Lancaster Intelligences

MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 11, 1862.

Young Men in City and Country. The season is at hand when the annual hegira of young men from the country takes place. During the present month thousands of youth, all over the country, will leave their rural homes and take up their abode, for better or worse, in the great cities. In the majority of cases, according to social statistics, the tom facts that are uppermost in the change will be for the worse; in very many it will be the entrance upon a life leading to quick and certain ruin, while some, of course, will be taking the first step in a future career of brilliant success. Let any one who is skeptical upon this point solve the matter for himself by watching closely for a few years the young men of his immediate vicinity who take this new departure in life at this time.

Some of these candidates for success or which they will sadly miss when beyond its kindly influence. To nine-tentlis of these young men the future will bring very strange and arduous duties. They will be suddenly thrown into a new world where self-interest will seem to be can't make two speeches in succession the cardinal and over-mastering impulse | without contradicting himself; that and principle. Instead of finding warmhearted, sincere and encouraging state; that Pattison will undoubtedly friends at every step to help them on, they will soon discover that every friendship worth having must be fought for, and that it will then almost surely bring enmity also. This is because the newcomer must of necessity displace or managers are endeavoring to arouse is crowd aside some other aspirant for the laughed at among the iron men of Pittsconfidence, esteem and assistance so much desired and which is absolutely essential to his success.

And this brings us to the vital point upon this somewhat trite, but always cities. Such a thing as a "vacancy" seashore. The tides of trade come and publicans need be expected. and would be helpers than are needed. Especially and emphatically is this true of the class which these young men from the country must join. An advertisement in a single daily newspaper for a clerk, salesman, bookkeeper, law student, etc., etc., will always bring scores and often hundreds of responses, all more or less urgent of acceptance, many with experience and valuable letters to recommend them, while many will gladly offer to work hard for wages upon which the self supporting young man from the country would find utterly inadequate to meet his plainest and most self-sacrificing requirements. And when the rural aspirant for city riches has obtained a landing place he will be jostled on every side and at every stage of his progress. If he has the grit, the brains, the apti tude for the work he has chosen and persevering habits of industry, he may in time succeed, but he will find it a continual struggle and his spirit will often have to be driven to its task like an over loaded and jaded animal. And should he happen to stumble and fall, he will have one chance in a hundred of getting a fresh start.

This in brief is the history of the young man from the country in American cities from a purely business or professional stand-point. And then the moral battle he must fight and the temptations he must resist to escape ruin are absolutely appalling to contemplate. His every step is beset by the enemies of virtue, sobriety and honor, and he must be continually and valiantly on his guard, or he will be taken captive unawares. It is, indeed, a bold and venturesome step when the young man from the country enters alone the great city. He is taking his chances in a great lottery. He is preparing to play against experienced players and loaded dice. He may succeed, but the majority before him have lamentably failed to meet their expectations. He would do better to stay right where he is, especially if on a farm. There he may become one of the country's real freemen. His life will be one of toil, but so it must be elsewhere to succeed, and his chances are as ten to one increased by his remaining at home. He is not needed in the city. He is not wanted there. If he goes he will soon long to be home again. He is infinitely better off where he is than he will be in the city for years to come at least, and his future is vastly more promising within the shadow of the old home-

CANDIDATE BROSIUS has evidently learned a little something, but not much, since that remarkable stroke of lightning which rent the political atmosphere at the time of his nomination, and which after the first startling sensation had passed away left a good many people in a condition of hilarlous merriment. Our were struck and killed. The barn of Brosius is nothing if not unique, and the Luther Browning in Lisbon was struck speech he made at Lititz the other night was but another illustration of this fact. Our esteemed contemporary, the Examiner, evidently recnized in the blank verse of the Cameron candidate for congressman-at-large an maugh station. He stepped from the unusual, not to say phenomenal, contri- path of one train directly in front of bution to the political literature of the another. day. Else we can see no reason it could robbed by two highwaymen a few days have had for the surrender of so much ago. The affair was kept quiet till Satof its valuable space to reproducing his urday, when Chauncey Myers, a wellutterances. Probably it prints it as a challenge to its Stalwart contemporaries throughout the state to turn out anything like it. Anyone who will go to the trouble of wading through the sustained a severe contusion of the brain, "meagre abstract," as the Examiner from which he will probably die.

