LOVE IN THE WEST.

NOT A CHICAGO TRIBUNE ROMANCE. A True Chicago Love-Story.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—At 10 o'clock last night in Wentworth avenue, Dietrich Peterson, an eager maker, fatally shot his former sweetheart, Frida Kreckel, and wounded her companion Frances Kraus and then blew out his own brains.

The cause of the tragedy was the fact that the girl had cast him off. The first shot hit Miss Kraus by accident, whereupon Peterson followed his fleeing sweetheart for half a block firing at her.

She was hit through her body and one in her neck and she cannot live. After the fall Peterson turned into a side street and put the pistol to his own head. He had tried to shoot her last spring and was under bonds to keep the peace.
