NOW AND THEN. And had you loved me then, my dear And had you loved me there. When still the sun was in the east And hope was in the air-When all the birds sang to the dawn, And I but sang to you,

Oh, had you loved me then, my dear,

And had you then been true; But ah! wore on, my dear, And when the noon grew hot The drowsy birds forgot to sing, And you and I forgot To talk of love, or live for faith Or build ourselves a nest,

And now our hearts are shelterless Our sun is in the West.

The Macauleys.

The Actor and Manager Quarrel. Louisville Dispatch to N. Y. Eun.

As is well known by theatrical people throughout the country, a quarrel has existed for several years between Barney McAuley, the well known actor, and John T. Macauley, the manager of Macauley's theatre in this city. Such hatred has existed between the brothers, that Barney had his name changed from Macauley to McAuley. The cause of the quarrel was Macauley's theatre passing out of the hands of Barney into the hands of his brother John. Barney has always claimed that his brother swindled him, while John has as stoutly insisted that it was no such thing. The brothers have a host of friends in Louisville and throughout the West and South. Intimate friends here have tried for some time to effect an amicable settlement between them, but without success. On Monday night Barney began a week's engagement in Masonic Temple, and did a good business. At the close of the third act in "Uncle Daniel; or, The Messenger from Jarvis Section," last night, Barney stepped out on the stage and said that he had a personal statement to make He spoke nearly an hour, giving a history of his embarrassments and the way he lost the theatre and arraigning his brother as a swindler. He said that the extravagant cost of the building and the panic of 1873 greatly embarrassed him, and he got his brother John to take charge of the building while he went starring. He made every struggle he could to meet notes on the building when due, but failed, and the building was advertised to be sold. On the day of the sale not a single member of the profession bid on the building. "But," said he, "all this time my brother had been undermining me, and he betrayed me, and through his treachery I lost my property. Since then I have been working on a salary; but, thank God, I have one good friend left in the world, and that friend is my wife.' Barney was frequently applauded by his friends in the theatre, but those who had come to see the play were greatly amazed and some left the theatre in disgust.

John T. Maccaulcy, in an interview today said : " My brother is simply soured at me, and mad without cause. I paid $40,000 for the building, or $5,000 more than he could have got from any one else. Ho was head over heels in debt, and was utterly powerless to save his property. Friends eame to me and offered to raise me the money. I accepted the proposition and that is all there is in it. I have tried to make friends with Barney, but he declines my friendship. It was a legitimate business transaction clear through. My endorsers will tell you that."
Since Barney had made the quarrel public everybody is talking about it. Public opinion is divided, but the preponderance is on John T. Macauley's side.

READING RAILROAD FINANCES. A Big Balance Reported by the Master to Begin the New Year On.

George M. Dallas, master of the Reading railroad receivership, yesterday filed his thirty-second report (eighteenth audit) of the receipts and expenditures of the Reading railroad and coal and iron companies the month of November last. The total receipts were $3,423,666.06.
This included a balance from the October account of $561,683.83, and left a balance of $677,127.17 to be carried over into the December account. The deferred income bonds showed a balance on hand on December 1, of $277,568.68. The total receipts of the Reading coal and iron company for the month of November were $1,530,580.86. This included a balance from October of $99,798.31, and left a balance of $16,046.26 to be carried into the December account.

The thirty-third report (ninetcenth audit) of the master, embracing the account of the road for December last, was also filed in the circuit court office at the same time. Including the balance from November, the total receipts for December of the Reading railroad were $3,614,343.27, and a balance of $475,873.72 remained to be carried into the account for the new year. The balance shown by the deferred income bond account was the same as that of the previous month. The total receipts of the Reading coal and iron company for December, in cluding the balance from November, were $1,603,319.22, and a balance of $37,951.03 was left to be carried into the account for

THREE UNFORTUNATE SWISS.

Young Men Who Claim They Are Imprisoned Without the Slightest Cause. The sympathies of some of the inspec tors of the Eastern penitentiary have been moved in behalf of three comrades of Reinhardt Buch, the prisoner from Lebanon county who committed suicide in his cell by cutting his throat on Saturday night last. The men are John Hilbert, Otto Lear and Henry Smith All three are Swiss. The last named, Smith, is an idiot, having no comprehension of any-thing that is said to him. The others are well educated young men, with the stal-wart physique of the Switzer. Their story is that they came from Switzerland to get work as farm hands. They found such employment on farms between Lebanon and Reading. When they received their pay they started for the West to settle on public lands. They preferred to travel on foot, and declare that they did not make any begging requests and never slept in any barns at night, but camped out and slumbered around a fire which they built in the woods, a hardy exposure to which they were accustomed to their native land. Unfortunately for them there was a violent antipathy against pedestrians and foreigners generally among the people of Lebauon county, who had suffered from the depredation of the Blue Mountain gang of tramps by led Jacob Hensler, alias Old Socks, whose accomplises took the nick-Socks, whose accomplices took the nick-names of well-know German robbers. Hilbert and his comrades were pounced upon one night, while they were asleep around their fire, and were clapped into Lebanon jail and soon afterwards were summarily dispatched to the Eastern pen itentiary under imprisonments of one year ch as tramps. The deny that this brand of vagabondage should have been affixed to them and that if they could have had a fair chance in an unprejudiced community they would have been released. There is a possibility that the board of pardons will be invoked to release them.

MEDICAL. PAREWELL NOTICE.

DR. GREENE is truly sorry to leave his numerous friends and patients, his excellent home in the Stevens House and his beautiful offices for another city, but he believes he has a mission to fulfill, viz: The establishment of a college where OMNIPATHY can be taught to the hundreds who are anxiously waiting, and hence.

ABOUT THE MIDDLE OF MARCH will open an office either in Harrisburg or Washington. He believes his income is equal to any four M. Ds. in Lancaster, and he will for a reasonable sum teach one M. D. all his methods of curing the sick and leave his practice exclusively with him. Dr. G. will be glad to have anyone call or send and get four pamphlets free, with names of persons made well, who were afficted with Dyspepsia, Consumption, diseases of the heart, brain and other parts of the body. One of the pamphlets contains a concise history of vaccination and another of Catarrh, with names of persons cured. Over five hundred persons cured of Catarrh in this city for 50 cents. The CureQuick for Catarrh sent to anyone on receipt of 50 cents. Examinations and consultations free.

Dr. C. A. Greene, 146 EAST KING STREET.

Note—Dr. Greene has 430 acres of densely timbered land (oak, plack walnut, &c.) in Kentucky, on Ohio river, which he will sell cheap, or exchange for land in this county. MWF&S

REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE. Brandy as a Medicine. The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those affected with Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable disease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their ills and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is REIGART'S OLD BRANDY. Sold by our enterprising young triend, H E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as in as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preterence over all other Brandles, no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case of ases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—

A hard-working farmer had been afficted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour cructations constantly—no appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against ail kinds of strong drink. When advised to try

Renowned Cough Syrup.

A pleasant, safe, speedy and sure remedy for Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, Asthma, Influenza. Soreness of the Throat and Chest, Bronchitts, Whooping Cough, Spitting of Blood, Inflammation of the Lungs and all Diseases of the Chest and Air Passages.

This valuable preparation combines all the medicinal virtues of those articles which long experience has proved to possess the most safe and efficient qualities for the cure of all kinds of lung diseases.

Religant's Old Brandy,
In his case, he looked up with astonishment but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He at last consented to follow our advice. He are last consented to follow our advice. He are last consented to follow our advice. He are last consented to follow our advices. Reigart's Old Brandy,
