

Lancaster Intelligence.

FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 5, 1882.

Profiting by Experience.

The New Era admits "some lessons learned" which the INTELLIGENCER has received no thanks for trying, assiduously and in good faith, to teach it during the last four years.

Independents Who Won't Harmonize.

It turns out that the Independent Republican party is not in the possession of Senator Mitchell and Mr. Wolfe. The committee selected by Senator Mitchell to treat with the one chosen by Senator Cameron, was entirely too harmonious to suit the Independent idea.

PERSONAL.

The trustees of Lane Seminary have offered the professorship of church history, made vacant by Dr. Humphrey's death, to Rev. Thomas Dr. Wright, of Philadelphia.

THE DELAWARE COUNTY INDEPENDENT.

The Delaware county Independent Republicans have an objection to General Beaver's candidacy outside his Cameron affiliations. They think his management of the affairs of the agricultural college affords poor ground to expect great efficiency from him in the gubernatorial office.

THE EXAMINER WILL HAVE A BIG CONTRACT.

From your blue heavens above us bent The grand old father and his wife Smile at the claims of low descent.

THE BROOKVILLE JEFFERSONIAN SAYS.

The Brookville Jeffersonian says the people of that region will refuse to consider Mosgrove's declination to run for Congress again and thereby deprive themselves of the services of the best representative they ever had in that body.

THE EVENING JOURNAL, OF CHICAGO, REPORTS.

The Evening Journal, of Chicago, reports that "the poverty in that city has caused an investigation, which 'develops the fact that most of the dairy farmers' in that region 'are feeding their cows on sugar corn meal, an article consisting of the residue left after extracting the glucose from corn.' It produces a large quantity of very poor milk, and costs only about one quarter of the price of good feed. The consumers have no prospect of stopping the practice, as it does not violate any law."

an evil than a Republican thief; and when they shall make a sincere effort at reform, they will be entitled to and will receive the practical sympathy of the Democratic voters, whose selections, by the way, to those county offices for which a nomination is equivalent to an election, have been with one exception, such as to set an example of fitness to our Republican brethren.

It is to be regretted that among "some lessons learned" by our esteemed but artful Republican contemporary, the New Era, that of candor cannot be included.

For surely it cannot be credited with disingenuousness when in "measuring political results" with "some of the Cameron claque," by "the length of the political roll," it tries to make it appear that at the recent primaries eight out of the ten candidates "on which it made a direct issue before the people" were nominated. It knows there was no "direct issue" on Congress, Smith getting some of Stehman's districts very solidly; and there was just as much of a "direct issue" on recorder as on jury commissioner; no less on solicitor than on prison inspectors, and certainly as much on delegates to the state convention as on prison inspectors.

Each of these officials closed his career leaving a bad taste in the mouth of the public. The New Era, unappreciative of the cause of real reform, never discovered that their administrations were no improvement on any that had preceded them until it quarrelled with them politically; and for the raid of McMellen, Urban and others on the county treasury, assisted by Cable and Dushong, in the dying hours of their term, about all that it has had to say was a feeble apology for the steal in the Urban-Barnes bill, on the ground that there was an (imaginary) "judicial decision" to sustain it.

Colonel D. B. HENDERSON, who was chairman of the Iowa delegation in the Chicago convention, is the candidate for the highest to be chosen for secretary of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

The actor, GEORGE HOYT, who is a son of John Hoyt, the wealthy president of the Adams Express company, was seen yesterday with the Hoyt and Hardie dramatic company, soon to appear in Lancaster, from his early youth manifested the most ardent inclination for the stage.

After Derelict Officials.

At Williamsport the grand jury submitted their report in conformity to the charge of the court calling their attention to the alleged misconduct of the late board of county commissioners. The report states that the grand jury have given the matter a thorough and complete investigation, and have found evidence sufficient, in their judgment, upon which to base the commencement of legal proceedings against these derelict officials.

A Railroad Blow.

The engineer of the New York express No. 14, from Pottstown, on the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, was censured by the corner's inquest for running over and killing a two-year-old daughter of John Reinert, of Royer's Ford, because the train ran into a high rate of speed through the borough limits and for his inhumanity in not stopping after running over the child.

Buried Alive in a Sewer.

Albert Beale better known as "Farmer Beale," was instantly killed by three tons of earth falling in on him while he was engaged in laying a pipe sewer on Margaret avenue and Seventeenth street, Altoona. His body was not uncovered until three men had labored for half an hour. His neck was broken. He was a single man, aged about thirty-three years.

An Indian Murderer Resisted.

