GILBERT AND SULLIVAN.

What Their New Opera is About.

Miss Helen Lenor, who has been managing Mr. D'Oyley Carter's recent tours in England, returned to New York yesterday on the White Star steamer Republic to make arrangements for the production in this city and elsewhere of several new operas by one or more of Mr. D'Oyley Carter's companies.

"Can you give a description of the opera?" "I don't mind giving you a glimpse of it, but as the work is not yet completed, Mr. Sullivan would not like me to tell too much about it. Of course it has not been rehearsed, but I have had the libretto read to me and have heard some of the music. As in all Mr. Gilbert's comic operas there is not much plot. The hero of the piece is named Strephon. His mother is a fairy and as such is exempted from the ravages of the infant mortality of age. She always looks young and charming. Strephon's father was not so favored, being a fairy only from the waist down. Strephon, of course, has a sweet heart, but she is not the fascinating lady, who appears to be about seventeen, is her prospective mother-in-law. The other principal characters are a Lord Chancellor of England and a Queen of the Fairies. The latter part will have to be played by a lady who possesses an abundance of disposition. The part is something like that of Lady Jane in 'Patience,' and that of the Fairy Mother, which is assigned to the prima donna of the company, corresponds somewhat to that of 'Patience.' The gentleman of the opera is a Peer of England, and appears in their coronets and robes. The opera contains many catching airs and tunes. The Lord Chancellor sings a song which is destined to become very popular. Strephon sings a very taking song to his mother. It is something of a parody on 'Tenneyson's Queen of the May.' The refrain runs: 'I'm to be married to-day, mother; I'm to be married to-day.' The part of Strephon will be played by Mr. Carleton. Mr. Ryley will sustain the character of the Lord Chancellor. The opera is written by Miss Lenor, 'is in two acts and is about the same length as 'Patience.' It is understood that Mr. Gilbert will be here to rehearse it in October. If not, somebody instructed by him will take charge of the rehearsal. Mr. D'Oyley Carter will probably arrive here in November to superintend its production on the stage."

FRAGILE INSURANCE.

The Secretary of a "Death-Rattle" Company Convicted of False Pretence. The first criminal case in "graveyard" insurance annuals came to a termination at the court-house in the conviction of one of the money under false pretences of L. B. Hummel, secretary of the notorious Maltoning insurance company of Solingrove, Snyder county, which is now in the hands of a receiver. It seems that the company incorporated as a "circle" in June, 1881, giving the number of members in class B, known as the "Old People's" class. The list was a pretty large one, and L. Fitting, I. M. Morley and W. H. Palmer, the promoters, were taken with the idea of insuring their subject in the Maltoning. They visited Solingrove and were informed by Hummel that the circular, as issued, was correct, and the investment a good one. They placed "their man" in the Maltoning, and in due time, as was probably expected, he died. On November 1, 1881, when they went for their money, they were informed that there was nothing coming to them, but that, on the contrary, they owed the company $24. They examined the books and found that on June 1, when the defunct circular was issued, there were but half as many members in the "class" as represented. The defunct claimed that the books in November only showed the number who had paid assessments, and that of the promoters represented the number of members who had refused to pay assessments on June 1, 1881. The jury believed the promoters and found Hummel guilty. Judge Hiekes, of York, tried the case. Judge McPherson, who represented the insurance commissioner in the conviction against the company to revoke its charter, declining to try it. A motion in arrest of judgment was made, and Hummel was placed under $500 bail until next month, when the motion will be heard.

The Muley's Avenged.

It was a balmy afternoon in August, and all the world seemed wrapped in a mantle of love. A young man was strolling through lawn and garden in a drowsy fashion, and the flowers that lined the gravelled walks of Costello's castle seemed to be beckoning with loving hands to Lady Esmeralda as she sat in graceful poses on a velvet covered seat, and gazed in a languid dreamy way, waiting to be done for three-days manner upon the pageant of nature that was passing before her eyes. But when the voice of one she knew, one she had loved with a deathless tenderness in the halcyon days of youth, was floating to her on the scented breath of the morning, a thrill passed through her, and the eyes erstwhile so listless, gleamed with the baleful fire of revenge. Looking eagerly across the croquet ground she saw Pizarro McElmire, the man who had scorned her love, coming across the lawn on a run, while in advance, and now almost opposite Costello's castle was a horse car. The girl smiled grimly to herself.

"Stop that car!"

"Stop that car!" shouted Pizarro again. The smile faded from the pretty face now, but no look of pity took its place. "Divine stop will be get from me!" she murmured, and went into the house. In a few moments there was a rap at the door. The maid answered it, and found Pizarro there. "You have frightened my life, false woman," he said. "I had a job yet to lose it because you would not stop the car." "Do you mean this?" asked the girl, kicking the dog off the front steps as she spoke. "Yes," replied the man, "you have utterly blasted all my prospects."

"Then," said Esmeralda, a look of holy boldness and peaceful defiance over her face, "the Muley's are avenged."

Boys of Down Pool Hand. All boys seem hard to the rheumatic. When I was on the beach, I used to see a man who had a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He said it was the best thing he had ever used for his rheumatism. I bought a bottle and used it for a few days, and it did me a world of good. I feel much better now. I will recommend it to all my friends who are afflicted with rheumatism. It is a most valuable medicine, and I feel sure it will do good for many others. I will send you a bottle of it for nothing. MEDICAL.

DR. BENSON'S REMEDIES.

(From the Springfield Republican.)

A Generous Act

That will be Appreciated by all who

Care for Their Complexion

And Skin.

It is not generally known that the nervous system has a wonderful influence over the skin, but this is a fact known to medical men who have given much of their time to the study of diseases of the skin. No one can have a clear and complexion unmarred with blotches or pimples who is very nervous.

Whatever tends to a healthy condition of the nervous system will beautify the complexion and remove roughness and dryness of the skin. Some skin diseases are not attended by visible inflammation of the surface, but an intolerable itching that renders life miserable.

We copy the following describing and interesting compliment from the Tribune which says: "Dr. C. W. Benson's New Remedy, 'SKIN LIFE,' is received by the public with great confidence, and it is regarded as a very generous act on the doctor's part to make known and prepare for general use his valuable and favorite prescription for the treatment of skin diseases. It is a most reliable and rational mode of treatment. These preparations are only put up for general use, after having been used by the doctor in his private practice for years, with the greatest success and they fully merit the confidence of all classes of sufferers from skin diseases." This is for sale by all druggists, and is sold in one package, and is not to be taken in any other form. It costs one dollar.
