until the building was destroyed. adjoining properties were all saved by the firemen, who kept water on them, and all the fire at the stable was extinguished before they left. There was nothing in the building except a small lot of hay.

All of Mr. Stewart's family, except his son Charles, were out of town when the fire occurred. The building was set on fire and the work was done by some one who was perfectly well aware that the family was away. Mr. C. Stewart was down town at the time and did not know where the fire was for some time, owing to his mistaking the number of the box that was struck for another. It is believed that the fire was started under the stairway, inside of the builning.

The loss will reach $1,000, as the stable was a good one. It was insured for $500 in the Phoenix company, of which Bausman & Burns are the agents. The Fourth Fire.

While the Keystone fire was raging the roof of the property owned by Mrs. Cor, corner of North Prince and Walnut streets, was discovered to be on fire. A few brokets of water sufficed to put it out. It is believed the building was set on fire by sparks from the Keystone stables, or perhaps by a spark from a passing locomo

As the book and ladder truck was leav ing the house on North Duke street to go to the Keystone fire, the tillerman, Frank Donnelly, was thrown from his seat and badly hurt, his spine being injured to such an extent that his arms and legs became paralyzed. He was carried to his home on 452 East Orange street and attended by Dr. Albright. He is better to-day, but will be confined to the house for some time.

When the tillerman tell the truck upset and the driver. Christian Gei er, and the approved. ladderman, Benjamin Biehl, were thrown off. Biehl was not seriously hurt, but Geiter, who fell on his head, was rendered soious for some time. He received a number of cuts on his head, legs and arms He was carried to his home, ou Arch alley, and attended by Dr. Albright.

His condition is much improved to-day. Thomas Fairer, who lives near the truck house, attempted to catch the truck horses after Geiter lost control of them, was dragged about 60 feet and received a number of bal cuts and bruises and had his knee badly sprained. He is able to limp about again, but feels very sore.

The truck horses, after the truck was upset, ran with it to the corner of Duke and Walnut streets, where they were captured. The truck was very badly wrecked, the front and rear running-gears being torn asunder, the couplings broke, the lamps crushed and the ladders injured. It will cost a great deal to make the necessary repairs.

The truck is owned by the Empire hook and ladder company, who rented it year

Columbia is very quiet. Nothing is going on that might cause a smile to come to the reporter's face. It is sweltering hot. No one seems to have ambition enough to start a fight even, and the two 'darks" who did indulge in this amusing pastime on Saturday evening are not to be found. 'Squire Frank would like to see them very badly. So would Constable Struck.

The Churches.

A number of Columbians went up to Donegal, yesterday, to hear their former pastor, Rev. John McCoy, preach. He also preached at Marietta in the evening He will remain in Columbia until the latter part of the week, when he returns to his new home in the coal mining district. "The transfiguration of Christ" was

Rev. Humphries' subject, from which he discoursed a powerful and eloquent scrmon yesterday forenoon. He wished a re porter, as we see them to-day, had been present at the event to note the facts, for in the reporter of the press of the present time he sees all life, activity and enterprise, combined with frankness and truth. Rev. Jos. McDougall, of York, Pa., officiated at the service in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening yesterday.
