partments gave employment to about one hundred hands, nearly all of whom are, temporarily at least, thrown out of employment. Among the works printed by the company were the following:

The Lancaster Inquirer, weekly; the Lutheran Observer, Philadelphia; the Home Mirror, Colorado; the Missionary Journal, York, Pa.; the Watchman, a local Lutheran paper; the Sunday School Herald, Little Ones, Augsburg Teacher, Augsburg Lesson Book, all printed for the Lutheran publication board, Philadelphia; the People's Magazine, Philadelphia; the Children's Friend, Philadelphia; Hill's Leading Mining Cases, a quarterly, Washington, D. C.; Copp's Land Owner, weekly, Washington, D. C.; Real Estate Review, Washington, D. C.; the Christian Woman, Germantown, Pa.; Knights of Pythias, a magazine, monthly, Washington, D. C. The matter for Godey's Lady's Book was also put in type and stereotyped by the Inquirer company, but the plates were printed in Philadelphia.

The stereotype plates of a large number of books that had been printed, or were in process of printing, were entirely destroyed. Among these were the life of Stephen Paxson; life of Luther; Brooks' arithmetics; a work on diphtheria; a work on steam engines, and many others.

The building and hat store of Peter Weber on the south and the clothing store of Hirsh & Brother on the north of the burnt building, were considerably damaged by water, to what extent the owners are not yet prepared to state.

The liquor store of A. B. Shaeffer, and the drug store of And. G. Frey were also damaged slightly by water, and Mr. Shaeffer had perhaps $100 worth of bottled liquors carried off during the hasty removal of his goods from the store room. In less than fifteen minutes over eighty barrels of liquor were removed and lay on North Queen street, above Orange, for hours while the fire raged.

J. P. McCaskey, owner and publisher of the School Journal and of the Penn Collection of Music, loses severely in plates, stock and other equipment of his publications; his insurance of $2,500 ran out a very short time ago, and had not yet been renewed.

The Gallant Firemen.

The firemen cannot be too highly commended for their conduct during this the most terrible fire with which Lancaster has ever been afflicted. It might have been supposed that some of the volunteers would have felt sore and been indifferent, or at least lukewarm in their efforts, considering the fact that within a few days the volunteer department is to be superseded by a paid department. But not so; every company labored heroically and intelligently in quenching and preventing the spread of the flames. There was no quarreling, but each company did its level best to excel the other in their unselfish labors—the companies that are to be mustered out, as well as those that are to remain in the reorganized department. Especial praise is due to Assistant Engineer Harry N. Howell, who, in the absence of Mr. Fred Arnold, chief engineer of the department, was in command of the volunteer forces. He was untiring from the beginning to the end of the fire and was always at the right place at the right time.

The firemen were entertained by several residents in the neighborhood. Mrs. Franciscus and her daughters Sallie Franciscus, and Mrs. Yackley, whose home was on fire and in imminent danger of being destroyed, being the foremost to forget their own danger and minister to the firemen by furnishing them with coffee and other refreshments.

No very serious accidents resulted from the fall of the walls, though several firemen were struck by pieces of brick and mortar. The most seriously injured person was Mr. George Rothermel, one of the foremen in the composing room, having his head rather severely cut by a piece of the falling cornice. His wound is not dangerous.

List of Insurances.

Following is as full a list of the insurances as we have been able to obtain:

On the Inquirer building—Springfield, of Massachusetts, $5,000; Phœnix, of Brooklyn, $2,000; American, of Philadelphia, $3,500: and a leasehold insurance of $2,500—total, $13,000. Rife & Kaufman are the local agents of all the above companies.

On personal property of the Inquirer company—Girard, of Philadelphia, $3,000; Royal, of Liverpool, $5,000; Norwich Union, of England, $1,500; Hamburg-Magdeburg, $1,500—total, $11,000, with Rife & Kaufman, agents. Insurance Company of North America, $2,500; Pennsylvania Fire, $4,000; Liverpool, London and Globe, $5,000—total, $11,500, with H. S. Gara, agent. Phœnix, of London, $5,000; Hamburg, of Bremen, $3,000; Niagara, of N. Y., $2,500; Firemen's Fund, $1,000, with H. R. Breneman agent; United Firemen's, of Philadelphia, $2,500, with A. A. Herr as agent; Germania, of N. Y., $2,500, with Mr. Welchans agent Total on personal property, $39,000; on real and personal, including leasehold, $52,000.

William Cline's billiard room in the Diffenderffer building was insured for $1,000 in the Williamsburg company as stated above.

