PAPER HANGINGS.

At comparatively small expense the interiors of public buildings, places of business and our homes may be beautified by applying paper langings. Besides the importation of French and English Goods, the production of Wall Paper in this country is receiving much attention from some of our leading artists, which enable us to furnish really artistic hangings for the treatment of walls and ceilings. Not only in the more expensive goods is this improvement noticeable, but also in those of lower price. We take especial care in the selection of SIDE WALL PAPERS, BORDERS and CEILING DECORATIONS that all may harmonize and produce a pleasing effect.

CEILING DECORATIONS we make a specialty and depart from the conventional and sterotyped patterns, and furnish a unique design for each separate ceiling. Papers hung under our supervision by skilligh workmen.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON. The Season of Literary Festivities-The Campus in Its Spring Beauty-Programme for the Week. The tardiness of the spring has permit ted the commencement season of Franklin and Marshall college to fall at the most opportune time The beautiful campus, upon which all the exercises will be celebrated this year, never appeared to better advantage. The sward and foliage under the careful attention of Janitor Leonard are rich and neatly trimmed, the flowering shrubs are in full bloom and the ivy and Virginia creeper climbing over the college towers and literary halls give them a very picturesque appearance. No place of the same size in all this vicinity is nearly so attractive now as the college campus, and during the present week it promises to be a place of very popular resort for intellec tual and physical recreation.

As noted elsewhere a large crowd was attracted on Saturday to the fine baseball grounds to witness the inter-collegiate game between the Dickinson and the Franklin and Marshall clubs; to-morrow afternoon the colleg eclub will play a picked nine, a contest that will doubtless help to entertain some of the commencement visitors. To morrow evening the junior contest comes off in the chapel and a line of coaches will run out to the college from A VICTORIA LAWN at 10 cents a yard is a the city. Wednesday will be alumni day, and will include the society reunions, alumni meeting, the dinner, class day ex-ercises and Rev. Dr. Russell's alumni address in the evening. Next day will be devoted to the orations of the graduates and the promenade concert will wind up the festivities on Thursday evening. The Baccalaureate Sermon,

The first formal exercise of the regular commencement programme was the bacealaureate sermon preached in the chapel yesterday morning by Rev. Dr. T. G. Apple, president of the college, who based his discourse on Psalms xxxvii, 5: "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass." In a profoundly philosophical and yet practi-cal manner he unfolded to those about to ratire from the institution the "way of life," as determined-like the whole order have done for you what we could. Before of nature and the realm of moral existence -by the infinite wisdom of the Great Creator. In the movement of history, advancing through progressive stages toward its goal, every human being becomes, in the unfolding of his life, an intelligent, self-determining factor, and upon the character of his rational self-determination, within the sphere of universal reason and will, depend his success or failure here and his destiny in the eternity of existence be towards each other in the years that are yond. The rational nature of man must gone, and as you now go forth in the great discover the way of life and his will must work of life we bespeak a continuance of determine to pursue it; and accordingly as the individual reason unfolds in har- behind you in the years that are to come 137 and 139 North Queen street, Lancaster. mony with universal reason, and individual In a few days you will gather as a class, will determines itself in accordance with in the presence of your friends and fellow divine will so will his way of life be true students, to receive the Baccalaureate Ameu." reason is not contrary to it. Between the extreme tendencies of those unable to reconcile the divine providence with free will the true view is that the divine will rules in all the courses of history and in all the events of human life and yet that the will of man is free in choosing his own course and destiny, and the problem of determining the relation of these two factions is not more serious than many mysteries in the order of nature which we accept without doubt. As soon as man's free acts are performed they fall, in their street. effect and influence, within a morai government which overrules and controls them as to the ultimate end. Hence in the choice of calling it is to be consider ed what are the orderings of Divine Providence. Insomuch as these ar : indicated in some measure by bent of mind, persuasion &c., and by external incidents and occasion, arbitary selfwill in the selection is unnecesar ly excluded, and the issue at the outset of the very pathway of life is the subordination of the individual will to a higher will. Failure in this brings ship wreck and death. There are vast possibiliti: s of wealth and power before a career de-termined by selfishness, but in the end it only results in ignominious fadure; the path of history is strewn with individual and national wrecks which prove this. The perfect life of self-abnegation is that of Christ ; He made absolute surrender of his own will to the will of his Heavenly Father. With the best of intentions men may fail to choose exactly the right way, but even then God overrules the error for good, if indeed sooner or later the individual does not retrace his steps and ree tify his error. The great matter is the acknowledgment of the divine government of the world; the prime error, the essence Colored Silks, cheap, of all sin, is to direct the life on the principle of selfishness The pursuit of wealth Black and Colored Morres one's life to the ordering of Divine Provi-Black and Colored Satins, one sine to the ordering of Divide Providence, may bring external success and even material prosperity, but these are only the reward of the time server. The evil of the day is this spirit of self-seek ing. It rules God's government out of the world and makes each man's selfish interests the only arbiter of his life and destiny; it is a fatal mistake and can only result in ultimate disaster for the individual or na tion who adopts this principle. II The way of life requires a full surrender to the word of God in the sphere of the new creation in Jesus Christ. Tie Christian religion is not a separate economy,introduced to complement the natural economy of the world. The ethical and religious spheres come to a real and true unity; the order of Providence and the order of grace move on one plane. The new creation inaugurated in the incarnation of the Son of God enters into the inmost depths of the first creation in order to elevate this latter into its own sphere by infusing into it the glorified life of Christ. The moral law revealed in the moral nature of man comes to its full utterance in the Ten Commandits; the ethical life of its completion in the life of Him who triumphed over the powers of death and hell, and introduced into the centre of our fallen humanity the principle of divine Love which is the fulfillment of the Law. The HAUGHMAN'S which is the fulfillment of the Law. The law delivered upon Mt. Sinai enters into the jurisprudence of all nations, but the law requires as it soul and life the principle of love. This required the advent of the Word. With him came new spiritual health and life for the nations and a light that, coming into the world, light fice removed the curse, his resurrection his glorification brought the Pentecostal advent of the Holy Ghost. Christianity is the new life giving principle of history The social economy of the world serves its end in realizing a well-ordered, happy life here on earth. The state can never actualize even this earthly completion without the help of a higher properties.