Crow Dog, sentenced to be hanged at Deadwood, on the 11th instant, for the murder of Speed Tail, was resisted by the president of the court, who was to go before the supreme court of Dakota.

MURDERED HIS MOTHER.

JOHN DAVISON in a Frenzy of Rage over Some Money Matters, Killed His Mother to Death with a Large Hammer in Philadelphia.

In a rickety old three-story frame tenement house, on Swanson street, just below Front and Bainbridge streets, Philadelphia, was, last evening, perpetrated one of the most horrible murders that has occurred in this city for a long time. Mrs. Susan Davison, an aged woman, being killed by her son.

The building looks as if it had stood for a hundred years. It has a dilapidated doorway opening upon the street, which enters only into the single apartment on the ground floor, occupied by Mrs. Catherine Frendgrast and her family. The entrance to the upper floors is through a side door which opens upon a little alley, about four feet wide.

Mr. Henry, who occupied the room overheard, heard some disturbance, which he entered the room to investigate. "I was sitting in the iron sewing carpet rags," she said, "when I heard the Davison's quarrelling. They were very violent, and I was afraid. He was fighting with the old woman, and I saw his little boy, 'Richard, you go out and bring your brother, quick.' I heard a fall, and I knew he had pushed the boy down stairs. The boy hurried down, and then I heard another crash that sounded like a gun. The old woman was lying on the floor, with her blood streaming all around her. John was kneeling over her with a hammer, and was pounding her head, saying, all the time, 'Now, what's the matter with you? He never looked up as I passed the door, and he only said, 'I got away at the old woman's head. I hurried down stairs, and was so frightened that I could hardly tell that a murder had been committed up stairs.'"

Killing Cattle Thieves in Utah.

For some months Southwestern Utah has been infested by cattle thieves. Recently a sheriff's posse started out after a party of cattle thieves from Gunnison that four of the thieves have been killed.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORHOOD.

The academy building in Kennett Square, Pa. has been purchased by Chandler Phillips, of Avondale, and will be converted into a summer boarding house.

Joseph Corkley, aged 70, has died in Harrisburg. He was the first engineer who ran a locomotive on the Cumberland Valley railroad bridge at that city.

The editors of Cumberland Valley will have an excursion next week from Harrisburg to Hagerstown, thence to Baltimore and down the bay, and return.

The citizens of Media have subscribed $8,000 for the New Telford road between that town and Philadelphia, which is their allotted quota.

Over half the capital stock for the proposed establishment of a new foundry at Spring City, Chester county, has been subscribed and the success of the enterprise is assured.

The dead body which was found on the top of the car on the Reading railroad, at Phoenixville, on Sunday morning, has been identified as that of William Reiser, of Reading. The remains have been removed to his home at that place.

The pumps at the Ludington Gap silver mine have been started, and after the working is cleared of water the diamond drill will be put into operation. The operators are still sanguine of striking a rich deposit.

An answer to the charges made by our Chief of Police Deichler, to the effect that he usurped the control of a case he had nothing to do with, and attempted to carry it to "his pet alderman," Chief Deichler answers (and all the old policemen bear him out in this) that it has been the universal practice ever since 1869, if not further back, that all cases of this kind should be handled by the private Watchman or other persons not regular officers, and have been turned over to the chief of police, and have always been regarded as his cases.

Two weeks ago Abiah Sellers, an old man residing in Pocopson, who is slightly demented, left his home, and was not found until Wednesday. He was discovered in the woods where he had made himself a shelter in the hollow of an old tree, and was in a very weak and emaciated condition. He had subsisted on little, having carried off some rats from home at the time of absenting himself.

A few weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

A few weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

CAMERON'S CANDIDATE CRITICIZED.

Anti-Beaver Demonstration in Delaware County.

At a large meeting, Independent Republicans held at Media, last night, resolutions were adopted protesting against the nomination of Beaver, "because his nomination bears upon its face the mark that it is the personal selection of Senator Cameron, made in an interest and through means and methods which have received the unequivocal condemnation of a great constituent element of the Republican party of the state; and because Beaver misrepresented the people of Pennsylvania in the Chicago convention; because the third reason given in the resolutions as originally submitted was as follows: 'because General Beaver has not satisfactorily explained to the farmers of this vicinity and the state, the failure of the agricultural college, over which he has presided'."