denominates the column-and-a-half of stuff which it prints in fine type, will find in its stately phrase and rhetorical flourish only the veriest gush, which cannot by any stretch be considered as meeting any of the vital issues of the campaign. The amiable Mr. Brosius waddles all around the subject that he is supposed to be considering, soars on the wings of meaningless platitudes into the heights of the infinite, but never gets within hailing distance of the plain bot-tom facts that are uppermost in the reached as to some of the defendants but minds of thoughtful people at this time. Mr. Brosius' closing allusion to the Democrats as "pirates" is exceedingly able in its way, and delivered with an would meet them again Sunday morning emphasis that will show to his fellow- at ten o'clock. citizens of that political faith the estimate he places upon their character.

THE " voluntary contributions " now being levied by highway robber Hubbell mean one of two things. Either they are to be used in those states where so failure in the always over-crowded marts little interest is manifested in elections | Carpenter expressed it, "the mischief was of trade leave homes scarcely worthy of that legitimate party expenses would done irreparably and the government the name. Perhaps from early childhood otherwise remain unpaid, or they are to could hardly fail to secure a conviction." they have been compelled to endure pri- be used for the purpose of silencing the vations and hardships, the direct and voice of the people by debauching elecindirect result of self-wrought ills on the tions. The first supposition is forbidden part of parents. Others have been life- by the enormous figures the assessments rupted. "Be sure," said the court to the long victims of honest poverty and toil. will reach, and by the fact that candi They have been taught in a school of ex- dates and the people generally are usually perience that will serve them well in ready and willing to pay necessary camtheir future struggle with the world. paign expenses The conclusion is then you are concerned the question is settled." But many more will leave homes of com- inevitable that the assessments are to be fort in greater or less degree, and a fire- used as a vast corruption fund. This side arena of affectionate indulgence is a very edifying showing for the "party of principles."

THOS. M. MARSHALL tells a New York Herald reporter that Beaver is "Don Cameron's marionette," who Stewart will poll 100,000 votes in the be elected, and he (Marshall) is going to vote for Clark, the Democratic nominee for supreme judge, because he is the best man named for the place. He adds that the free trade issue the Cameron

THE New York Anti-Monopoly party supremely important subject, viz: The of the Republican party in that state crowded condition of all avenues of are eagerly seeking their alliance. Corlabor, mental or physical, in all great nell's unsavory record in the "blindpool" speculation should effectually never occurs in these teeming centres of squelch his chances to obtain favor with human life and activity. Countless the new organization. It looks as though changes are constantly taking place in the Anti-Monopoly party is strong to state that the jury were now no nearer every department of business, but it is enough this time to stand on its own like the shifting of the sands upon the bottom, and no coalition with the Re last report, for hardly had Dickson ceased 25th of May last. The letter was dated passengers by the Ethe, which reached New York yesterday. PRESIDENT ARTHUR intends to make an nland tour of New England during Octo-

PERSONAL.

Ex-GOVERNOR HENDRICKS is hunting in the wilds of Wisconsin.

Edison's patents now number three hundred and ninety-six. BISHOP PECK has lost a hundred pounds in weight during the last year.

