Aliso Menzler, aged 46, a German woman, attempted suicide in New York this morning by shooting herself in the left breast. She was taken to Bellevue hospital.

The Senate to-day occupied the time reserved for the calendar in further consideration of the resolution to appropriate $775,000 to pay mail contracts for service in the Southern States, and the bill is going into rebellion. It went over without action and the bonded spirits bill was taken up.

The sub-committee of Philadelphia councils decline to accept the invitation of the day train to precede with an investigation of its accounts with closed doors, and as the cashier refused to allow them to see the accounts in the presence of reporters the sub-committee left the office.

In Congress to-day Cox (N. Y.) said: Gen. Grant was the only president who has contrived to get a river and harbor bill, and he thought if this bill was not destroyed in all its details the president might veto it. If he did so he would be a formidable man with the people to rear up on his account. Dunn, of Arkansas, asked: "Would you vote for him?" Cox replied: "No one can say what he may do two years hence." Dunn said: "That is a large bid for a veto, but I don't think the president will be induced to take the gentleman's advice."
