ceived word of her sudden death at Sterling, Illinois. She lived formerly in Eden township, and was married a few years ago to a Mr. Bowman, and removed to Sterling, where they have since resided. She was a daughter of Christian Barge and the widow of John Bassler, at one time proprietor of Bassler's mill, near Camargo, as well as the owner of several fine farms in that vicinity. Drumore-In and Around the Gap. Camargo, as well as the owner of several fine farms in that vicinity. All this property was still in the hands of the family until Mrs. B. went West, when it was sold. She was an intelligent woman and was highly respected, both in her old and new homes, and her death is a sad bereavement to a large circle of friends.

Death of Asa Reineer.

Death of Asa Reineer.

Asa Reineer, aged 84, died at the residence of his son, Joseph, near Conestoga Centre, last week. He was one of the original members of the large family of that name in this county. His brothers, George, aged 82, and Stacy, 79, still survive him. The family was a very large one and, we believe, the two latter were the youngest of them Samuel died some two years ago at 87 and all of them lived to an old age. Asa was a man of considerable intelligence and was good company. He has lived for several years away from his old home at Quarryville, where he was born and raised, but every year came back to see his old friends, and watched with a great deal of interest the watched with a great deal of interest the decided improvements of the last few years, and told with a deal of pleasure of his boyhood days and the times they used to have in the old log cabin around the "Orchard Quarries" and how they used to burn lime where Hensel's old stone store house now stands, and of the times of Tom McFadden and his comrades. Asa and his dog Tip are among our earliest recollections. Peace to his ashes!

DRUMORE NEWS. And Still Another Wedding. We had another wedding last week, the principals being Mr. Rankin M. Colter, of Bart township, and Miss Anna J. Long, daughter of Hugh S. Long, of Drumore township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Galbreath, assisted by Rev. Dr. Steward, on the evening of the 20th inst. A large company of guests were present, and it was an occasion of good cheer and congratulations. The young couple have the best wishes of their numerous friends.

The severe thunder storm last Wednesday night was accompanied with consid. erable hail in some localities. The light-ning struck the hall at Liberty Square and did it a slight damage. Our farmers are selling their cattle at high prices, and those who sold carly are high prices, and those who sold early are wishing they hadn't.

Grass is behind hand, some oats is up, and the promise of wheat, generally, is excellent. A great deal of building and improving is being done, and we seem to be prosperous despite our poverty and docks on tobacco.

GAP ITEMS

Fresh Intelligence From Old Salisbury. During these few last weeks times making its appearance in the market in The boys that wear blouse suits, around this place have been unusually large quantities, of which 200 bales were The large boys that wear sack dull, nothing seeming to be astir but the work of preparing for grading the rail-road, which is rapidly being pushed for ward under the skillful foremanship of Mr. John Riley. They have already built a narrow guage road bed over one half a mile in length and in another month this contract will be completed and the work of grading the road bed in the "cut" will be undertaken. A track will be laid on this narrow guage road bed when completed and will be used to run the dirt cars over, which will be used to haul the immense quantities of mire out of the "cut." Then if the company is successful in grading the latter, the track west of this place will be lowered with the present temporary track. Most of the employees are Irish. Mrs. Margaret Morority keeps a boarding house in one of the company's houses for the railroad bands only.

hands only. On Saturday a party of genuine Arabs, numbering three, passed through here solicting alms. They were all dressed in their native grab, which consisted of a fez cap, blouse and flowing blue and white knee breeches, except one who wore a vest and coat. They were far more cheerful than the one that passed through here a week ago, now in Lancaster prison. They were young men and one of them was apparently well educated, and could speak and understand English fairly. He gave his name as Joseph Man, of Jerusalem. They had with them letters from the Y. M. C. A., stating that they were the survivors of a shipwreck and asking the public to help them along. They were public to help them along. They were traveling toward Lancaster city. Probably one of the oldest date stones in Lancaster county is a stone in one of the jambs of Z. B. Williams' barn near this place which bears the date of 1717. The figures are gracefully carved in soap-stone, and the work apparently well done. It was taken out of the old barn and in-serted in the new one about the beginning of the present century.

Thieves again made a raid on Michael Wise's property last Friday night and stole between thirty and forty fine chickens from the hen roost. This has been the second or third time that they have relieved Mr. Wise of his chickens since he lieved Mr. Wise of his chickens since he has resided here. He has his suspicions.

Z. B. Williams has sold forty acres of wood land, south of this place, to B. S. Shrack & Co., who last week set up their steam saw-mill for operation. O. P. Stroth is the superintendent.