Mr. Oscar Wilde makes a serious announcement. "I regret to discover," he says, "that Newport is under the tyrany CHARLES E. LELAND, of New York, is going to establish a Leland hotel in London, which is to be conducted thoroughly on the American plan. ROBERT CRUICKSHANK, a member of imprisoned for stealing a watch from one of the captains of the army. EX-POSTMASTER GENERAL JAMES said to a New York reporter yesterday: "I would rather remain president of the Lincoln bank than be governor of New York. I am content where I am." MADAME MARIE GEISTINGER Was wel comed by many friends and admirers upon her arrival at New York from Europe yes terday. She was accompanied by Manager Amberg, who brought with him a company of forty-two persons. He preposes to open a German operatic season at the Germania theatre, New York, shortly. hand, and as he took his seat he bluntly said to the deputy marshal "invite that EX-SECRETARY BLAINE went to Maine when three or four and twenty, carrying with him the manners, habits and tastes of a Kentuckian, and became a leader of Yankee hosts. Sergeant Prentiss went from Maine to Mississippi, which took him to her arms and made him her idol. His political rival was a Northern man, Robert J. Walker. John Stidell did not look upon Louisiana until he was thirty years

He was a New Yorker. The present

United States Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, is a North Carolinian. COLONEL ROBERT G. INGERSOLL Was asked by a friend the other day : "Is it true, colonel, that you really keep a considerable sum of money loose in an unlocked drawer of your desk at home so that your children may help themselves without stint or solicitation?" "Certainly, sir," was the answer. "I believe that to be the best way for cultivating in them a sense of responsibility and honor.' Thereupon the friend said : "Well, frankly now, colonel, if Brady and Dorsey were staying over night at your house, would you leave that drawer unlocked?" His answer was a long and resonant

Five Men Paralyzed by Lightning. A severe storm, accompanied by lightning, passed over New London county, Conn., Saturday morning. Five men in Yantic took refuge in an ice house. The building was struck and all five were paralyzed for a time. One man named Michael Lynch was terribly burned. The lightning struck him on the side and back. tore off his clothes, cork screwed down his leg and made a round hole in the top of his foot. Still Lynch lives and is expected to recover. A cow in a field close by was killed. A span of horses were knocked senseless and a yoke of cattle in Franklin and burned. Numerous reports have out of this. Acquit him and the rest can go been received of trees and fences being struck in all parts of the county.

Casualties Around Johnstown. Hiram Krum was cut in two at Cone-

THE JURY LOCKED UP.

NO VERDICT IN THE STAR BOUTS CASE Judge Wylle Indignant and Applying the Rigors of the Common Law-Rum of Fixing the Jury. The jurymen in the Star Route case appeared in court at six o'clock Saturday evening, when the room was crowded greater than at any time during the amous Guiteau trial. In response to a question by Judge Wylie Foreman Dickthat further time would be required to consider the cases of the others. Thereupon the court sent them back to their hotel, with the statement that Le

The first visit made by the jury at ten o'clock Saturday morning was for the purpose of receiving further instructions as to the alleged conspiracy and overt acts.
This afforded Judge Wylie the opportunity to deal several sledge hammer blows at the defendants, and their counsel rose simultaneously to protest against such action, but all to no avail, for, as Mr. Mr. Ingersoll tried to break the force of the judge's instructions, but Judge Wylie declared that this was no time for argument and said that he could not be interbe sure that you have a conspiracy and then be sure that some overt act (one or more) performed by one of the conspirators is proved at laid, and so far as Mr. Totten said that he excepted to everything the court had said.

"I know you do," put in the judge, at which there was a ripple of laughter. that what I have said is at all gratifying except to it and to hold the court responsible to a higher tribunal."

On Sunday morning the attendance was again very large and with the exception of Stephen W. Dorsey, all of the defendants were present. Promptly at 10 o'clock the court was called to order.

