REALLY WONDERFUL.

A SMALL BOY'S VERY LARGE EAR.

News of the Day—A Strange Story From Indiana. Lafayette (Ind.) Courier.

Willie Lester, aged 10 years, lives with his father on the West Plains. His right ear is as large as a palm leaf fan, while the left is no bigger than the ear of an ordinary sized wax doll. With his small ear he can hear the faintest buzzing of the smallest bugs and insects, and even detect sounds uttered by the minutest animalcule—so small that they are not visible to the naked eye. One day, while running across the windowpane, a caterpillar crawling across a sheet of paper makes sufficient noise to attract his attention, even when his back is turned. The sense of hearing is so acute in this ear that it is absolutely painful to him, and he is compelled to wear a cork in it at all times. The right and large ear is quite the reverse of its little companion in both its powers and properties. To it those minute and near sounds so plainly discernible to the other are lost, but distant sounds are readily heard. Although he resides fifteen and one quarter miles from any railroad—Lafayette being the nearest point—yet Willie can distinctly hear the train and mills blowing their whistles and can easily distinguish between the engine bells and the city bells. He can hear the coming of a storm long before there are any signs of it in the air, and even long before the weather bureau gives notice of its approach. At a suggestion of a neighbor Mr. Lester had a wire gauze lid with a tin rim made to fit over Willie's ear. It consists of two thicknesses of gauze, the outer one being of larger mesh than the inner one; between the two there is an intervening thickness of loose flannel to soften sounds. Willie wears it continually, and this, with the cork in the small ear, has the effect of reducing his hearing to a normal condition.

CRIME AND CALAMITY.

Accidents and Other Tragedies of Recent Occurrence. Daniel Flynn, 61 years of age, was killed by falling under the wheels of his truck in New York. David Koehler, a miner, was killed by a fall of coal in the New Boston colliery, in Schuylkill county. Nathan Briscoe, a farmer of Ernestown, Ontario, while handling bees was stung on the forehead by one and died in fifteen minutes. William A. See and C. J. Bacon, of New York, stripped themselves for a bath and jumped from a small boat at Nyack and were drowned. A fire in the basement of Rosenbaum & Co.'s trimming store, Pittsburgh, caused a loss of $20,000.

John Fox and John Frazier went down the river at Bath, Maine, a week ago, in a yawl, and have not been heard of since. It is believed they were lost off Sequin in a storm. Both leaved Bath in the Summerville mills, at Augusta, Georgia, was killed by being caught in the shaft of the water wheel. His body disappeared and is supposed to have gone into the river. Lewis Possumaki was killed at Leadville by the bursting of a gun while firing a salute. Another man was seriously injured. News has been received that lightning struck the signal station at Pike's Peak Saturday, slightly injuring Sergeant Day and Boyon. The quiet village of Merchantville, four miles east of Camden, was the scene of a deliberate murder yesterday afternoon, Benjamin Baker being shot and mortally wounded by Abbott Wilson, his wife's paramour. The parties to the tragedy are all colored and have resided in Merchantville for many years. At Shenandoah William Hess was missed from his home and no trace of his whereabouts could be had. Next morning he was found in mine trench, his coat on the side of the trench, into which he had fallen. He was terribly bruised and died soon afterwards. He was about sixty years old and leaves a wife and large family. Several young roughs, who had been drinking, entered the saloon of Patrick Harty, just beyond the northern limits of Baltimore, and assaulted Harty, when he shot and instantly killed Daniel Clifford, one of the party, aged 23. At the same time William Baker shot William Rathford, another of the attacking party, in the leg. Small-pox rages in the Indian territory. At Okmulgee there have been over thirty cases, five of whom have died and ten are thought to be fatal. The adjacent county has suffered severely. Muskegee reports over two hundred cases, nearly all of which were fatal. Physicians and nurses are few, and many deaths have resulted from this cause. In isolated localities the ravages of the disease have been simply fearful, old and young being swept away.

THE PHILADELPHIA SENGERS' FEET.

Winding up the Festival of the Week. The fifth day of the National Sengers' festival was Monday by a parade of the societies, which was witnessed by thousands of people. Cars were then taken from Ninth and Green streets for the Schuetzen park. There it was estimated that during the afternoon there were fully 15,000 visitors. The exercises were various, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, awarding of prizes to the victors in the singing contests, etc. Yesterday at the same place there was a grand patriotic celebration, with English and German addresses, and fireworks and illumination in the evening. This ended the Sengers' festival. In the parade of Monday the Lancaster Mannerer marched in the division before the Philadelphia societies. The main prizes were the beautiful diploma, designed for occasion and framed in the richest manner, which have been on exhibition since the opening of the festival at Horticultural hall. The judges were Wm. Wolsieffer, L. Engelke and Emil Gastel, of Philadelphia; Agr. Fair, of New York, and H. Schwing, of Baltimore. The awards were read from the grand stand by R. Richards Muecke, esq., and were responded to by the officers of the several societies. The awards were made as follows: First class—highest prize, Germania Mannerer, of Baltimore, Md. Second class—first prize, Frohsinn, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; second prize, Sengerbund, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Third class—first prize, Deutscher Liederkranz, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; second prize, Virginia, of Richmond, Va.; honorable mention, Arion, of Newark, N. J.; Orpheus, of Buffalo, N. Y. After the distribution of the prizes Gen. Hartman was enthusiastically called out and responded in a brief and happy address. Going to Philadelphia. It is stated that the fire departments of Lancaster, Harrisburg, Altoona, Allentown and Easton, have promised to take part in the grand bi-centennial parade of October 24th, in Philadelphia. Circulars are to be sent to every fire company in the state, promising a prize to that company which presents the best equipped men and displays the handsomest fire extinguishing apparatus.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

