judged. Early yes terday morning the members were at work polishing it up. It is a very handsome piece of workmanship, but is not as pretty as the old one. Its works are of the horizontal pump pattern, while the boiler is of the latest pattern. Clapp & Jones, of Hudson, N. Y., are the builders and say that all the latest improvements have been put on. The treasurer of that firm, Mr. Collier, insures that it can get 69 pounds of steam up in this morning on a charge of burglary, but tive minutes. He also presented the company with $10 to drink to the health of their new cagine, and well they did. A being drunk and disorderly. subscription was raised among the members and "good things " bought. Every person who came in was treated. The Vigies are all a very hospitable set and know how to treat their guests. A trial was to be given this morning. At the trial this morning steam was raised as follows : 5 lbs, in 3 minutes ; 15 the Slackwater paper mill, thus causing a lbs in 4 m.; 25 lbs. in 5 m.; 30 lbs. in 6 m.; 35 lbs. in 61 m. From then the steam gained rapidly. It was not put down to its best on account of the cold and the bursting of a section of hose. The Vigies on Friday night, in which Reading and medal dome and silver plated band is put Before Alderman B. F. Rowe, of the Fifth ward, this afternoon was heard the case of Com'th vs. Dr. Carpenter Weidler. charged, upon oath of J. Kahler Snyder, with violation of the-medical registry law. Snyder did not appear, but sent a communication asking for a continuance on the ground that District Attorney Davis was in Philadelphia. The alderman decided to go on with the hearing and examined the three witnesses present. They testified that Dr. Weidler attended their families but could not swear that he had practiced 'for gain " since the passage of the law. Alderman Rowe dismissed the case,

The facts of the case are that Dr. Weidler came to town, with his diploma, to register, long before the complaint was made against him. He did not know that a copy of his diploma had to be left in the office and he was not allowed by the clerks to register without depositing this copy, as had been done in other cases. Before he could get his copy made the complaint was preterred by Snyder who was a clerk in the prothenotary's office.

A Discovery that Removed Suspicion from a Family-Charles Adams's Death.

Charles F. Adams, a watchman at the Winchester arms factory, died on December 29, at the house of Geo. Quinn, where he had been undergoing treatment for two or three weeks for inflammatory rheumatism. After his death a search was made of his person and effects for a large sum of money that he against Benj. B. Waley, star route contract- was supposed to have about him. Not long before his death he showed an acquaintance a money belt which he said contained $2,000. He also spoke to others of having saved up a considerable sum, which he said he carried with him. Consequently much surprise was felt when a search of his effects brought to light only about $70. The Quinns were suspected of having the missing money, although would probably never have been removed but for a chance discovery. Adams's clothes, after his death, were taken to the undertaker's, and the administrator of the estate went to the establishment to appraise the garments, preparatory to selling them by auction. An overcoat had been valued and was about to be laid aside, when a dirty piece of cloth dropped from one of the pockets wrapped around a large cartridge shell, which on being opened, disclosed a roll of bills that counted up $1,80?, there being one $1,000 note, one of $500, and three of $100 each. A mere chance prevented the whole from being thrown in the rubbish barrel.