At twelve minutes past ten the jury came into the court room, looking rather fatigued. When, in answer to the usual questions by the clerk, Foreman Dickson replied that the jury had not yet directed him to make a return, a look in which vexation appeared mingled with indignation passed over Judge Wylie's countenance and was succeeded by a smile of deep meaning, as he sarcastically said : 'I don't know, but I shall have to administer the common law in its purity in this will meet in convention at Saratoga on respect," and then explained that under Wednesday next, and the two factions the common law, which he said was in force in the district, the jury were locked up and kept together without light, fire or any of the comforts of society, until a verdict was reached. "But I shan't adopt that course to-day," added, immediately afterward. He recon-Foreman Dickson said he deemed it proper | written by Alexander Cochran, the execan agreement than at the time of their who died at Bellshills, Scotland, on the speaking when Judge Wylie, calmly but July 28, 1882, and the envelope bore the determinedly, said : "The time has come address, " Matthew Fisher, Cheltenham, shall will take this jury to his own room of the state not being given, the letter and entertain them as other juries ars en- traveled around considerably before it tertained, and the court will take a recess till 2 o'clock." The announcement ap- letter contained an account of Sir Matparently carried dismay to the jury, and thew Cullen's death, and the writer retwo of them were observed to put quested Mr. Fisher to send by return mail their heads together and exchange a few a statement of his financial condition, etc. Algernon Sartoris and family were looks at the judge. It is somewhat Fisher, as his nephew, comes in for a significant that these two men have been long picked out by persons who are in daily attendance at the trial as two who would vote for acquittal; and their action confirms the suspicion that two or three men on the jury are hanging out for an acquittal in the cases of the principal defendants. The determined action of the udgo was evidently received with approval by those present in the court room. As for the judge himself, he was apparently careless as to the effect of his action on either jury or audience. He sat unconcernedly watching the jury as they filed has the eash in hand, when he will probout in the custody of the deputy marshal ably invest in an establishment of his own. the London salvation army, was recently and bailiffs, and then taking his hat, he left the court room. The usual audience re-assembled at o'clock in the afternoon to hear the report from the jury. There was only one lady present and she occupied a seat by the side of J. W. Dorsey. S. W. Dorsey was present for the first time since the retirement of the jury, but left the room before the court was called to order. All the other exception of Brady, who remained in the corridor outside the court room door. Judge Wiley was promptly on room, a most oppressive silence fell over the crowded court room, continuing until his return. He reported that the jury wise they were not ready to come into mediately ordered a recess until 10 o'clock | the day.

to morrow. The common law in force in the district as applied to the treatment of a jury is stringent enough if its provisions are car ried out, but for the present it will not be enforced in all its rigor by the judge. He will be satisfied with seeing the jury locked up in the marshal's room, instead of having them entertained at a hotel and with depriving them of papers, books, to bacco, cigars and liquors. In the afterwhen a recess was taken, he took "Neither malt, spirituous nor liquors. Lawyer Bliss, "That will bring them." There are many rumors affoat that communication has been had with the jury. These can be traced to no reliable source and are doubless surmises based upon the fact that a code of signalling could readily be brought into use between the defendants and members of the jury had the latter been "fixed" and instructed in the use of the signals. Common report mentions the names Jurymen Dickson, Doniphan, McLane and Olcott as those who have been ap proached by jury "fixers." Jurym n McCarthy, by his own statement. includes himself in the list of those who have been made the objects of attack by these men Mr. Ker stated to a Star reporter that not three nights ago, a man who is pron:i nent in this city shook a roll of bills in the face of a juryman and said: "These are yours. Stephen W. Dorsey has got to get to h-1." Mr. Ker says that the government has known of these attempts upon the jury for some time. There are all kinds of stories affeat. According to one of these, two jurors were " bought and paid for " several weeks ago, and it is now said that affidavits to support this placed in the hands of the attorney general, who now has them in his posses-Mr. Ker said he was sorry for Brady in this matter, for he did not believe that township, Bergen county, N. J., was Brady knew anything about it. His idea murdered by two men who are supposed others were discharged, three of them paythe interest of Stephen W. Dorsey.

Schooners Wrecked and Men Lost. The American schooner, William L. Farrell, from Cedar Keys to New York, fore he was murdered.

with lumber, ran ashore at Tortugas during the recent cyclone. She was assisted by wreckers. She is reported bilged. The mate and three of the men left in a boat to go ashore and have not been heard of since and are supposed to be lost. Another American schooner, name un known, struck near Key West and will be a total loss. The master and crew strip ped her themselves and will send the materials home. She was from Cedar Keys to Boston.

