A Shoemaker Who Attributes a Paralytic Cure to Divine Power. Philadelphia Record.

That the day of miracles is not past is firmly believed by S. F. Delavan, of No. 542 Silliman street, West Philadelphia. Once he was helpless, so badly afflicted with paralysis that his death was expected at any time, but now he is able to walk to church and tell the congregation of the wonderful cure that came upon him in a moment and directly, so he declares, by the hand of God. Delavan is a shoemaker by trade, and eight years ago was smitten with paralysis. The right side was first affected, and for six years the lower limbs were partially helpless. He wes able to walk with the help of crutches, and being an Odd Fellow and a member of the Order of American Mechanics, drew relief from those societies. About a year and a half ago the affection of the lower limbs became complete, without sensation, and from that time he was unable to move his body without assistance At different times his case was pronounced hopeless. Last evening Mr. Delavan attended service at the Christian mission, Forty-first and Market streets, and related the circamstances of his cure. In his own words: "On the night of Febuary 8 last, the pain in my side was unusually acute, and it was midnight before the powerful doses of opiates that had been administered could put me to sleep. I was aroused out of a sound slumber by a voice that said distinctly: 'Why not trust God?' I was startled. The voice had a strange, supernatural tone, and at first I thought I had been dreaming. I raised up in in my bed, the first time I had been able to bend my back without help in eighteen months. Again the same voice spoke: 'Can you trust God?' I looked around in amazement. There was not a person in the room save my wife, and she was sleeping soundly on an adjoining cot. The voice did not come from a human throat, for there was no one in the house to speak. Besides, it had a heavenly ring and was as sweet as an angel's tone. A third time I heard it, and by this time I was wide awake and in full possession of my senses. I could feel the Divine presence and distinctly the words fell upon my ears: 'Will you trust God and He will heal you?' I could resist the influence no longer, and with the spirit moving me I said: 'Yes, Lord! I will trust Thus.' As the words fell from my trust Thee.' As the words fell from my lips a wild sensation ran down my back. It felt like a shock of electricity, only so much gentler and sweeter. It felt like new life, and my spinal column was invigorated. When I lay down there was

I was able to walk.' Delavan is fervent in his belief that his cure was a miracle, and expresses himself as willing to speak at religious meetings in testimouy of his relief. He says he is not anxious for notoriety, and is impelled by different reasons for speaking on the subject. He has been a member of the Methodist church for twenty-six years, and for twelve years was a communicant of Central M. E. church, though during his sickness he says his faith was severely my aukle and draw up my knee, and in the morning was able to kneel beside my

A Pretty Story.

A pretty story is told of Moses Mendelssohn, the founder of the family whose name has a sound of music in it. He was a humpback, and a young Hamburg maiden rejected him because he was misshapen. He went to bid her good-by and while he was making a last supreme effort of persuasion she did not lift her eyes from her sewing. "Do you really think mar-riages are made in heaven?" she asked. "Yes, indeed," he replied, "and something specially wonderful happened to me. At the birth of a child proclamation is made in heaven that he or she shall marry such and such an one. When I was born my future wife was also named, but at the same time it was said, 'Alas! she will have a dreadful humpback.' 'Oh, God,' I said then, 'a deformed girl will become embittered and unhappy, whereas she should be beautiful. Dear Lord, give me the humpback, and let the maid be well. the humpback and let the maid be well favored and agreeable." The girl could not resist such wooing as that, and threw her arms around his neck.

Lady Beautiflers. Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy checks and sparking eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such rich blood, good health, strength and beauty as liop Bitters. A trial is certain proof.

Bradford, Pa. Thomas Fitchan, Bradford, Pa., writes: "I enclose money for Spring Blossom, as I said I would if it cured me. My dyspepsia has vanished, with all its symptoms. Many thanks; I shall never be without it in the house. Price 50 cents. For sale at H. B. Cochran's drug stoge, 137 North Queen street, Lancaster.

POSITIVELY CURED BY

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

FIRST. Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter-irritant effects.

SECOND. Because they are genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Because they are the only plasters that re-FOURTH. Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

FIFTH. Because over 5,000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are super-ior to all other plasters or medicines for ex-SIXTH,

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Christmas has come and gone. The old year has kissed its "good bye " to 'st and dropped back into the past, taking its place among the most eventful years of history. The Holidays are over. The gifty givers have ceased their giving, and the time when any thing and everything would sell so readily has gone.

CLOTHING.

The "old logy" merchants are preparing to wear out chair cushions and trousers by sitting themselves down during the months of January, February and March, to await the coming of "SPRING TRADE." The "WIDE AWAKE" MERCHANT, the "Man-Who-Never-Has-a-Dull-Senson," the man who has learned that trade can be made in the usually dull months by working for i is lauching forth some new idea, some attraction which will draw the people; and accordingly keep the trade a "booming" and give his sleepy neighbors something to talk about and TAKE NOTICE Can any person be so obstinately blind as not to see that the "EVER BUSY MERCHANT is the one who REDUCES HIS GOODS TO COST in the dull season rather than store them away for the next season, whether his neighbor likes it or not, and such a store is being sought after by the swarming thousands of Lancaster city's and county's purchasers.

Indigestion and Dyspepsia. BRANDY AS A MEDICINE.

This now much abused Alcoholic Stimulant was nover intended as a beverage, but to be used as a medicine of great potency in the cure of some of the destructive diseases which sweep away their annual thousands of victims.

With a purely philanthropic motive we present to the favorable notice of invalids—especially those afflicted with that miscrable disease Dyspensia, a specific remedy, which is

Brandy. The aged, with feeble appetite and more or less debility, will find this simple medicine, when used properly,

A Sovereign Remedy

REIGART'S OLD BRANDY, Sold by our enterprising young triend, if E SLAYMAKER. This Brandy has stood the test for years, and has never failed, as far as our experience extends, and we therefore give it the preference over all other Brandies no matter with how many jaw-breaking French titles they are branded. One-fourth of the money that is yearly thrown away on various impotent dyspepsia specifics would suffice to buy all the Brandy to cure any such case of ases. In proof of the curative powers of Reigart's Old Brandy, in cases of Dyspepsia, we can summon numbers of witnesses—one case in particular we

bers of witnesses—one case in particular we cite:—

A hard-working farmer had been aff. Icted with an exhaustive Dyspepsia for a number of years; his stomach would reject almost every kind of food; he had sour eructations constantly—uo appetite—in fact, he was obliged to restrict his diet to crackers and stale bread, and as a beverage he used McGrann's Root Beer. He is a Methodist, and then, as now preached at times, and in his discourses often declaimed earnestly against all kinds of strong drink. When advised to try Reigart's Old Brandy, In his case, he looked up with astonisament but after hearing of its wonderful effects in the cases of some of his near acquaintances, he at last consented to follow our advice. He used the Brandy faithfully and steadily; the first bottle giving him an appetite, and before the second was taken he was a sound man, with a stomach capable of digesting anything which heichose to eat. He still keeps it and uses a little occasionally; and since he has this medicine he has been of very little pecuniary benefit to the doctor.—A Practising Physician.
