THE ASSASSIN'S KNIFE THE FLIGHT OF A CASHIER.

AN APPALLING CRIME IN IRELAND. Another Woman, Leaving the Funds Intact. Lord Cavendish, the New Chief Secretary, and Under Secretary Burke, Stabbed to Death in a Public Park, in London. Lord Frederick Cavendish, chief secretary for Ireland, and Under Secretary Burke, were stabbed to death on Saturday evening in Phœnix Park, Dublin. Lord Cavendish and Earl Spencer had remained in Dublin Castle, engaged in official business until six o'clock in the evening, when each drove to his respective residence. After dinner Lord Cavendish and Mr. Thomas Henry Burke, under secretary for Ireland, went for a walk in Phœnix Park. No arrests have been made.

The two secretaries were strolling in the park, about half a mile from the city gate and a quarter of a mile from the chief secretary's lodge, when a car drove up containing four men, two of whom jumped down from the car and attacked Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke, stabbing them both several times in the throat and breast. The victims struggled hard for life, and in the struggle became separated, their bodies being found some ten paces apart. The tragedy occurred about ten minutes of seven o'clock in the evening and in broad daylight. The bodies were first discovered by two young gentlemen who were riding bicycles through the park, and who immediately gave the a'arm to the police. Surgeons soon reached the spot, but the police were already convey-ing Mr. Burke's body away to the town, where an examination showed life to be extinct. 'The upper part of the body was perforated in a shocking manner and presented a ghastly sight. Proceeding further, the medical men reached the body of Lord Cavendish, who was being conveyed away from the park on a stretcher. The body of the chief secretary displayed the same dreadful wounds, in addition to which his left arm was also broken and torn, as if he had put it up to protect his breast. Lord Cavendish was quite dead. The bodies were taken to Stevens hospital, where they will remain until an in quest is held. The locality of the outrage is horribly marked with blood. The spot where the body of Lord Frederick Cavendish was found was absolutely deluged, while Mr. Burke's body lay in a pool of blood. It is said that after the act the murderers immediately drove off. There seems to be no clue to the assassination, but the police are taking most extraordinary measures to discover the perpetrators. A large quantity of notes and gold coin, besides their gold watches, were found in the pockets of the victims, which showed that the object of the crime was not robbery. Great excitement prevails throughout Dublin and

Williamsport Bank Cashter Deserts Hi Wife and Family and Elopes With

William S. Watson, cashier of the West Branch national bank of Williamsport, one of the oldest and soundest banking institutions in that part of the state, has sud-denly disappeared. On Wednesday evening, at a late hour, he visited the house of F. E. Gleim, the first teller, and, harding him the keys of the safe, said that he was going away and would not be back before the following day at noon, and before the teller could interrogate him further he had lisappeared. No message was left for his father, Oliver Watson, the president of the bank, or any member of his own family. He did not take a large amount of money with him. On the 1st inst., he had drawn his salary for April, amounting to $225. He also had under his charge a fund of $25,000 belonging to his father, from which he drew $5,000, leaving his individual note for it. This is believed to be all the money he took with him. It appears that a couple of years ago he ecame intimate with a woman named from him, dated New York, in which he for him and that he would sail on Thursday next for South America, and that he did not want to see anybody from this place soon again. A meeting of the directors of the bank was held this morning, when an examination of the books was made and the accounts of the absconding cashier were found all right. Oliver Watson, the father of the cashier, is one of the oldest, most respected and wealthiest citizens of Williamsport. During his long and busy life he has accumulated an estate which will probably reach a million and a half of dollars. He is an invalid, having been confined to his room all winter, only being able to appear upon the streets once or twice during that time. His son, the absconding cashier, was virtually president of the bank and attended to nearly all the business He was so highly regarded by h is father that he left nearly all the finan-cial duties of the office to him and he would undoubtedly succeeded his father as president of the bank when the latter retired. So much faith was reposed in him by his father that some time ago he deeded to him the old homestead in Williamsport, where he resided.

Aside from the common reports the conduct of the cashier is in many respects a duct of the cashier is in many respects a mystery, and it is believed that there must be something more serious yet to be dis-covered which caused him to act so pre-137 North Queen street,

A fire broke out in Goodrich's warehouse about 10 o'clock Friday night, whence it rapidly spread to the lumber yards and elevators. The flames got beyond control and engines were summoned from Milwaukee and Chicago. In the confusion it was feared that the entire city would be swept away and the most exaggerated re ports were sent abroad. Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attertion. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN's IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

THE TABIFF BILL.

The True Value Passage of the Measure After a Long and Stabborn Debate,

The tariff commission bill, after weeks of discussion, passed the House on Saturday by a vote of one hundred and fifty-one yeas to eighty-five nays, a number of Democrats voting with their political opponents to insure the success of the measure. The day was devoted to spreches under the five minute rule, but they were principally confined to efforts to engraft amendments upon the bill agreed upon by the ways and means committee. As fast as proposed by the Democrats, however, they were promptly voted down, and the at the top and prices at the botonly amendmen is adopted are two unimtom, and telling the exact truth portant ones recommended by the committee.