CHARLES INGERSULL DEAD. ome Incidents in the Life of the Lawyer

Charles Ingersoll, word of whose death and burial at sea was received on Friday, was for 40 years one of Philadelphia's ablest and most prominent lawyers. He was a native of that city, being born in the house 505 Walnut street. Mr. Ingersoll studied law in the office of his uncle, Joseph R. Ingersoll, with whom he was a great favorite and who left him half of his fortune. At quite an early age he took an active part in politics as a speaker and writer. He was a staunch Democrat, and labored carnestly for the good of his party. One day in 1862, when the war feeling was at its height, his brother Edward, who lived in Germantown, was coming to the city on a train when he made a remark to a friend who was with him which excited the ire of a young rough who was in the car. At Eighth and Green streets this man rushed up to Mr. Ingersoll and shouting that he had heard what he said in the train attempted to strike him with a cane. Mr. Ingersoll, although over sixty years old, defended himself and soon proved too much for his assailant. During the dis-turbance an officer arrived and arrested Mr. Ingersoll. The prisoner was taken to Thirteenth and Spring Garden streets and locked up. His brother Charles, hearing "I of the matter drove to the station house do not think it a jest at all. I do not think that what I have said is at all gratifying Spring Garden street, he was recognized to the gentlemen. I think that they do not like the law, and they have a right to possible, but was soon caught on each side by some of his assailants, who held him while another belabored him over the head, from the rear, with a blackjack. Mr. Ingersoll was finally rescued in an insensible condition, and after weeks of suffering he recovered. His friends found out all who were engaged in the affair and had proof enough to convict them all, but Mr. Ingersoll would not allow the case to go into court. At this time he was about sixty years old and was preparing to withdraw from politics. When young he had the leading men of the city for his clients, and among others Stephen Girard. MR. FISHER'S FORTUNE.

A Bethlehein Shovel Maker an Heir to Baronet's Estate. Several months ago Matthew Fisher and his family moved to South Bethlehem from Cheltenham, near Philadelphia. Mr. Fisher in the shovel department of the Lehigh manufacturing company, and was brought there by the company to superintend the finishing department. A few days ago he received a letter sidered this determination, however, when from the dead letter office in Washington. utor of the estate of Sir Matthew Cullen. was sent to the dead-letter office. The large portion. The deceased was a bachelor, and the brother of Mr. Fisher's mother. The parents of Mr. Fisher came to this country about the year 1850, and located in North Adams, Mass., and it was there that Mrs. Fisher died, in 1861. In this case furture smiles on a deserving man, as Mr. Fisher is a poor, hard-working mechanic, while naturally elated at the good fortune that has befallen him, he has not had his head turned enough to quit work, but daily continues at his business, and will keep on doing so until he He is a highly respected citizen of South Bethlehem, and has gained many friends, who rejoice at his windfall,

ONLY SEVEN LEFT.

A Small Attendance at the Annual Gathering of "Old Defenders." The association of Old Defenders assembled Sunday morning at the city hall, Baltimore, for the purpose of attending defendants were in attendance, with the church service, as is their custom on the Sunday preceding the antiversary of the battle of North Point. Only seven were present-William Batchelor, aged ninetytive; Colonel Elijah Stansbury, aged said to the deputy marshal "invite that ninety-one; George Boss, aged eighty-jury down." As the messenger left the eight; Nathaniel Watts, aged eight-seven; eight; Nathaniel Watts, aged eight-seven; Samuel Jennings, aged eighty-five, and Henry Lightner, aged ninety. They were escorted to William street M. E. shurch would come down if Judge Wylie had by Wilson Post, No. 1, G. A. R., and anything to say to them, but that other- litened to a sermon by the pastor. There are several others residing in the city, but court. "The court has nothing to say to the infirmities of age prevented them thom," responded the judge, and he im- from a participation in the ceremonies of

A Young Driver Boy's Fate. A driver boy on the dirt bank at Phillips & Sheafer's Malia colliery, at Pottsville, named Charles Boyer, aged fifteen years, was killed on Saturday. He went up to the counter-chute for the purpose of starting the dirt and failed to return. His companions instituted a search, but were unable to find him, and decided that he was in the chute, which was drawn and the dead body of young Boyer rolled out. occasion to impress upon Deputy Marshal The dirt in the chute, it is believed, was Williams that the jury were to have no blocked and the deceased jumped upon it to force it down, when it suddenly started, viuous," as he phrased it. He added to taking him with it, breaking his neck in the fall.

