Amateur Theatrical Entertainment.

A large audience of the elite of the city assembled in Zeller's conservatory of music last evening, to witness the plays of "Betsy Baker" and "Poor Pillicoddy," perform-ed by an amateur company of Laucaster ladies and gentlemen. A stage, with necessary scenery, foot-lights, curtains and other appliances flies, Was erected and handsomely. decorated. The actors were becomingly costumed and acted their several parts with much ability, and received the plaudits of the audience. Where all did so well it would be improper to single out any one for especial commendation. The dramatis persome was as follows :

OBITUARY.

Death of Levi G. Kemper.

Levi G. Kemper, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Lititz, died in that village Monday afternoon about 2 o'clock of dropsy, aged about 55 years. Many years ago Mr. Kemper kept a country store in Brownstown ; he afterwards purchased a hotel in Warwick, remodeled it, named it the "Kemper house" and did a thriving business. Some ten years ago he retired from the hotel, bought the Kreider mansion in Lititz and continued to live there until his death. For some years past he was engaged in the coal and lumber business and in land speculations. He was a politician, and in 1876 was a prominent candidate for recorder. Physically Mr. Kemper was one of the largest men in the county, being considerably over six feet in heigth and weighing 355 pounds, He was well-informed and of gentle disposition. He leaves a wife and two sons and two daughters.

Cramer on the Flying Horses But Who is Contradicted.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 16. - The first witness at the opening of the 17th day of fugitive's whereabouts, and that warrants the Malley trial this morning was Wm. E. Hunter, of Plantsville, who testified that at Savin Rock he saw the body of a young girl lying on the beach. He had seen the young girl on the flying horses the evening before in company with four or five people. On the cross examination he testified that of the party on the flying horses one a young man, acted as if he had been drinking. The two ladies seemed particularly merry. The one I saw dead on the beach next day, laughed and acted very jolly. She also said at one time "my God, I'm paralyzed." Thos. Degnan, who at the West Haven hearing figured as "the man with the black moustache," sat among the spectators this morning, and as the foregoing exclamation was quoted he seemed almost choking with laughter. He was a witness ed but of light weight, have made their for the defense at West Haven and appearance in Iowa. lady friend and gave utterance to the paralyzed exclamation. Subsequently the girl he was with, who might at night be taken for Jenny Cramer, corroborated Degnan's testimony in every particular. Her name is Maggie Kane and she will be again called by the defence as will also Degnan.
