PUBTEY AND ART. A Tribute to Longfellow and His Distinguished Eulogist. The following tribute to Longfellow was written by Mr. Benjamin Wood Davis, formerly of Cincinnati, now of Boston :

LONGFELLOW. O unspoiled dariing of thy native land, Beloved Poet who has reigned so long The idol of that countless, grateful band Who suffered, heard thy music and were

Thy harp stands idle; who will now beguile Our grief with strains of tenderness divine Wno will enchant us with the matchless styl That dropped a tragrant rose in every line

Who now in magic measures will reveal The tender secrets hid in human clay? What joyous voice can better make us feel That Poetry is Reason's holiday?

Alas: how many gifted ones have lacked The deeds divine that from thy verse Ah, actors are so seldom what they act,
And poets are not always what they sing.

Thy verses and thy deeds are not apart,
Two lovely twins in their resemblance strong;
Thy poems were the throbbings of thy heart.
Imprisoned in the golden nets of song.

Although on Nature's gift thou couldst rely, Freed from the thorny roads of industry, Each line was penned as it the sentry eye Of immortality were watching thee.

O Poet, earliest read and longest loved, A grateful nation sadly from thee parts; One nation? Nay, all whom thy voice bath moved, The nationality of human hearts

And I—in debt for many a happy hour, How can my large indebtedness be paid: I can but drop a lowly, lading flower Before a flower that can never die.

Mr. Davis is a son of Lewis Davis, esq. of Cincinnati, and a cousin of Michael Davis the well-known tobacco buyer, of Lancaster. So well pleased were his Cincinnati friends with the poem that they have had it magnificently engrossed and illustrated by the artist Grafton for presentation to Mr. Wood. At the top of the sheet he has painted in water colors a pro trait of Longfellow, the face set in its frame of snowy beard, full of spirit and poetic fire. A wreath of wild roses-the eglantine of poetry-drops at the left side and on right and in the midst of manuscripts labeled "Hyperian Voices of the Night," e'c., the poet's haip stands idle. The donors are prominent members of the Cincinnati bar and the poet a distinguish ed member of the Middleser bar, Massa-

FOUND AT LAST.

A Clear, Black and Durable Ink We have been waiting for a long time to find an ink that would be free from sediment and yet of decided dark color when first used, which would not thicken nor corrode the pen if left to dry on it which would not mould if exposed to the air, which would flow freely from the pen and yet not inundate the nanuscript. We had well nigh despaired of finding such an ink among the fluids from time to time pressed upon our attention, each one of which had one of the required virtues to the exclusion of the others. But after a fair trial we acknowledge that a bottle of "W. R. Todd's government writing ink," received from Mr. C. H. Barr and tested with increduality has satisfied us that it fills the bill. It is sold at the reasonable price of bill. It is sold at the reasonable price of 75 cents per quart and is furnished in bottles which exclude the air and keep the supply in excellent condition until used

I have been using Hop Bitters, and have re-ceived great lenefit from them for liver com-plaint and malarial fever. They are superfor to all other medicines. P. M. Barnes. to all other medicines.

Honorable Mention. Of all the remedies on earth that well may claim attention, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil commands especial mention. For wondrous power to cure disease, its fame none can throttle. Its merits are not in the puff, but are inside the bottle. Rheumatism, nearalgia, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, diphtheria, etc., are all cured by Thomas' Eclectric Oil. For sale at H. B. Cochran's drug store, 137 North Queen street, Lancaster.

"HACKNETACK," a lasting and tragrant per fume. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale at Coch ran's drug store, 137 North Queen street.

Many miserable people drag themselves about with failing strength, feeling that they are sinking into their graves when Parker's Ginger Tonic would begin with the first dose to bring vitality and strength back to them.