John Hiemenz holds insurance on his boot and shoe store as follows: With Rife & Kaufman, in the Hamburg-Magdeburg, $1,000. With A. A. Herr, in the National, N. Y., $1,500; in the Newark, N. J., $1,000; in the Guardian, of London, $1,000. With B. F. Shenk, in the Reading Fire, $500, and the Clinton, N. Y.; $1,000. With Mr. Breneman, in the Hamburg of Bremen, $1,000. With Bausman & Burns, in the Bowery, N. Y., $1,000. With C. E. Wentz, in the Reading Mutual, $500. Total $8,500.

Phares W. Fry's insurances are as follows: With Rife & Kaufman, in Home of New York, $750; with A. A. Herr & Co., in Newark, N. J., $1,000; with H. S. Gara, in Insurance Company of North America, $750; with H. R. Breneman, in Hamburg of Bremen, $1,000, and Niagara of New York, $600; and in the Valley Mutual of Lebanon, $1,000—total, $5,100.

Dr. Moore has an insurance of $1,600 on the houses Nos. 14 and 16 East Orange street, in the American of Philadelphia, which will more than cover the loss.

Peter Weber has an insurance on his stock of hats and caps of $4,000 in the Home of New York.

Hirsh Bro.'s have an insurance of $3,000 each with companies of which Messrs. Shenk and Gara are agents. The loss is not heavy.

The building north of the Inquirer building, owned by Diffenderffer Bros., and which was itself once badly burned, has suffered considerable damage by fire, water and the falling walls. Mr. F. R. Diffenderffer has not estimated the damage, which will likely be several thousand dollars. He has $8,000 insurance distributed among the agencies of J. H. Metzler, Rife & Kaufman, H. R. Breneman and B. F. Shenk.

A. B. Shaeffer's loss will be about $75, and A. G. Frey's is slight.

Dr. Morris, of Mishler's Herb Bitters, lost $1,000 worth of electrotypes and has no insurance.

Insurance Losses Settled.

The losses of John W. Lowell by the late fire at his collar factory, near the Inquirer building, were settled and paid by the insurance agents to-day, Mr. L. receiving $2,906.04.

THE INQUIRER COMPANY.

A Brief History of the Institution.

The institution of which the property is now only a mass of ruins, was the outgrowth of the weekly Inquirer, formerly owned and run by the late Stuart A. Wylie, son-in-law of George Brubaker, esq. To Mr. Wylie's energy, to Mr. Brubaker's skillful management of his estate and organization of the company after his decease, and to the direction of the Messrs. Wickersham, lately in control, is due the upbuilding of a business which had obtained a reputation throughout the entire country and which had given employment to over a hundred, and at times to as many as two hundred men and women, boys and girls of this city.

The Inquirer was started on Jan. 1, 1859, by Stuart A. Wylie, Jacob D. Gumpf, and J. W. Gaintner, who on Sept. 1, purchased and consolidated with it the American Press and Republican, and enlarged their publication. In 1860 Mr. Wylie acquired entire control and from July 7, 1862, to Feb. 13, 1864 he published a daily edition. On May 1st, 1868, ex-County Treasurer Ellwood Griest took an interest in the business, the paper was enlarged and the concern greatly developed in the job printing, book binding and stereotyping departments. It was in that year that the fine building just destroyed was erected, and it was opened for business in February, 1869.

The Former Fire.

During Mr. Wylie's ownership of the establishment it had a memorable experience of fire. It was then located on Christian street in the rear of the Mayer property, now occupied by Messrs. Rosenstein and Ringwalt, and between 2 and 3 a. m. on Saturday, January 20, 1867, a bitter cold night, it was discovered to be on fire. The water froze in the hose and all the firemen could do was to save the adjoining property. Mr. W.'s loss was $14,000 and insurance $8,000. The office was rebuilt but the business was soon afterwards removed to the new building.

The New Company.

Mr Wylie died June 12, 1872 and his surviving partner, Major Griest, and Geo. Brubaker organized the printing and publishing company, the stock of which at first was held by a large number of persons and has been gradually settling in a few hands. After some vicissitudes under different management, J. Hannum Jones, now of Godey's Lady Book, gave it more efficient organization and superintendency than it had ever had; and under the direction of his successor, J. Harold Wickersham, its affairs were coming into better shape and promising good returns. Some years ago the company sold the weekly Inquirer to its editor and owner, Major Ellwood Griest, whose stock was exchanged for it, and Mr. J. P. McCaskey is understood to have lately exchanged his stock for Dr. Wickersham's interest in the School Journal. At present there are 965 shares of stock in the company, of which the Messrs. Wickersham have 505, a decided majority; the estate of Stuart A. Wylie has 90; his widow, now Mrs. Eugene H. Munday, of Philadelphia, has 57; and Prof. Edw. Brooks, of Millersville, with 40 shares, is the next largest holder.

