From Christ, had rolled away time. King Henry stood in Waltham Wood, All young green, sunny-shady; He would not mount his pawing horse. Though men and dogs were ready.

What alls his Highness? Up and down In moody sort he paceth; He is not wont to be so slack, Whatever game he chaseth.

He paced and stopp'd, he paced and turn'd At times he inly muttered; He pull'd his girdle, twitch'd his beard, But not a word he uttered.

The hounds in couples nosed about Or on the sward lay idle; The huntsman stole a fearful glance, While fingering girth or bridle.

Among themselves, but not too loud, The young lords laughed and chatter'd Or broke a branch of hawthorn-bloom, As though it nothing matter'd.

King Henry sat on a fell'd oak, With gloomier eyes and stranger His brows were knit, his lips he bit To look that way was danger.

Mused he on Pope and Emperor : Denied them and defied them " O: traitors in his very realm Completting !-- we betide them !

Suddenly on the southern breeze. Distinct though distant, sounded A cannon-shot,—and to his teet The King of England bounded.

" My horse," he shouts, "uncouple now !" And all were quickly mounted, A hind was found; man, horse, and hound Like farious demons hunted.

Fast fled the deer by grove and glade The chase did faster follow; And every wild wood alley rang With hunter's horn and hollo.

Away together stream'd the hounds Forward press'd every rider. You're free to slay a hind in May,

If there's no fawn beside her King Henry rode a mighty horse. His Grace being broad and heavy, And like a stormy wind he crash'd Through -opse and thicket leavy.

He rode so hard, and roar'd so loud All men his course avoided ; The flory steed long held on tret. With many a short enjoyed it.

The hind was kill'd, and down they sat To tankard and to pastry. Ha, by St. George, a noble prince Though hot by times and hasty."

Wherefore that chase began on The signal of a gun, far off, One growl of distant cannon And why so jovial grew his Grace,

Lord Nortolk knew, and other icw.

About Coroner's Fees.

EDS. INTELLIGENCER: The bills Danny Shiffer and Charles Wolfe were allowed, "as usual," the former by two county commissioners and the latter by the supreme court. These were two great victories in one day against all protest; yet I think it was very much like barking at the wolf and letting the fox take the chickens. Some people can be liberal with others' money, to gain a bubble reputation-with county for costs; but Commissioner Hildebrand is not one of those who pay out the county money, without some satisfaction that it is first right to do so; hence, we find him signing the warrants for the payment of the physicians, who made post-mortem examinations, but withholding his signature to "Honest Danny's" bills—although there was no attachment filed against them. We are told that the commissioners were satisfied that Danny had pain the jurors before they approved his bills. Mr. Hildebrant does not appear to be so well satisfied, and I believe he is one of the county commissioners. There is a standing resolution on the minutes of the commissioners, which was pub lished in all the daily papers, to the effect that, in future, all bills presented by the coroner should lie over until the Monday one week from the time of presentation, before being paid. Why those presented last Monday were railroaded through, in opposition to this resolve, I am at a loss to understand. But these commissioners were "satisfied the jurors had been paid" The former commissioners were not as easily satisfied, and appealed from the award of arbitrators in favor of Isaac Mishler on a claim for $12.37. At the sec-ond trial—the first having been in favor of defendant-Mr. Mishler admitted on the witness stand, that, according to a custom, he had paid most of the jurors but 50 cents on the dollar and treated them, whilst in some instances the jurors took nothing at all. The court decided that there could be no recovery for what had not been paid out (although the jurors may return their verdict, "that we find that Wm. Bunnick came to his death through dying and we have been paid our

WEAK AND NERVOUS CONSTITUTIONS

In saying that we know a Positive Cure for sick Headache, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Paralysis, Sleeplessness and Dys pepsia, we refer, of course, to Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills, which are all they are recommended to be, and will cure the above named diseases without any doubt, as they have permanently cured thousands.

The greatest discovery and the best remedy now extant is found in these pills. The properties of Celery and Chamomile are peculiarly adapted to cure headache, and it remained for Dr. Benson to formulate and compound the properties so as to make them available. The Herald says: Dr. Benson is recognized as one of the most eminent and successful physicians in Baltimore, and his reputation is of itself a sufficient guarantee of the value of his medi-

REIGART'S OLD WINE STORE. Brandy as a Medicine.

The following article was voluntarily sent to Mr. H. E. Slaymaker, Agent for Reigart's Old Wine Store, by a prominent practising physician of this county, who has extensively used the Brandy referred to in his regular practice. It is commended to the attention of those afficied with Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.
This now much abased Alcoholic Stimulant was never intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the care of some of the destructive discusses which sweep away their annual thousands of victims. With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miserable discusse Dysnepsia a specific remarks which is ease Dyspepsia, a specific remedy, which is nothing more or less than Brandy.

The aged, with feeble appetite and more or ess debility, will find this simple medicine. when used properly, A Sovereign Remedy or all their fils and aches. Be it, however strictly understood that we prescribe and use but one article, and that is REIGART'S OLD BRANDY. Sold by our enterprising young friend, if L SLAYMAKER, This Brandy has stood the SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as hat as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifies would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case of ascs. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, In cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we A hard-working farmer had been athleten A hard-working farmer had been ablicted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Mcthodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy. In his case, he looked up with astonishment but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with HAUGHMAN, the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which hetchose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A PRACTISING PRYSICIAN.