Joseph Baker has embarized in the cigar manufacturing business in the hall. He now employs four hands, but will employ more as his business increases. Mr. Baker has a very fine assortment of totacco on Miss Anna M. Wise has opened a subscription school in the primary schoolhouse here, and Miss Rebeaca Slaymaker has opened one at the Harmony schoolhouse; both are largely attended.

During the storm last Widnesday night the lightning struck the gable end of Abram Petersheim's barn, near this place, demolishing it considerably.

United States Tobacco Journal.

sales of new tobacco, numbering a few-hundred cases, and belonging to the Wis-consin crop, have-really been made, but these transactions were brought about by the tempting look of the tobacco, the pur-chasers acting merely in a speculative spirit, in which, in this case, the risk is limited. At this season of the year it is generally customary for some large manugenerally customary for some large manufacturer to secure some packing of magnitude of new tobacco. of this tobacce is, or was, expected to re-alize from 20 to 24 cents running. Under the most favorable conditions this would be a high figure; but the tobacco yields too little for the money. If business revives soon, this tobacco must be bought at about that figure by manufacturers; if no change in business takes place within two months, a break will and must occur, and weak and strong holders will alike scramble for offers. Fortunately for them, the situation does not look so desperate, but it will be judicious policy on the part of holders of old Pennsylvania to prepare for holders of old Pennsylvania to prepare for the worst and not reject reasonable offers for it. Though also affected by the gen-eral duliness, Ohio sells better than all other old stocks. Manufacturers pick the best, and holders sell the poor for export. It is reasonable in price, and by proper handling an acceptable and cheap cigar is being turned out of it. New York state sells in small quantities. Several parcels. sells in small quantities. Several parcels, having been subjected to experimental resweating, show a decided improvement. Connecticut limps along as usual, and Wisconsin is offered in very small lots at long intervals only, the '80 crop being nearly exhausted. The sales of the week run as follows: Pennsylvania-Crop '80: 400 cases; 61

THE LUCAL MARKET.

State of the Trade and Prospects for the Plant, There has not been much doing in old tobacco during the past week-cigar manufacturers continuing to work on the smallest supplies possible, in consequence of the uncertainty of the repeal of the to bacco tax.

A good deal of new leaf has been bought during the past week, but very few of the purchasers have reported the prices paid. Some of them claim to have purchased at low figures, and others say prices keep well up. Farmers from the eastern and southern parts of the county say they have plenty of good tobacco yet for those who choose to pay fair prices for it—say 15 @ 18 cents for wrappers. Among recent purchases by Skiles & Frey in the eastern en 16, 5 and 3; George Emory, 26, 16, 5 and 3; J. C. Bachman, 14, 8 and 3.

Those who dealt largely in Wisconsin leaf—and there are several of them in this city-claim to have struck a "bonanza," challenge a comparison of wrappers with the best Laucaster leaf, in everything except in size. It is conceded, however, that caster the proportion of wrappers is much less than is yielded in Lancaster county, and this will sum up the price to no considerble extent, as the purchases were generally made at so much per pound through." It is also noted that some of the buyers of Wisconsin are now buying Pennsylvania leaf-an indication that, however good the western crop may be, they did not get enough of it to supply their trade. Our local packers deny the report current last week that their packings of 1881 leaf are not sweating satisfactorily. Thus far they say everything is lovely. Farmers also deny that their tobacco in bulk is overheated and rotting. They say the report is only a weak invention of the buyers to bear the market.

Continued cold weather is keeping back the young plants, and the heavy frost of Sunday night no doubt injured many of the unprotected beds. Very little has been done yet towards preparing the ground for planting. Stir in the Lower End.

There was considerable stir in tobacco in the southern part of the county last week; considering the small portion still in growers' hands, the sales have been numerous and prices fair. Among those buying and who seem to have bought Our neighboring village Christiana is most, is George Heiss for Lachenbruch ; about to leave us in the shade; about the bought a number of crops in Drumore at fair prices: from Samuel Cremer 2 this summer: also a photograph callery at fair prices at 12 6 5 3 all others on prices.

as large this season as last. Farmers have fears of flees this season, and from present indications they are well-grounded. Already they are making their appearance on the plant heds in perfect armies, and we hear of some early plants that have been very much injured; some old growers will not put out any this season.

The following recent sales are reported.

Up Country Tobacco We learn that in Union and Centre counties there are some fine crops of 1881 still awaiting purchasers. In that section the drouth was not so prolonged last summer, and the crop had a better chance to mature. Penn's Valley in Ceutre county has a fine agricultural reputation and in Penn and Gregg townships the tobacco last year was better than on the bottom lands. It might be worth their while for buyers to give attention to the tobacco up buyers to give attention to the tobacco up that way which is offered for sale.