The sale of the property has been confirmed by the orphan's court and the company was of course obligated to take it at the price agreed upon. With the $13,000 insurance upon the building another can likely be built upon the lot which will answer the purposes of the concern, though probably not on the same plan, as the structure which has been destroyed. The loss on personal property, stock and fixtures is certainly far in excess of the insurance and the company has received a blow which may be fatal to it as an organization. Dr. Wickersham says very positively, however, that the business will be continued in some shape or other. As an earnest of this his son started to Philadelphia this morning to buy type, and a temporary composing room will likely be fitted up in Locher's building. The other printing offices in the city have offered to do all the press work of which their facilities will admit, to enable the Inquirer company to continue its publications without interruption. The weekly Inquirer will print a half sheet edition on its usual day of publication this week.

As the Messrs. Wickersham own a majority of the stock, the future of the establishment is entirely within their control, and it will no doubt be reorganized with comparatively few partners.

COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE

As it has been his usual habit for many years to give a birthday party, Mr. Milton Wike yesterday celebrated his 51st birthday. About fifty of his most intimate friends assembled at his house at 3 o'clock, to partake of his generous hospitality. A bountiful repast had been provided, the large extension table fairly groaning under the load of good things, and all did ample justice to them. Mr. Wike is one of our leading citizens, always ready to give and take a joke. He has served several terms with the school board, and so well did he do his duty that it caused general regret when he declined another nomination. He is as hale now as he was twenty-five years ago, bearing his age remarkably well for the rough life he has since boyhood been compelled to lead.

A Narrow Escape.

At the Shawnee rolling mill yesterday afternoon, about 1:30 o'clock, Thomas Callaton, a young man employed at the works, was taking a piece of sheet iron from its resting place near the heavy squeezer, and in doing so slipped and fell against the large fly wheel; one arm lying on the cogs and his legs through the spokes of the wheel. As he was about to be precipitated to certain death, the wheel having made a-half revolution or more, he caught a post and with an almost superhuman effort, pulled himself out of his dangerous predicament. The wheel makes some two hundred revolutions a minute. Mr. Callaton had one arm fractured at the elbow, and his side was hurt considerable. It is thought probably that he has received internal injuries. Dr. Craig attended him and the sufferer was made as comfortable as possible.

MR. BUCHANAN'S ADVISERS.

"I Shall Make my own Cabnet."

Forney's Progress.

President James Buchanan was exceedingly touchy, when they advised him as to the formation of his cabnet. In a letter to Mr. Forney, dated "Wheatland, near Lancaster, 13th December, 1856," The president elect wrote:

"I have thought and still think that the attempt of a few of my friends in Philadelphia to excite a discussion in the party on the question, whether Pennsylvania should or should not have a cabinet office, with a view to kill Glancey Jones, was unkind and impolitic. It has, I assure you, had a contrary effect, both on the public and on myself, from what was intended. Since this was known, I have received more letters in favor of the appointment of Jones to the cabnet than any other man. I have not determined whether I shall or shall not select a cabinet minister from Pennsylvania, but one thing is quite certain, I shall make my own cabinet. I am sorry to perceive from two letters from Mr. Cobb, which you gave Magraw to show me, that he will accept no cabinet appointment except the department of State. It was kind in him to give me notice of this determination in advance."

The italics are Mr. Buchanan's. In a postscript he says:

"I have as kind a feeling and high respect for Mr. Cobb as I entertain for any other gentleman in the Union. I know his ability and his worth, and am truly sorry that if I should finally conclude to offer him a cabinet appointment, this must be either the premiership or nothing."

Discharged.

The mayor had only four tramps before him this morning and discharged them all.

RESCUED FROM DEATH

The following statement of William J Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our readers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half collar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicine. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and today I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that everyone afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold in Lancaster at Cochran's Drug Store, 137 and 139 North Queen stre. ly28-lydeod Th&w2

Quinine and Arsenic

Form the basis of many of the Ague remedies in the market, and are the last resort of physicians and people who know no better medicine to employ, for this distressing complaint. The effects of either of these drugs are destructive to the system, producing headache, intestinal disorders, vertigo, dizziness, ringing in the ears, and depression of the constitutional health. Ayer's Ague Cure is a vegetable discovery, containing neither quinine, arsenic, nor any deleterious ingredient, and is an infallible and rapid cure for every form of Fever and Ague. Its effects are permanent and certain, and no injury can result from its use. Besides being a positive cure for Fever and Ague in all its forms, it is also a superior remedy for Liver Complaints. It is an excellent tonic and preventive, as well as cure, of all complaints peculiar to malarious, marshy and miasmatic districts. By direct action on the Liver and biliary apparatus, it stimulates the system to a vigorous, healthy condition. For sale by all dealers. jl3-1wdeod&w

THIRD EDITION.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 26, 1882.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—For the Middle states, warmer south to west winds, cloudy weather, rain, probably clearing during the night, and falling barometer during the day, followed on Friday morning by rising barometer.