New Railroad in the Schuyikill Valley The Pennsylvania railroad has placed under contract a line of road from Frazers to Phenixville. It runs from Louella Station (formerly Wayne) to Consho-hocken and thence by the east side of the Schuylkill to Phonixville via Norristown. This will afford accommodation to the residents, in the valley of the Schuylkill. This; plan, it is said, will take the place of the line from Philadelphia to Norristown via Chestnut Hill, the cost of the tunuel at the latter place and the building of an extensive bridge across the Wissahickon transferred. The work will be finished being reasons assigned for the abandonment of this road.

A Mayor Shoots His Chief of Police. John H. Johnston, mayor of Danville, Va., shot John E. Hatcher, late chief of police, inflicting what is believed to be a mortal wound. The parties met casually and Hatcher demanded an apology for a statement of Johnston that Hatcher had not accounted for fines he had collected.

Murdered by Tramps. Daniel W. Cole, a carpenter living in the village of Closter, in Harrington was that all the efforts had been made in to be tramps. Henry Beggs and Solomon ing costs. Heally were arrested in Jersey City, charged with the crime. It is thought that Cole was killed for $5 which he was known to have had in his possession be-

Miss Davenport in London. Miss Fanny Davenport, the American actress, appeared at Toole's theatre, in London, Saturday night, as Diane, the Countess de Lys, in a new play adapted from the Franch of Dumas the younger, She was well supported by Hermann Vezin, Eleanor Bufton and Plympton There was a full house. The piece was well mounted, but the acts were of rather unequal merit. Miss Davenport was well received and was called before the curtain. The audience was composed in great of Americans and included the United States consul general and Vice consul Mr. George A. Sala, Miss M. E. Braddor and Mr. Clement Scott.

A Postmaster's Odd Bulletin. The Garwoods, N. Y., postmaster, who is either a recognized Arthur man or else taking advantage of the president's month off, tacked up to day the following bulletin for the delectation of his Half-breed townsmen: "Hereafter this postoffice will be open from 6 a.m., to 12 m. and from 1 p. m., until 6 p. m. All persons requiring any further acommodations will confer a favor upon the postmaster by either getting their mail at some other office or taking measures to have the pastmaster removed." No Wonder It Meets Success. Marietta Register.

the party to which it has clung tenaciously since its birth as a daily. No wonder that it meets with success.

MATTERS IN MOUNT JOY. Evangelical Service-Accident-A Watchma Wanted at the Kallroad Crossing— Business Changes—The Tobacco

On Sunday evening, at the Presbyterian church, a series of evangelical services were commenced. They are conducted by Rev. Haratio H. Wells, of Willoughby. Ohio. He is a memter of the Presby-Cleveland, and come to this place highly recommended as a successful evangelist. The meetings will be held every evening this week, ending on gramme is: Tuesday evening, "Is morali-ty alone sufficient to save;" Wednesday evening, "How may sinners be justified; Thursday evening, "Did Christ die for all men;" Friday evening, "The doom of the finally unpenitent," The services will Recently John Mooney, sr., au employee at Geyer & Metzler's agricultural works, was caught by his shirt in the set screw of a planer. The shirt was torn from his back, but fortunately Mr. Mooney escaped injury.

R. F. Plummer, proprietor of the Washington house, while digging a post hole smashed one of his toes with the

A party of four, (two young ladies and two gentlemen), narrowly escaped getting the tobacco but the stalk. caught by the section of the day express at the Main street crossing, on Sunday evening. The train did not whistle, and if it had not been for a pedestrian who heard the train approach, there would have been whole lower end of the county more or He driver succeeded in keeping the horse from the track as the train passed by. A petition to the company from a number of our citizens for a watchman at that crossing was not favorably acted upon some time since. Since the refusal to place a man at this dangerous crossings, and as the engineers very often neglect to blow the whistle, the company has the censure of our citizens.