On the latter there was an acrimonious discussion, during the course of which several resolutions were adopted. The president of the agricultural college faculty, said that he would not charge General Beaver with misapplying any of the college funds; but there were other ways of mismanagement. General Beaver keeps incompetent men in the faculty. There is Professor Smith, of chemistry; but he doesn't understand it. He is kept there because he is going to marry Beaver's wife's sister. Professor Smith has built a house by Beaver's favor, and in doing so sacrificed $10,000 of the college funds. Then Professor Hamilton, who manages the experimental farm, is incompetent. The president of the college is there merely because he is one of Beaver's friends, although he is notoriously incompetent. He is run by Beaver's incompetent friends. Beaver wants to rule or ruin everything. He can make more promises and keep less than any man I ever knew," said Mr. Shortidge, warmly. He then told a story of how General Beaver had acknowledged to him that he had introduced a bill into the Legislature "merely as a blinder." "I tell you," continued Mr. Shortidge, "that Beaver is seamer. He can't look you square in the face, and I don't think that makes him a Christian gentleman."

"The name of the anti-Beaver resolutions, the following resolve was passed: 'That we believe that the imputations cast upon Gen. Beaver's action, in his connection with the agricultural college, will drive from him the farmer vote of the county, and that resolutions specifically designed to declare that General Beaver's nomination will endanger party success, and it was further resolved that the protests applied to all those names may be presented as nominees in the interest of Senator Cameron.' The resolutions further declare utter abhorrence of Cameron's political methods and rule, founded as it is in minority county representation, trickery and manipulation, unscrupulous use of patronage, and the only safe course of policy is in complete surrender of these methods."

The turn taken by the meeting as above described was altogether contrary to anticipation, the cut and dried programme being disregarded by several Independent farmers, who were independent of those who had arranged the demonstration. State Senator Cooper sat for his local paper, and listening with an amused smile to the frequent references which were made to the "loss of Beaver's vote."

THE FIVE DERSMITHS BURGLARY.

Peter Williams committed to Answer at Court—The Graubank Watch kept to its terms.

Peter Williams, the burglar who was so gallantly arrested by Private Watchman Edw. Shubrooks, on the premises of Chas. A. Fon Dersmith, Tuesday night, was taken for a hearing before Alderman Samson yesterday afternoon, and heard through his counsel, B. F. Eshleman, esq., through a hearing, and in default of bail was committed to jail to answer at court for attempted forcible entry of the residence of Chas. A. Fon Dersmith, felonious assault and battery on Private Watchman Edw. Shubrooks and carrying concealed deadly weapons.

In answer to the charges made by our Chief of Police Deichler, to the effect that he usurped the control of a case he had nothing to do with, and attempted to carry it to "his pet alderman," Chief Deichler answers (and all the old policemen bear him out in this) that it has been the universal practice ever since 1869, if not further back, that all cases of this kind should be handled by the private Watchman or other persons not regular officers, and have been turned over to the chief of police, and have always been regarded as his cases.

Two weeks ago Abiah Sellers, an old man residing in Pocopson, who is slightly demented, left his home, and was not found until Wednesday. He was discovered in the woods where he had made himself a shelter in the hollow of an old tree, and was in a very weak and emaciated condition. He had subsisted on little, having carried off some rats from home at the time of absenting himself.

A few weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

Several weeks ago a young man who was called "Billy," but whose last name is not known, came to the hotel of John Martin, in West Willow, where he secured a position as porter. He had been drinking rather heavily for some days, and this morning he was found dead by Mr. Martin when the latter arose of an early hour. He had retired in the evening. Deputy Coroner Erb was summoned to hold an inquest. The deceased was a young man, being between 25 and 30 years of age. It is supposed that he had been wandering around the country and had no home.

LOTS OF LUCKY PEOPLE.

Close of the Fair and Distribution of the Prizes.

Fulton opera house was fairly packed last night by an interested assemblage, anxious to witness the closing scenes of the very successful fair of St. Mary's church that had been in progress there for two weeks, and be present at the announcement of the voting and final changing. The tables were nearly all stripped of the hundreds of beautiful articles that had adorned them at the opening, and some of them actually sold out everything there was to sell. The polls were located at the western end of the room, the ballot boxes were in charge of separate persons to receive and count the money, Mayor Mac-Gonigle had general oversight of the polls, and each candidate was allowed a judge to be present and witness the count.

When the announcement of the result was made, the lucky people were, for as fast as the count had been finished, the judge or some other zealous partisan of the winner would hasten to the main body of the room and proclaim the news, the announcement being always hailed with applause, which the friends of the defeated parties generously joined. The fall vote was as follows: Large Turkish Rocker on Mrs. Malone's Table—J. L. Steinmetz, 4,255 votes; Dr. H. E. Mullenberg, 2,005 votes; Mrs. Amalia Ziegler, 100 votes; Lillie Hutchinson, 524 votes.