HUNGRY FLAMES ELSEWHERE.

Barn and Live Stock Burned in Philadelphia's Suburbs.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—Fire broke out early this morning in a frame barn on York road above Fisher's lane in the suburbs. The barn was entirely destroyed together with its contents which consisted of ten tons of hay, eleven cows and four horses. There is no insurance.

Jail Fired by a "Crank."

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Jan. 26.—Yesterday morning a fire destroyed part of the jail and county building. The loss by fire and water is from $6,000 to $9,000; insured. A crauk prisoner in the jail named J. J. Adams set fire to the building.

Eighty Thousand Dollar Loss.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The police authorities telegraphed this morning that fire in the house of George H. Bend, Riverdale avenue, one mile from Kingsbridge, damaged it to the extent of eighty thousand dollars. No further particulars.

Later Particulars.

The fire was discovered at three o'clock this morning, and was then under great headway. By six o'clock the building was burned to the ground. The fire was caused by a defective flue, and the building was one of the handsomest residences in Riverdale. Mr. Geo. H. Bend is a wealthy broker and member of the New York stock exchange.

A Maine Woman's Misfortune.

ROCKLAND, Me., Jan. 26—The house of Elizabeth Ashworth at South Thomaston was burned last night. Loss, $6,000, insured for $4,000.

A BURSTING BOILER.

Making Sad Work in a Colorado Mining Shaft.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 26.—A special from Canon City to the Republican says a boiler exploded at a shaft of the Canon City coal company yesterday morning, killing a fireman instantly, and injuring a blacksmith so badly that he has since died. The engineer had his leg broken and was badly scalded. The boiler was thrown a distance of 300 yards.

A Fireman Fatally Steamed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 26.—John Warrick, colored, aged 60 years, employed as night fireman in the boiler room of the Corcoran building, in this city, was terribly scalded at an early hour this morning, while attempting to remove some obstructions from the tubes of one of the boilers. He had placed a board in the soot box, and was lying upon it at work on the obstruction, when a sudden escape of cold water into the hot ash box generated an enormous volume of steam, completely parboiling the unfortunate fireman. He was sent to the Freedman's hospital at once. His injuries will probably result fatally.

RAW HAM.

Fatal Trichinosis in Minnesota—Whole Families Poisoned by the Parasites.

MARSHALL, Minn., Jan. 26.—Great excitement has been caused in Minnesota by trichinæ poisoning from eating raw ham. Fifteen prominent citizens of Minnesota were affected and three have died. An entire family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Cushner, their sons William, aged 32, Nicholas, aged 14, Jacob, aged 12, and a daughter Annie, aged 18, were poisoned—Mr. Cushner fatally, dying on Tuesday. Fritz Pregger and Joseph Wilfort have died from the same cause. O. Gilbertson, D. Ziblitz and Dr. Sanderson are quite ill, while Peter Pickles, Oscar Thompson, Anthony Winters and a German living near the village, whose name is unknwn, are in a precarious situation. The matter will be brought before the state board of health for investigation.

THE GRAND ARMY.

Department Officers Elected.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 26.—At today's session of the Grand Army of the Republic state encampment additional officers were elected as follows: Senior vice commander, W. N. Jones, of Williamsport; junior vice commander, James M. Gibbs, Danville; chaplain, J. W. Sayres, Reading; medical director, Wm. D. Hall, Altoona; council of administration, E. G. Sellers, Thos. K. Donnelly, L. W. Shingle, A. J. Sellers, W. F. Aull. Wilkesbarre was selected as the place for the next annual encampment, and Gettysburg for the summer encampment. The new officers were installed by Gen. Louis Wagner.

THE GUITEAU JURY.

What they Say About the Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Star says: "In a conversation with some of the jurors in the Guiteau case it was learned that what has been said all along as to the prisoner running his own case was true. They said that in his examination he asked the jurors to be allowed to go to their homes during the holidays; that they did not wish to be separated, their minds were made up at that time. The answer was they were apprehensive that if any did separate some question might be raised about it. To the question whether the jurors had seen any newspapers during their confinement the answer was that even had they had opportunity they would not have taken advantage of it."

THE SPUYTEN DUYVIL DISASTER.

The Trainmen Held in Bail.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—George Melius, the brakeman, and George F. Hanford, the conductor, who were charged by the coroner's jury yesterday with being in part responsible for the recent railroad disaster at Spuyten Du
