THE LATEST NEWS.

RUSSELL'S ASSESSMENTS.

A Very Good one on the Managers and Assistants of the Indian Training School, Harrisburg, Pa., N. Y. Sun.

The persevering meanness of the Hubbell assessment is strikingly exemplified in the levy made upon one of the governmental institutions which engaged in the farthest removal from any sort of partisan control and from the visit of the total gatherer. The old government barracks at Carlisle, Pa., some 15 miles up the Cumberland Valley from this city, have for some years past been used as an Indian training school under the direction of Captain Pratt of the regular army. The work of instructing the Indian children of both sexes in the useful arts and domestic life has been most satisfactorily prosecuted. The school and the admirable work it is doing have not only attracted the hearty interest and earnest commendation of the surrounding community, but every official inspection and examination increase the high favor with which it is regarded by those whose special duty it is to fairly investigate this new and salutary mode of treating the Indian problem.

Such a thing as political service or the interference of partisan marplots in the management of the school has never been broached. Its official staff has at least felt free from any such danger as that. But the members of its corps and its instructors, assistants, nurses, and laborers have been started at receiving notice that they are expected to furnish two per cent. of their salaries to Hubbell's committee to assist in the election of Republican members of Congress. The levy, in detail, falls upon them as follows:

Capt. R. H. Pratt, superintendent	30 00
Mr. Norman, assistant superintendent	12 50
Mr. Campbell, marshal and disciplinarian	12 50
Mr. H. H. H. Pratt, superintendent	12 50
Mr. Walker, teacher	12 50
Mr. Miller, farmer	12 50
Mr. B. H. H. Pratt, superintendent	12 50
Mr. Chapman, soldier	12 50
Mr. Hummel, carpenter	12 50
Mr. Earl, teacher	12 50
Miss Semple, principal	12 50
Miss Hyatt, teacher	12 50
Mrs. Siewerick, in charge of small boys	9 00
Samuel Jordan, colored laborer	3 00
Miss Norton, teacher	10 00
Miss Patterson, teacher	10 00
Miss Cutter, teacher	10 00
Miss Booth, teacher	10 00
Miss Fisher, teacher	10 00
Miss Elzer, teacher	10 00
Miss Burss, teacher	10 00
Miss Phillips, teacher	10 00
Mrs. Worthington, superintendent of industrial school	10 00
Mr. Gould, chief clerk	20 00
Mrs. Spaul, landress	15 00
Mrs. Platt, mistress	15 00
Dr. Stewart, post surgeon	12 50
Miss Wilson, hospital nurse	12 50
George Foutz, hostler	10 00

Total.....$882 27

This is probably the largest member of the entire staff of this institution who owes his or her place to political influences, and certainly the tenure of none of them is dependent upon Republican supremacy in the state or nation. The managers and teachers themselves, mostly ladies, it will be noticed, take little or no interest in politics, and are even reticent upon this assessment business, this information regarding it being obtained accidentally. Several of them, including Capt. Pratt and a number of his assistants, are pronounced Democrats, and it is safe to say that they will not respond to Hubbell's call, and if disturbed for their refusal it will be by some influence outside of the institution itself. What the silver-lashed members of the venerable staff, the blooming school marms, the hostler and the day laborer will do about it remains to be seen. But the ineffable impudence of "Dear Hubbell's" extortionate demands was never better illustrated than by this comprehensive levy.

A DUEL BETWEEN EDITORS.

The Dispute Which Caused Louisville Journalists to Shoot Each Other in the Street.

A few months ago a man named John B. Gaines, who has started several newspapers in different towns in Kentucky, came to Louisville and commenced the publication of a morning two-cent daily under the style of the Morning World. It was a Bourbon paper and was started with the avowed purpose of running out the Courier-Journal. After a troublesome existence of about thirty days a printers' strike came on, and the paper was discontinued. He returned, however, and revived his paper as an afternoon journal, in which he sought to make capital for himself and his sheet by vilifying the editor of the Evening Post, Colonel Charles Sears, an ex-Confederate officer. Colonel Sears has made both himself and the Post very popular. He advocated at an early day the election of Governor Jacob, the Reform candidate, to the office of clerk of the court of appeals over the Bourbon candidate, and in the campaign now in progress. The contest is a very bitter one and has already caused many altercations. Gaines in his paper accused Sears, first, of infidelity to the Democratic party, and then boldly asserted that he had been bribed to support Governor Jacob.

Colonel Sears paid no attention to these attacks, and a few days ago, when Gaines failed for the second time, it was supposed that the matter would be dropped. On the day the paper stopped publication the Post contained a local notice saying that Gaines' paper had died for lack of brains and money, and yesterday morning a poster was freely circulated through the city, entitled "The World, John B. Gaines' editor," in which Colonel Sears was advertised as an "ignoble, indolent and cowardly scullion and cur, a coward, sneak and marauder, a vulgarian and blackguard, dead-beat and whisky-soak," etc. Another paragraph advised Colonel Sears to protect his honor, and asked that the publisher of the poster could be found at his office. The first impulse of the insulted man was to shoot his malingerer on sight, but this idea was abandoned.