THE DRIFT OF THE POLITICAL CURRENT.

News and Notes on the Political Situation in Pennsylvania.

Mr. George M. Dallas, president of the state Democratic convention, has appointed the following as the delegates who, in conjunction with himself, form the committee ordered by the convention to inform the candidates of their nomination: William H. Sowden, Lehigh county; Malcolm Hay, Allegheny county; Harry C. Pacheco, Cameron county; L. M. Thompson, Indiana county; Harinau T. Yerkes, Bucks county; and J. H. Cochran, of Cameron.

A Wise Stroke of Policy.

Mr. Elliott, nominated for congressman-at-large, was not elected. The Democrats may not know it, but they have put the head of their ticket on the tail end. Mr. Elliott is one of the ablest Democrats in the state, and it will be found that he brought more real strength to it than any other man on the ticket. His nomination was not predetermined, but it was the wisest stroke of policy the convention ventured. Mr. Elliott is stronger than his party.

Words: Words: Words!

Harrisburg Telegraph. Four political state conventions have been held in this city this year all of which have been exceedingly profitable to the Western Union telegraph company. The number of words of convention matter sent by telegraph when the Republicans selected their ticket was 110,000, distributed as follows: May 3, 50,000; May 9, 25,000; and May 10, 21,000. Of the Greenback Labor convention, which met on the 18th of May, 2,000 words were wired. Of the Republican congressional convention of June 21, 57,494 words were telegraphed on the following dates: June 19, 4,423; June 20, 23,329; June 21, 29,733. Of the Democratic state convention which was in session two days, 132,720 words were telegraphed. As the delegates to Democratic convention began to arrive unusually early special correspondents began sending news on Sunday, June 25, 2,251 words having been wired on that night. On June 26, 13,783 words were telegraphed; June 27, 30,108; June 28, 58,437, and June 29, 27,188. None of these conventions were near as profitable, however, to the Western Union as the February convention of 1880, when over 180,000 words were wired. This unprecedented work was due to the bearing which the political gathering was expected to have on the Chicago National convention.

SURE OF DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS.

What Chasney F. Black Says of Pattison and the Ticket.

Monday evening a large number of citizens assembled in Centre Square and, headed by the Spring Garden band, marched to the home of Chasney F. Black, and tendered him a serenade in honor of his nomination. Mr. Black acknowledged the honor by saying: "You expect on this occasion to hear from me concerning the general issues of the campaign. The time for that has not yet arrived. I will suggest but a single idea. The battle now to be fought is not one for mere partisan victory; its object is the reform of the state government in all its departments and clean hands only must be put to the work. The nomination of the gallant Pattison, the stainless young leader who stands at the head of the reform column in Philadelphia, means precisely that and nothing else. Like the Black Knight of old, who came to restore the rightful sovereignty to his own, this bold tribune of the people will be found thundering at the gates of the ring citadel, battle-axe in hand, and when he makes his lodgment within the black flag of the bosses will be displaced by the purest political banner that ever floated on any breeze. Our Republican friends have no reason to complain of us. If we do not give them what we promise—an absolute pure and honest government—they have the power to turn us out, and all decent citizens will help them to do it. But there is little danger of that. They tried Pattison once and instead of finding reason to part with him they discovered many powerful reasons for adding thousands of Republican votes to his previous majority, and the rest of the ticket, leaving only the present ticket to stand for the present. The beginning of reform in this state was the adoption of the new constitution, which, despite the most tremendous exertions of the ring, received something like 150,000 votes. In the convention which framed it, the beneficiaries of the ring were defeated. They were all figures and devoted laborers. Every line of it is dear to them. They are actuated by its spirit, and their influence will of necessity be exerted to complete the reforms which they so assiduously began. We can have no quarrel with good citizens who have hitherto chosen to carry a party name different from ours. To such we shall address our appeals in the next four months, with the most abundant confidence that they will be received in the spirit in which they are made. We admit that when united they are majority, but the present struggle for the deliverance of the commonwealth from evils universally acknowledged and universally deplored is an occasion which calls for the cooperation of all men together for the public safety. Our Republican neighbors who are taxpayers and not taxpayers are earnest in their desire for pure and economical government as we are; and thousands of them will avail themselves of this opportunity for a radical change which, under the peculiar circumstances, we alone of the three great parties in the field are able to offer them."
