IMPROVEMENTS AT No. 1 Engine House.

The members of engine company No. 1 of the city fire department have made some very useful improvements at the engine house. The collars used by the horses are very heavy and as the animals are compelled to stand almost all day with the harness on, they are likely to get sore shoulders.

To remedy this pulleys have been placed in the ceiling which looks like a collar. These pulleys catch the tip of the collar and lift it up from the neck so that when the horses are standing the weight of the collar does not affect them. In case of fire the starting forward of the horses throws the hook of the collar back to its place.

On the door of the engine house springs have been placed and a rope leads from a catch in the top up to the ceiling and across to the driver's seat. In case of a fire the driver can sit on his seat and by a sharp pull on the rope open the door in an instant. These improvements will be made at the other engine houses in a short time.

THE TARIFF COMMISSION.

A Representative of the Sugar Interests Arguing Against Further Reduction of Duty. LONG BRANCH, Aug. 18.—The tariff commission at its morning session gave a hearing to John Dymond, of New Orleans, representing the Louisiana sugar interests. He urged that the present minimum rate of duty on the low classed sugars should not be further reduced, the reason being that the difference between the cost of the free labor of Louisiana and the slave labor of Cuba. If the duty were to be diminished, then the Louisiana sugar planters would ask that the foreign market be opened to them, for the machinery, coal, etc., used by them in their business. The commission also heard the suggestion of three New York custom house officers as to the changes desirable in the sugar and cotton tariff provisions.
