THE DEAD MINISTER.

GENERAL HURLBUT'S LAST MOMENTS.

Seized With a Sudden and Fatal Pain in the Region of his Heart and Dying in Twenty Minutes—Imposing Funeral Honors.

PANAMA, April 12.—A steamer from the South brings particulars of the death of Gen. Hurlbut. He was in his usual health when he arose on the 27th ult. He played for some time with his grandchildren. While washing he was seized with intense pain around the heart. His loud and agonizing cries aroused every one in the house. On being lifted from the floor to the bed he recovered moderately and said, "God bless you all; I am dying; oh, my heart!"

The family declined the offer of the Chilean government to give him a public funeral. The funeral was a most imposing one. The streets through which the cortege passed were thronged with spectators and many of the houses were draped in mourning. Flags were at half mast on the public buildings in Lima and Callao and the stores in both cities were closed during the funeral.

Prior to the cortege leaving the legation the Episcopal service was read by Mr. Lewis. The casket was placed on the handsome carriage of the Italian fire brigade and preceded by about one hundred Free Masons of all nationalities in ordinary costume and was drawn by volunteer Americans. The remains were followed by all the official dignitaries here, including Admiral Lynch, the Chilean commander, the American and French admirals; American, French, Italian and Chilean naval officers and a score of Peruvians, well known here if not abroad. Bringing up the rear, one thousand strong as was every Peruvian in Lima, (dressed in strict mourning) belonging to the party of which Garcia Calderon was chief. They were followed by the students of the San Carlos university. On the arrival at the railway station the casket was placed in a funeral car and taken to Villavieja whence it was conveyed to the Meigs vault. Senores Terrazo Pinos and Cesareo Chacaltana delivered eloquent and impressive speeches in eulogy of the deceased and the proceedings terminated.

On the 6th of next month the casket will be removed with every solemnity and a procession of boats from the men-of-war and merchantmen in Callao will accompany it to Panama en route for the United States.

Rumors gained currency that General Hurlbut had been poisoned by opposing political factions. Not much weight was attached to these rumors, since everyone is satisfied that he died from natural causes, but as a precautionary measure a portion of the stomach has been sealed in a jar and will be forwarded to New York for analysis.

Afternoon Telegrams Condensed. The trichinosis sufferers at Brilesburg are worse. 547 Chinese laborers have arrived at Victoria, B. C., and 900 more are to arrive before August.

A rotary boiler at the Sugar refinery paper mill, Clairmont, N. H., exploded, killing a man and injuring several others. An unknown man was suffocated in the Toronto West Van street last night. Gen. Burd died at Saratoga today.

Riley Leaser, of Reading, has died in the Harrisburg hospital from injuries on the railroad sustained last Friday. The jury in the Malley case at New Haven has been pronounced and the taking of testimony will begin on Tuesday.

The Republican senators held a brief caucus today to provide for filling committee vacancies caused by the resignation of Elder. Senator Mitchell will probably be given the chairmanship of the pension committee.

Reports from Tucson, Arizona, confirm the previous accounts of wholesale massacres by Indians at Eagle Creek. At San Carlos, twenty persons were killed at one swoop, and other individuals, cases of murder and pillage are mentioned that leaves little or no doubt of their verity.

Secretary Folger to-day telegraphed orders to San Francisco for revenue steamer Curwin to proceed to the Arctic ocean at once to the assistance of the officers and crew of the burned steamer, Rogers.

A Free Trade club has been organized in Davenport, Iowa. The Toronto abominators offered to compromise with their striking female operatives and grant their demands, provided the strikers refused. The painters and carpenters' strike continues.

The wagon factory of the Webster company on the West Virginia peninsula at Wheeling, was damaged to the amount of $2,800 last night. Governor Hoyt, General Simon Cameron and a number of state senators and representatives were present to-day at the formal transfer of the miners' hospital at Ashland from the building commission to the board of trustees. The governor subsequently held a reception and there will be further festivities to-night. To-morrow the party will attend the opening of a military bazaar at Reading.

SINDRAM SWINGS. The Death Sentence Against Mrs. Crave's Murderer Executed at Last. New York, April 21.—William Sindram, the murderer of Mrs. Crave, was executed this morning at the city prison at 8:30. He remained firm to the last.

While being pinioned and the rope was being adjusted on his neck he did not flinch, and preserved the same determined set expression. When the drop fell the body worked convulsively for several minutes. He was pronounced dead in fifteen minutes. His neck was not broken and he died from strangulation.

WEATHER INDICATIONS. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—For the Middle Atlantic states fair weather, northerly winds, higher barometer, stationary temperature.

The Beautiful Science of Hodgeing. Philadelphia Press, Organic Republican. It is not true that General Beaver has been forced upon the party by Senator Cameron or the machine. Philadelphia Press, Independent Republican. The convention was summoned too early; it was purposely called ahead of the usual time of the county primaries and conventions; most of the delegates are named by the county committees, and there has been no adequate opportunity for free popular action.

