SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A Brilliant Assemblage at the Opera House
—Fine Music.

Last evening the musical entertainment of the secondary schools of Lancaster was given in the opera house under the auspices of John B. Kevinski. The audience was very large, a great proportion of those present being gaily dressed ladies. The school children were also attired "in their best," and the scene both from the stage and from the audience was a very brilliant one indeed. The programme was well arranged, the music well rendered and the audience delighted. All the performers did so well that it would be difficult to pick from the programme any piece for special commendation. The excellent training shown by the children, both in city painted white and brown. This will voice and manner, is evident that Mr. Kevinski has not been neglectful of the important branch of education entrusted to

OBITUARY.

Death of Nathaniel Ellmaker, Jr. Nathaniel Ellmaker, jr., eldest son of the late Esaias E. Ellmaker, and first cousin of Nathaniel Ellmaker, of this city, died yesterday afternoon from enlarge ment of the heart, at his home, at the Gap. Salisbury township. Mr. Ellmaker was in the 57th year of his age, and was connected with some of the oldest families in the county, and was born upon a property in Earl township that was in the posses sion of his people since 1726, and is still retained by them. His mother was the daughter of the late Dr. John Watson, of East Donegai, and his wife a daughter of the late Jacob Hiestand.

Mr. Eilmaker was a man of good education, generous instincts and very considerable force of character. He was an active politician and was a member of the Penrsylvania Legislature in 1859. When the war broke out he entered the Union army and was appointed a commissary of subsistance with the rank of captain. He was stationed for a time at Louisville and other points in the West and Southwest, and for a time was at Rock Island, Ill., and furnished supplies to the thousands of rebel prisoners confined there. He retired from the army with the rank of major and returned to his farm in Salisbury township, and has since that time devoted himself to farming. His death was rather sudden and unexpected though for some time past he had been a sufferer from enlargement of the heart, which finally caused his death. He leaves no children; but his wife, who is a cousin of John A. Hiestand, of the Examiner, survives him. He was a member of the Bellevue Presbyterian church and will be buried in the cemetery belonging to it on Friday next, the funeral services to be held in the church.

THE BOARDOF HEALTH.

Matters of Interest to the Public at Large. A stated meeting of the board of health of this city was held in select council chamber yesterday afternoon. The president being absent Dr. C.

Heinitsh was called to the chair. The secretary reported that Drs. Car-penter and Boyd had failed to forward to the board the necessary quarterly report. The wife of Benjamin Phillips, residing at Chestnut and Franklin streets, went to market this morning and set her kettle containing two pounds of butter on the meat stand of butcher Hess on one of the stalls of the central market. A gentleman who stopped at the same place to make a purchase also set his butter kettle down, and when he left picked up Mrs. Phillips' kettle. The mistake was a natural one, as the two kettles looked very much alike, but Mrs. Phillips would like to have her own all the same, as it contained two pounds of butter while the one left in exchange had only a few straw-

Malcolm Hay Temporary Chalrman. On motion of W. U. Hensel, Malcolm Hay, of Allegheny, was unanimously elected temporary chairman, and on taking the chair made a short address, in which he simply returned thanks for his election. Committees on organization, resolutions and credentials were then constituted in the usual way, by the designation of one delegate from each senatorial district to serve on each committee, and it was agreed that all resolutions presented should be referred without debate to the committee on resolutions.

The Home Delegation. The Lancaster delegates agreed on Weller and Wolf for vice presidents, Hensel and Irwin on the resolutions committee, Hanlen and Bean on credentials, Hambright and Stauffer on organization.

"No Whip Crack in the Convention." On motion of Mr. Stenger, of Franklin county, it was agreed that when adjournment was ordered it should be to meet at 3 p. m. In supporting his motion Mr. Stenger said he wanted the work to be done with due deliberation and he "thanked God that no whip crack was heard in this convention and that no man was big enough to boss the Democratic party in this state."

