A TERRIBLE CRIME

A SIMPLE-MINDED GIRL OUTRAGED. A Gang of Ruffans the Offenders-One of the Gang Arrested-Warrants for the Arrest of Others. On Saturday night and Sunday morning a most horrible crime was perpetrated in the grove adjoining the city resevoirs.

A gang of six or eight young men enticed
a simple minded girl named Lizzie Mc Clarren, aged 17 years, belonging to a respectable family, and after making her drunk, stripped and outraged her, detaining her until 3 o'clock Sunday morning, and sending her home nearly naked and more dead than alive.

Her hat, shoes, skirts and other portions of her clothing were found in the reservoir grounds Suuday morning by some of the hands connected with the waterworks, but they did not know to whom they belong ed. Miss McCiarren, after reaching home, was so completely exhausted and prostrated that for many hours she could give ne rational account of what had happened. She finally told her family that she had been assaulted and abused by a gang of six or eight young men, as above stated, but the only ones whose names she could remember were William Mullen, aged about 25 years, and William Monroe, both workmen in the Penn iron works. The girl's father, John McClarren, yesterday made complaint against them, and warrants for their arrest were issued by Alderman Samson, and placed in Officer Daily's hands. The officer went to the Penn works last night to arrest them. Mullen, on seeing the officer quit work and fled. He was chased through the shops and would have been captured had not a boy named Tangert opened the outside gates and let him escape. He had on him only his pantaloons and a gauze shirt, such as puddlers use when at work. Officer Daily finding that Mullen' boarded at the Widow Albright's, on Chestnut above Plum, went there to watch; and after a while was rewarded by seeing his man come along. The officer was partly hidden in a projec tion of the houses, but Mullen was look ing out sharply and saw him when he got near the house. He immediately started to run down the alley aside his boarding houseinto the yard, and thence through it and over a couple of fences into Fulton street. The officer followed in hot pursuit, but in vaulting over the fence into Fulton street his toe caught on the fence and he was thrown down. He recovered himself at once and finding his chase had got too far away to be come up with he fired a shot after him as he disappeared

Officer Daily afterwards arrested Wm. Monroe and locked him up in the station house. He acknowledges that he was one of the gang. Frank Kilchrist and Daniel Tamany are also said to be implicated and warrants for their arrest have been issued. It has not yet been ascertained who else participated in the crime.

More Street Cleaning Needed.

The people residing on Front street, between Locust and Walnut, think that their part of the street requires cleaning as well as that part lying between Walnut and Chestnut streets. The entire street would be greatly improved by a good cleaning, and it should be done without further delay.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

James McCrea Falls Down States and Dies-

Last night between 10 and 11 o'clock James McCrea, a journeyman tailor, who had been on a spree for over two weeks, fell down the stairs of his residence, No. 621 Beaver street, and sustained injuries from which he died at about 11 o'cleck this morning. The particulars as we have gathered them are about as follows: McCrea, who is about 38 years of age, was a fine mechanic and commanded high wages. He came to this city from York, and has been working on fine work for Mr. Smaling and Messrs, Myers & Rathfon. Drink was his besetting sin, and most of his wages were expended on it. Having been on two weeks' spreee his wife and son used their best endeavors to keep him home, and yesterday when be came home drunk and went to bed the boy took his pautaloons and hid them so that he could not go out again. This enraged McCrea, and last night, when the boy came home, he jumped up and intended to punish him for hiding his pantaloons; but making a misstep at the head of the narrow stairway, he fell to the bottom, and lay there un conscious until his wife and son picked him up. D. M. L. Herr, Father Grotemyer and some of the neighbors were at once sent for. McCrea recovered suffi ciently to stand upon his feet, walk a few given him, and as he drank it he said "Ey the help of God this is the last drink I will ever take," and he then became un-conscious. Dr. Herr and the priest were sion of the brain from which death ensued woman, who shows traces of having had to struggle for a maintenance, and her son is a bright-looking lad of 17 years. Their house is almost devoid of furniture. She says McCrea could always make good wages, but could ceived for tickets at stations between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh being $2,000 his unfortunate habit. Before going to York he worked in first-class clothing house in Philadelphia.

Mr. Newell, who recently preferred charges to the effect that the passage of the original Texas Pacific land grant ac was obtained by corrupt influence, was at the capital to-day, and during the session of the committee applied for a hearing. This was denied, however, it being asserted by members that if the committee adopts the pending resolutions, declaring the land forfeited, anything Mr. Newell might say on the subject would be ineffective, except to necessitate hearing those whom he, Newell, might charge with corrupt practices. Prominent Republican members of the committee say that the bearing was deferred until the question of forfeiture shall have been decided on its merits. The land grant referred to is the one which was transferred by the Texas Pacific railway company to the Southern Pacific railway company of California, and relates exclusively to the lands along the line constructed by the last named company through Arizona and New Mexico.