Joseph Brillhart has died at his residence on West King street. Messrs. Wm. P. Dateman, Michael Kellegger and George Brown, county commissioners of Northumberland, are in Lancaster to-day for the purpose of visiting and making inquiries as to the management of our public institutions; especially the county prison. The commissioners of Northumberland are also the prison inspectors, and have entire control of the prison management. Hereafter there has been no organized system of labor in the prison, and the new commissioners wish to introduce a system that will make the prison self-sustaining. Lancaster is rather a poor field for them to glean knowledge from, as our prison failed to be self-sustaining last year by $37,000. The commissioners will visit several other counties before they return to Sunbury.

On Exhibition and Worth Seeing. Reingruber has finished, to the order of Mrs. W. L. Peiper, an oil portrait of her late deceased husband, which is displayed in the window of John S. Givler & Co.'s dry goods store, where hundreds of persons have stopped to-day to admire the fidelity of the likeness and the skill with which the artistic work is executed.

Mr. John P. Smag, having graduated as a garment cutter, from a one of our institutions, has received a diploma to that effect, which has been elegantly engrossed in Mr. C. R. Frailey's ornamental stationery. No two lines in the diploma are of the same style of letter, and yet all are beautiful. It is framed in a While many companies report large sums for resisted death claims, the Equitable does not. Its books at the end of the year without a single contested claim. The Equitable is unquestionably the leading life insurance company of the world, its untiring method and policy the admiration of business men. No wonder its new business for 1881 exceeded $48,000,000—the largest business of any company in the world. Its business has approached that of the Equitable during recent years, shows about $11,500,000 less than the Equitable in 1881. Isaiah Snyder, Harrisburg, Pa., is general agent for the society.

These have just come and now is the best time to see them. Why? The makers are probably done making for the season; and the whole supply is in the market. There's no scarcity; but there will be a scarcity of good patterns long before the buying time is over. Nobody wants to have any left at the end of the season. Everybody plans to have a scarcity before the buying time ends.

Surah, gros-grain and satin mervelleux of every color required to match hem; and that is a piece of rare good news, Next-door circle, Chestnut-street entrance.

Camel's-hair grenadines of ten pretty patterns of silk plaid and check at 75 and 85 cents. Yesterday we were twice offered the very same grenadines at $1, which means that they are worth $1.25 at retail. We happen to have got one and two pieces—that's all—of each of these ten patterns at 75 and 85 cents a yard.

Black albatross of four qualities, 37 1/2 to 60 cents; 40 to 45 inch wide. Now for that we've been selling the 60-cent quality at 37 1/2 cents. If we get any more of it, so that we can sell it at that price, we shall be very glad. Meantime we are giving a full money's-worth on all; and a quarter more than the money's-worth on one—the 37 1/2 cent 40 inch.

Matelasse flannel at 50 cents, is new; it is not new at 60; but the 50 cent quality is not so fine and soft. Such a collection of flannels is hardly to be seen anywhere; about 150 different stripes and plaids; all the plain colors you can think of; and white of more sorts, qualities and textures than you would read, if we should write. Outer circle, northeast from centre.

Grenadines are beyond those of any former season, not only in variety of patterns, but in richness of effects and even of textures. The weather so far has kept back the sale of them; and the assortment is best now. Next-door circle, Chestnut-street entrance.

Amximeter, moquette, Brussels, tapestry and ingrain carpets are at their best now; and we are able to do more carpet work than we are doing; besides more room is getting ready. Mattings are at their best also. North gallery.

Pin-dot Swiss at 28 cents a quality that usually costs 40. Only pin dots; larger dots at full prices. Fourth-circle, City hall square entrance.

Mull and batiste neck-handkerchiefs with a little brilliant silk embroidery in one corner. The centre of batiste and the border of mull of a darker shade; such combinations. The fichu itself is worth about 35 cents, and the embroidery about 25 more. The price of the whole is 25 cents; 1 200 of them; and they are beautiful.

When you better come for yours? Double damask napkins at $1.50 a dozen; of which we sold last fall 12,000 to a New York merchant at $1.65; and he got his money's worth, too.

Buying linens, as we do from makers of all countries, quite a little wholesale trade comes without our seeking. It helps us to buy much, and so to buy low. Outer-circle, Chestnut-street entrance.

CATSKILL, Dec. 27, 1880. Messrs. Ely Bros., Druggists, Oswego, N. Y. I have suffered for many years from chronic Catarrh and tried a great number of remedies without any permanent relief; but some six weeks ago I was induced to try your Cream Balm, and with the very best results. Relief was almost instantaneous, and continued use has resulted in an almost complete cure. Therefore I take pleasure in recommending your Cream Balm to all who may be suffering as I was.
