A RAILROAD CASE.

Two Stories About Tresspassing on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Samuel Wertz, of Schock's Mills, was working his tobacco patch, between the canal and railroad, about ten days since, and at noon he left his work to go to din ner. He had to cross a train of cars standin jail by 2 o'clock p. m. the same day. After being in jail for 36 hours he was released on a habeas corpus,

Such is Mr. Wertz's story, but Officer Pyle, who made the arrest, puts quite a different face upon it. He states that Wertz is a professional train-jumper; that he had been repeatedly warned that he would be arrested and boasted that he was too sharp to be caught. Instead of attempting to cross the railroad opposite the water-station, as stated above, he got on the train at the place where he works, for another man, nearly a mile up the road, and the officer arrested him while he was making a trip from his work to his home. "One story is good until another is told."

Railroad Notes.

Yesterday about half past one o'clock a wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad. A freight train was passing east on the fast Union line, drawn by engine 463 : at Watts station the train parted and the first section ran to Big Chiques rock where it stopped. The second section came up and ran into the first. One car was comoroken and thrown from the track. Trains were delayed for about two hours.

A freight wreck occurred at Middletown to-day by which two freight cars were thrown from the track and broken and the Johnstown express east was delayed for some time.

The brakemen and conductors of the l'ennsylvania railroad made their first appearance in white caps this afternoon. This morning the pay car of the Pennsylvania railroad passed through this city and the employes of the company were paid off for the month.

A SNAKE STORY.

A Badly Frightened Woman. Among the neighbors and friends of the victim there is a story current of a young woman of this city who is terribly exercised over the supposed habitation in her stomach of a live snake, which is suspected of having been taken in while the woman was drinking. As the story goes a daughter of Peter Bloom, stone mason, residing on North street, has a reptile in her stomach, and in consequence is so affeeted in mind and body that she is greatly emaciated and reduced to a mere skeleton. The snake is even said to have come part way out of her mouth the other day.

He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said 1 had a hole in my left lung as big as a half coliar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medfeine. I was so far gone at one time a repo t went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wn. ## GUITEAU DOOMED.

HIS CHANCE TO BE HANGED.

The Supreme Court Declared to Have Decided Against Ihm.

Washington, May 15.—It is to-day learned authoritatively that a decision upon the Guiteau exceptions will be rendered by the district supreme court next Monday, and that it will be a unanimous one. There is no longer any doubt that it will overrule all the exceptions and consequently affirm the sentence of the court below. It is understood that one of the judges was inclined to attract much importance to the question raised against the competency of Mrs. Dunmire's testimony, and that another member of the court found considerable difficulty in coming to an agreement with his colleagues on the question of jurisdiction, but although these two judges may perhaps take occasion to express opinions in some degree dissenting from their colleagues, processes of reasoning on these points, the decision itself will, as above stated, be unanimous. This disposes of Guiteau's last chance. He will be hanged