At 3 o'clock p. m. Colonel Sears was standing in the court-house square talking with a gentleman when Gaines came up to him. He passed by the two men Col. Sears quickly raised his walking stick, a very heavy knotted one, and hit his slanderer a stunning blow on the head. The latter staggered for a minute, but recovered himself and drew his pistol, and firing, the first shot striking Colonel Sears' abdomen, three others missing him entirely and the last inflicting a serious wound in the foot. Sears then drew his revolver, and as Gaines started off down the street on a dead run he took aim at him, firing five shots. Only one took effect and that resulted in a simple flesh wound on the side near the heart. It is a great mystery how Gaines escaped alive, for Sears is celebrated for his accurate marksmanship. The first shot Gaines fired struck an ex-Confederate soldier across the street, shattering his arm. The man says he has been in a score of battles and never got a scratch before. The fighting editors were both arrested and released on bail. It is the general opinion that Gaines is a "dead man" as soon as Colonel Sears is able to get about again and meets him. Public sympathy is all with Sears.

POISONED BY PAIN GREEN.

Illness caused by Her Sister's Young Girl Seeking to Kill Her Mother.

Mrs. Long, wife of Simon Long, a well-to-do farmer, living one mile north of Schuylkill Haven, after spending the afternoon last Thursday working in the fields returned to the house and drank a cup of coffee. She was taken suddenly ill and was seized with vomiting. After a careful examination had been made it was decided that she had been poisoned by Paris green, which in some mysterious manner had found its way into the cup of coffee. Two days later Mrs. Long and her youngest son, after drinking from the coffee pot, were taken ill, whereupon Mr. Long sent for a physician who pronounced it a case of poisoning and that Paris green was put in the cup. Suspicion rested upon a fourteen-year-old daughter of Mr. Long, Dr. Dechert, the attending physician, finally induced her to tell what she knew. She acknowledged having placed the poison in the cup and coffee pot, but claimed that she was prompted to do so by an elder sister who lives in Philadelphia, and who, through some family difficulty, left her home. The affair causes considerable excitement. The victims, while still very sick, are in a fair way of recovery.

A FRIGHTFUL TRAIN WRECK.

Telescoping Cars With a Tramp and Fatally Injure Two Others.

As the night freight train on the Sunbury, Hazleton & Wilkesbarre railroad was approaching Millin Cross Roads, at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning, on the way to Sunbury, the front and rear ends became separated. The accident was not discovered until too late to prevent the rear section from striking the other cars, as the train was running on a down grade. Twenty-five cars were wrecked. In the rear of the train where the train was separated three tramps who were sleeping in the passage lay fast asleep. The shock of the collision was felt by the engineer, who stopped the train. The train lurching hurried back to the wreck. Day was just breaking. The body of one of the tramps was seen under the rails. It is supposed that he came from Lock Haven. His remains were buried in the village churchyard. The injured men are Patrick Martin, of Pittsburgh, and Frank Boyce, of Bradford. They were kindly cared for by the village people.

Mackerel Fishermen Alarmed.

In Gloucester, Mass., there is considerable excitement among the fishery owners and fishermen, caused by a threatened innovation in mackerel catching. Preparations are being made to put a Tiverton, N. J., steamer into the catching line, to be manufactured into oil and guano, and diverted from their use as food. There are now 100 mackerel steamers and, if the experiment is successful, all will engage in mackerel catching. The employment of these steamers has undoubtedly driven off the mackerel, and the same effect will be produced on the mackerel. There is a general feeling that stringent laws should be at once enacted for the protection of the mackerel fishery, which gives employment to thousands and is an important food industry.

A Colored Boy Tied to a Tree and Shot.

The remains of a colored boy named Mack Taylor were found tied to a tree in some woods in Webster parish, La. Several days ago Taylor attacked a boy named McDonald, beat him severely and fled to Arkansas. McDonald's father, with J. J. Pickett and John Annand, pursued and captured him and brought him back to Webster parish. There they tied him to a tree and shot him to death. The remains were found nearly all of the flesh had been picked from the bones. The assassin will be arrested.

Wrecked Off Sable Island.

The government steamer Newfield, from Sable Island, brought up to Halifax Captain Jacobson, wife, child, nurse and six crew members, who were wrecked off the coast of the North York and Yorkshire, of Tonsberg, the Yorkshire was from Barbadoes, fifteen days out, bound to Montreal, with a full cargo of sugar. On the night of the 4th instant the light on the east point of Sable Island was made and the vessel kept well off. Those on board thought they were safely passing the dangerous island, when suddenly the ship struck. It was sixteen miles off the light, at a point where, as the captain was afterwards told, no other vessel had ever been wrecked. The sand had evidently so shifted as to throw up banks where formerly there was safe navigation. The night was fine and the sea not rough. Two boats were launched, but the lines broke and the boats drifted away. One containing three men, got back to the ship; the other, containing two men—one a Swede, the other an Irishman—was not seen again.