A Recess Till 3 P. M. A recess until 3 p. m. was then taken. Talking Over the Platform. HARRISBURG, Pa., June 28.—The com-

left to two sub committees the real work more than any other way by of constructing a platform and rules to of Philadelphia, is chairman of the sub-committee on platform, and Mr. Hensel we can get better from another of Lancaster, who is also chairman of the general committee, is at the head of the sub-committee on rules.

An effort was made at the general meeting to restrict the platform to expressions upon state issues. Some of the members argued, however, in favor of cordemning the political assessment scheme of the Republican congressional committee and of making a distinct de-clarations as a plank for the congr. ssman at-large to stand upon, while another wanted the tariff introduced. After a general discussion the subject was referred to the sub committee without instructions but will be passed upon by the general committe before being reported to the convention. It is probable that the com mittee will also report a resolution thank One of the busiest corners in ing Judge Sharswood for his long and honorable service to the state as a judge of the supreme court. Contestants Ruled Out. The committee on credentials unanimously threw out the contest raised in the First senatorial district. That of ex-Representative Marshall against Peter Monroe, in the Third representative district, was weighed long and carefully, as its results were narrowly watched by the Philadelphia people, for it was regarded as a test to a certain extent, Monroe being a pronounced Pattison man, while Marshall was the other way. The committee decided in Monroe's favor by a vote of 32 to Dallas for Permanent Chairman. The committee on organization will report in favor of Hon. Geo. M. Dallas, of Philadelphia, for president of the convention, and the retention of the temporary officers, including a vice president from each senatorial district. The Situation Still Cloudy.

The developments of the past two hours have not aided in making the outlook any clearer, though the Coxe, Pattison and Hopkins workers all claim that the long recess has been of advantage to their respective interests. At 3:30 p. m. the convention reassembled, and it will be after 5 o'clock till ive Rebinson Gets Excited WASHINGTON, June 28.-In the House Mr. Orth reported a resolution calling on the president for any additional correspondence in relation to Americans imprisoned by the English government, and inquiring whether any official of the United States had proposed their release upon condi-tions. The previous question was ordered, notwithstanding the efforts of Robinson (N Y.) to offer amendment. He was called to order by the speaker, who finally ordered the sergeant-at-arms to see that the gentleman was seated.

Robinson gave notice that he would to-morrow move as privileged the question to impeach the minister at London.

After remarks by Wilson in support of the resolution and Robinson in opposition it was adopted.

The House then went into committee or the naval appropriation bill. Robeson who has charge of it, reviewed its general features, after which the committee rose informally in order to fix some limitation upon the general debate. It was finally agreed that the general lebate should close to morrow at 2 o'clock. The discussion was then resumed.

Mr. Whitthorne criticised the provision of the bill and turning his attention to a consideration of the answers returned to the resolution offered by Mr. Hewitt, of New York, declaring that they were incorrect; that they concealed the expenditure of $3,500,000; that they had been prepared by one P. F. Heuley, a clerk removed from the navy department for cause by Secretary Thomp son, and that Henley had been put back into the department in order to do this work with the knowledge of the author of this bill. In the Senate at the conclusion of the morning hour the Senate resumed the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill and devoted to it remainder of the day's session

THE DOOMED ASSASSIN. Mrs. Scoville Calm-tsuiteau Wants no Mor

WASHINGTON, June 28 .- Mr. Hicks and Miss Chevaillier had an interview with Mrs. Scoville to day. They found her calm and rational and with nothing in her manner to justify the belief that she intends to do herself harm. She said she was satisfied with what had been done for ner brother and was now content to abide the result. She has not much hope. On one of Dr. Hick's recent visits to Guiteau, the latter said : " Doctor, I want you to go on the scaffold with me and swing me off to God. Don't go to the president any more; I would like to see Miss Chevaillier, just to shake hands with her, and thank her for her kindness and interest. If my brother and sister come, I would like to see them, but I don't want them to talk of any insanity.'

Several days ago Guiteau prepared a prayer for the American people, written as if it was to be offered on the scaffold.