brought life and immortality to light, and without the help of a higher power in Christianity to enable it to reach even its earthly destiny; all history demonstrates this. In the ancient civilization the destiny of the individual was absorbed in the state, and the well-being of the state was sought in the direction of workly ambition; now the true mission of the state is to devote its energies for the people, to care for the weak and to elevate all to the blessings of life. The spirit of Christianity is inwoven in the very texture of so-ciety. But the state is not ultimate for man's being; it acknowledges in many ways that belief in a supernatural destiny has a vital power over man's present It is especially in relation to the direc-tion of every individual life, as such, that we may see the necessity for the guidance of the divine word and spirit in order to lirect aright his way in life. The word of God, carried to the heart and conscience by the spirit of God, sheds a new, heavenly light upon his way in life. That word brings to light the real problem to every human life in its unfolding an I progress towards an eternal destiny. Man's wisdom, mystified by the speculations of human philosophy, may turn to the words of Him who spoke as never man spake and the dark problem of human destiny is made plain. In concluding his discourse, of which the above is, necessarily, a mere naked outline, Dr. Apple said : "GENTLEMEN OF THE GRADUATING CLASS: I have now endeavored in this last public service of your college course, in this sacred place, to present to you in the name of your instructors some parting counsels that may be of service to you in the solemn juncture in life at which you have arrived. They embody the general spirit that has inspired all the instruction you have received during the last four years in these halls. We are conscious as teachers of much imperfection in the work we have done in your behalf; but we His altar both you and we have bowed and confessed our manifold sins and besought pardon through the abounding mercy of that Father, who never turns away from the cry of His children, asking forgiveness through the atoning blood of His own dear Son. We shall not forget the cour-teous bearing, the kindly regard, the tender affection, you have manifested as a class, and as individuals, towards us and

Readjusted Prices

This means that our clothing has been carefully valued. The measure of value was the market on June 1st. The result, lower costs to make, and positively lower prices, without regard to original costs. The last analysis big sales - very big sales. Reasons exist why clothing prices should fall, on many items. That we believe and act accordingly. The people see the reality of the readjustment and buy accordingly.

The stock is still completethe breaks in styles and sizes few and unimportant. The Men's Blarney Suits, real Irish goods, scaled down from $20 to $18, are going well. The fresh goods for the great $9.25 lines are keeping them all right. Men's Dress Suits, on which prices have been largely readjusted, are in sharp demand, and the Boys' Department keeps pace with all the rest.