SEPARATING HIS OWN BALLOON.

How Professor Wise Outwitted Kansas Citizens in a Marriage in Mid-Air.

Professor Charles E. Wise, the prominent returned yesterday from Topeka, Kansas, where he had been engaged to make a Fourth of July ascension, under the management of John M. Kinney, of that city. The arrangement was that three men, Professor Wise or his son, John, was to receive $500 for a single ascension, taking with him a young couple who were to be married in mid-air, and after the ascension the balloon was to belong to the managers of the celebration. When Professor Wise arrived in Topeka with his balloon he found that the money was not forthcoming to pay the expenses of the trip and his price for the ascension, and that the creditors of the Hartzell park association were out in full force with demands to levy on every thing. Mr. Wise concluded that it would require some sharp work on his part to outwit the creditors. After considerable delay the balloon was filled and the bridal couple, entering the car with young Mr. Wise, were married at an altitude of about ten feet by Magistrate Hazen, of Topeka. The balloon was then lowered and the magistrate got out of the car. The elder Mr. Wise then privately instructed his son to take up a few miles out of Topeka, and send again and get as far away from that city as possible by dusk. John followed out the instructions of his father to the letter, and by evening had the balloon safe in Kansas City, ready for shipment home. Meanwhile those holding bills against the Hartzell park association anxiously awaited at the arrival of every train for the return of the balloonist and his gas-bag. Mr. Wise has received a letter from J. K. Halm, of Topeka, saying that he is the rightful owner of the balloon and that if he is not immediately shipped on to him he will commence legal proceedings against Mr. Wise. The latter says he will hold the balloon until he receives the amount stipulated for in the agreement.

MINOR TRAGEDIES.

The Weary Way of the Wicked World. In the Workingman, N. C. Amos Nicholson, a negro, announced to a crowd of persons on the street that he was going to die in a few minutes. He fell dead from natural causes. Of a murder committed in Mecklenburg county, Va., the victim was the daughter of Maria Daly, colored, who was killed by her mother. The accused was arrested and lodged in jail.

Miss Clara Christian of Brenham, Tex., who shot and mortally wounded C. W. Johnson for slandering a few days since, has given bond for appearance before the criminal court. Johnson is still alive.

Jacob A. Hentz, a carpenter, fell from the roof of the Wyoming Valley house, Wilkesbarre, to the ground, a distance of sixty feet. He was removed to the hospital. His recovery is doubtful.

While a stormy battle was in progress in the northeastern section of Baltimore Charles Foss, aged 11 years, was shot and his wound is thought to be mortal. It is not known who shot him.

In Louisa burg a small boat capsized on Lake Michigan, off Mackinac, and two sailors from the steam barge Hinton and three other men were drowned. The body of one of the men, named Anderson, has been washed ashore.

A young man, about 19 years old, giving his name as Howard, well-dressed and of gentlemanly appearance, shot himself, apparently with suicidal intent, at the farm house of James Beatty, on the Morrisstown road, N. Y. He drove up to the house with a horse and carriage the evening before and engaged to leave on Sunday. No cause is assigned for the act. He was still living at last accounts.

A six year old daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, of West Vincent, Chester county, while playing near an iron kettle in the yard under which a fire was burning, was so badly burned by her clothes taking fire that she cannot survive. Some parts of the child's body were literally roasted.

Other's Misfortunes.

A French wit has said: "We are all strong enough to bear the misfortunes of others." A kindred sentiment is expressed in a recent issue of the Illustrated London News. It is a willingness to sacrifice all of his second cousins in the late war. But why endure the misfortunes of others? Why see others sacrificed to the Moloch of diseased kidneys, broken down in health, weak, wasted, hastening to the grave, when we know that Hunt's Remedy is just the specific that will make a perfect cure? The man who has back, sore joints, distressed feeling, lost energy, has disease of the kidneys, and Hunt's Remedy is just what he needs. It is not to be sacrificed, but tell him the good news of this wonderful medicine. J. B. Widdowell

FACTS.

A letter from P. O. Sharpless, druggist, Marion, Ohio, in writing of Shiloh's Electric Oil, says: "One man was cured of sore throat of eight years' standing with one bottle." We have a number of cases of rheumatism that have been cured when other remedies have failed. We consider it the best medicine sold. For sale at H. B. Cochrane's drug store, 137 North Queen street, Lancaster.

Kidney Complaint Cured.

B. Turner, Rochester, N. Y., writes: "I have been for over a year subject to a disorder of the kidneys, and often unable to attend to business; I procured your Burdock Blood Bitters and was relieved before I had a bottle used. I intend to continue, as I feel confident that they will entirely cure me." Price 25c. For sale at H. B. Cochrane's drug store, 137 North Queen street.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and its name indicates a most valuable hair restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner effect the health, either of scalp or hair. It is a most valuable hair preparation. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful silver brown. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. SMITH, KLINE & CO., Philadelphia, Agents, and C. N. CRITTENTON, New York. June 1st, 1882.
