COOPER'S STALWART PROPOSITIONS.

An Offer to Hold a New Convention, Which Does Not Satisfy the Independents--Views of Stalwarts and Independents.

The meeting held by the "Stalwart" Republican state committee in Philadelphia yesterday, adopted four propositions and submitted them to the Independents, in order that the latter might choose whichever they thought could be made the means of uniting the factions in support of a Republican ticket. Only two of these propositions appeared to receive much consideration. One proposes a state convention constituted in accordance with the rules adopted at the Continental hotel peace conference, and allows the Independent state committee to decide whether or not the convention shall limit its choice to the candidates now on the two tickets. The second proposition is for a convention constituted as provided for by the new rules adopted by the late regular Republican convention, but like the other offer of the Stalwarts, no provision for the retirement of present candidates. Several members of the committee spoke vigorously against offering to hold a new convention, but all the propositions were adopted by a vote of about three-fourths of the members present, all the other members, except four, declining to vote.

Independent leaders, speaking as individuals, say that they will not accept any of these propositions, because Senator Cameron offers to surrender nothing. They express the belief that if they yielded the Cameron machine would still be as powerful as if there had been no revolt and no Independent ticket in the field. Some leaders of the revolt go even farther than this and say that under any circumstances it is now too late to talk about withdrawing the Independent ticket. It was learned yesterday that at the meeting of the Independent candidates and other leaders, at the residence of Colonel William McMichael, on Tuesday night, Senator Stewart suggested that the Independents could consistently propose to withdraw all their candidates if the Stalwarts would likewise agree to have a new convention under the Independent rules, at which time of the present candidates on either ticket should be eligible for nomination. Neither Senator Stewart nor the other gentlemen present seemed to think, however, that the Stalwarts would agree to such a proposition. The Philadelphia press on Tuesday night expressed disapproval of Senator Stewart's suggestion, and today Mr. Stewart himself was disposed to give it favorable consideration. Chairman McKee's advice was to wait until the Stalwarts should propose their terms of peace. Thus the matter rested, and the gentlemen went away with the apparent conviction that the Stalwarts would offer nothing that they could accept and that the Independent ticket must stand. This conclusion does not appear to have been altered by the work of yesterday.

The question last evening was being discussed among Stalwarts as to whose influence brought about this proposition for a new convention. There is a widely circulated story to the effect that Cameron was compelled to yield his well known opposition to the new convention scheme by "President" Arthur. It is stated that this proposition does not succeed, and the declination of the Independents be based on the grounds of their opposition to the naming of any of the candidates on the present tickets for renomination. Senator Cameron may be even compelled to assent to this and the Independents be given their own terms. The conflicting views among Stalwarts generally, as to whether the meeting of yesterday will help or hurt their cause, occasions all kinds of hearty speculation.

The attendance at the committee meeting was large, 97 of the 102 members being present. An executive committee of ten members to assist the chairman in the campaign was appointed, of which George H. Mahaffy, of Marietta this county, was a member.

Col. Taggart and Mr. Harrison, who had been sent out to hunt up the candidates, returned, bringing all five--Beaver Davies, Hawle Greer and Brosius--who were given a hearty welcome by the members. Colonel Taggart handed up to the clerks a communication addressed to Chairman Cooper and signed by all the candidates. It was read to the members and was as follows:

Your committee has been charged by the representatives of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, in a convention assembled on the 21st June ult., with the duty of using all honorable means to secure the united and harmonious action of the party. This duty should in our opinion be carefully considered and faithfully discharged. We have no desire to limit our committee in any way in the discharge of that duty by setting up any fancied claim of vested rights arising out of the nominations which have been severally conferred upon us by the convention which assembled at Harrisburg on the 10th May last and at its ressembling in the same place on the 21st ult., herein before referred to.

We deem the harmony and success of the Republican party of infinitely greater moment than the individual preference of any of us. The party should afford even to appear to be wrong in the estimation of any considerable portion of its honest followers and faithful supporters. If our nomination did not, when it was made, fully and fairly represent the wishes of the majority of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, or if any of us have since that nomination ceased to represent the popular will, we are not only desirous but anxious that the proper remedy be applied by your committee under the authority vested in it by the convention. We therefore hereby severally authorize your committee to secure the nomination of a new convention, or otherwise, pledging our hearty co-operation in carrying out to practical results any plan which may be adopted in its wisdom, and to the unqualified support of any candidates which may be chosen to represent the Republican party.

The peace propositions, of which the substance was printed in our telegraphic advices yesterday, gave rise to an animated discussion, but were finally adopted by a large majority.

Of the members present there were not one to be found who believed the Independents would accept the proposition. The utmost of their hope was that by the rejection of it the Independents would be placed in a defensive position.

General Beaver's views were expressed briefly and pointedly. "I'm willing," said he, "to submit my claims to a new convention every time, and I haven't any fears or any doubts about being renominated." John M. Greer, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, said the proposition would satisfy the people of Butler county. He thought the state committee should not have gone further. If the Independents declined let the responsibility rest with them. Mariot Brosius, candidate for commonwealth, said the Stalwarts, in their efforts for harmony, could not have gone further. Their proposition was fair, honorable and just. As for himself, he had not sought the nomination, and was ready to do anything in his power for the good of the party. William Henry Ray, candidate for supreme judge, was satisfied with the proposition. If the Independents did not accept it he was at a loss to know what they would accept.

Independents Talk Over It.

All the Independent Republican candidates, together with Chairman E. D. McKee, Charles S. Wolfe and other Independents, who had attended the conference on Tuesday night at the residence of Colonel William McMichael, candidate for congressman at large, met at the same place last night, and from 8 o'clock until nearly 1 o'clock this morning talked over the propositions of the Stalwarts. When the meeting broke up it was with the understanding that the gentlemen should renew their conference to-day. Speaking as individuals, several of the leaders expressed sentiments similar to those of members of the Committee of One Hundred, and other prominent local reformers, who, as soon as they learned of the Stalwart propositions, declared that the Independent Republicans of Pennsylvania would not be brought by such a shaft as that. Cameron's usual cunning, they said, was manifested in those "foxy sentences" and yet it was plain that the Stalwarts would have all to gain and nothing to lose were the Independents to accept the offers, unless there might be some in the proposition concerning the "primary" which the Independents could work to their advantage. Anything short of the retirement of the Cameron ticket and the absolute abandonment of the machine and the spoils system, the reformers declared, would not give satisfaction. "It's a nice catchpenny," said Rudolph Blankenburg. "The Stalwarts can go before the people now and say: 'Didn't we do everything we could?' I know from the beginning that there was to be a trap. But the Independents won't fall into it. Not if it saves us, except such provision as would prevent the candidates from being renominated."

ularly her friends. So she wrote him a plain note saying she would release him altogether if it would please him. This made young Grant mad and, being half in love with another young lady, he continued his flirtations till the floods gave out publicly that the engagement was off.

"Did Miss Flood mind it much?"

"Not personally. There was never very much love. She is still in great demand, and even since then she has refused a marquis and a count, who were searching around, Prince-de-Bourbon-like, for a little wife and a good deal of money."

A Wise Word From Addison.

Says Addison: "Health and cheerfulness mutually beget each other." There are volumes of truth in this. It is difficult to look at the world through a cloudy glass, when a case has set in upon the loins and back, and when the liver and kidneys are out of order. But cheerfulness returns with Hunt's Remedy the great kidney and liver medicine, because it brings health to the stiffest. The aching back, the sallow skin, the hollow eye, the distressed feeling, the bent body, the dependent mind, give way before Hunt's Remedy to the bloom of health, the bounding step, the cheerful smile, and the vigor of life. It is a long and longed for vigorous life. Price, 25c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and, as some indicate, is a perfect Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately restore gray hair to its natural color and produce a new growth where it has fallen out. It does not in any manner affect the health, which Sulphur, Sugar of Lead and Nitrate of Silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. SMITH, KLINE & CO., Wholesale Agents, Philadelphia, and C. N. CRITTENDEN New York. June 17, 1882.

A Baptist Minister's Experience.

I am a Baptist Minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine, but let a lucrative practice for my present profession, 10 years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from "Stomachic" or "Electric Oil" cure. I was also troubled with nervousness, and Thomas' Electric Oil cured them, and "Thomas' Electric Oil" cured them, and it took in time it will cure seven out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon into the head by sniffing at the Oil, it will clear the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clear out and cure their catarrh. For detest and carriage it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine I have ever used in my life, and I have used it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing but the Thomas' Electric Oil will cure it. For sale at H. B. COCHRAN'S Drug Store, 137 North Queen Street, Lancaster.

SEEK

health and avoid sickness. Instead of feeling tired and worn out, instead of aches and pains, wouldn't you rather feel fresh and strong?

You can continue feeling miserable and good for nothing, and no one but yourself can find fault, but if you are tired of that kind of life, you can change it if you choose.

How? By getting one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and taking it regularly according to directions.

Mansfield, Ohio, Nov. 25, 1881.

Gentlemen:--I have suffered with pain in my side and back, and great soreness on my breast, with shooting pains all through my body, attended with great weakness, depression of spirits, and loss of appetite. I have taken several different medicines, and was treated by prominent physicians for my liver, kidneys, and spleen, but I got no relief. I thought I would try Brown's Iron Bitters; I have now taken one bottle and a half and all about well--pain in my side and back all gone--soreness all out of my breast, and I have a good appetite, and am gaining in strength and flesh. It can justly be called the King of medicines.

A Leisurely Buyer

Can spend an hour very profitably in Bargain Section No. 7. This section has the Old Coats and Custom-Made Suits. First, Sample Coats, which are made to test sizes and suggest styles. They carry the best thought of the cutter and best skill of the workman, but are the waifs of our stock, and have no resting place in our regular lines. They are predestined for the bargain table and give the buyer that can wear them a rare bargain. Second, Odd Coats also remain out of suits, one, two or three of a kind, without pantaloons or vests to match. About 500 such coats and 350 custom suits make this Bargain Section. A new half dollar for an old dollar is all we see in them--and not a very old dollar either, for the goods are nearly all new.