Messrs. Fickes & Metzgar having purchased the grocery of A. L. Kolp they will continue the business at the same place commencing to-day.

Frank Scholl, formerly of this place now of Philadelphia, was in town last week. Jacob Hostetier has removed his eigar manufactory to Florin. Contrary to expectations the Ironsides baseball club of Lancaster did not put in an appearance on Saturday. Efforts are being made to get up a lecture course at this place. A strong northeast wind commenced to bring us a heavy rain last night It has discontinued the work of putting the tobacco crop away, and the chances are that when it clears up we'll get frost. Tobacco farmers are uneasy. Not half of the crop

State Board of Agriculture, The next meeting of the Pennsylvania board of agriculture will be held in Washington, Pa., beginning on Wednesday, October 18, and continuing several days. A large number of delegates from different parts of the state will be present These meetings are open to everybody, and, as the subjects all interest our farmers, it is expected that they will be in attendance in large numbers. Each subject will be treated by a person who knows what he is talking about. Among the essayists is Henry M. Engle who will read a paper on 'Ice Houses for Farmers.'

Run Over By a Wagon.

On Friday Wm. Smith, residing about a mile east of Conestoga Centre, was hauling in tobacco, and Dora, his five-year-old daughter, was riding on top of the had. She attempted to jump and fell under the wagon, one wheel of which passed over her near the shoulders. She was taken home and attended by Dr. Clinger. She was terribly bruised, but it is not known whether internally injured or not. She is now doing well.

Was it the Result of the Music? On Saturday the General Reynolds band of Conestoga Centre went to Green Hill to play for a Sunday school celebration. When they were passing through Safe Harbor they were asked by the employees of the rolling mill to play. The music started and a horse belonging to the company, which was standing near, reared up and fell dead. What tune the band played has not yet been learned and as there was no inquest on the horse the cause of his sudden death is unknown.

Repairs to a Bridge. Workmen are busy repairing the railroad bridge at Graeff's Landing. New trucks are being laid and other work done. Trains are run to the bridge from the city and Quarryville where passengers are to-night.

Cake Walk. There is a colored band in Conestoga Centre which is named after the late President Garfield. They are said to be good musicians. On Saturday they held a cake walk near Rawlinsville and had a Fatal Injuries. An apology was refused. A scuffle ensued and Johnston shot Hatcher. Johnston surrendered himself and was admitted to bail in $5,000.

Mrs. Hency Rothrick, of Bainbridge, the woman who was accidentally shot by ston surrendered himself and was admitted to bail in $5,000.

Mrs. Hency Rothrick, of Bainbridge, the woman who was accidentally shot by her son ou Thursday, has since died of her injuries and the funeral took place to derive the stone of the shop secured the full City band and with it marched to Mr. Powell's residence on church street, near Lime, where they gave > Mayor's Court. This morning the mayor sent three drunks to jail for short terms and six Reading Fxcursion. About 150 persons went to Reading yesterday on the excursion, of that number 100 were from this city.

THE GREAT HAIL STORM

SUME BAD WORK LAST PRIDAY NIGHT. mmense Destruction in the Lower End-

What the Winds and Weather Wrought in Their mad Fury. In order to give our readers some idea of the extent of the storm of Friday night one of our reporters drove over part of the track yesterday, and was surprised to find the great extent of the damages. There has never before been a bad storm in this section that took- in such a large extent of territory. Nearly always they had been narrow strips of hail, never more than a mile wide; but this seems to have gone in several wide strips and in the the effect that deceased had said to Chas.

centre to have been the very worst. From Safe Harbor by way of Willow Street it was terrific, destroying the tobacco completely and cutting the corn to shreds. Around the latter place very heavy winds accompanied the hail and rain, and the corn is badly down and tangled. Going on to Strasbug its course is marked by sad havoe; the very best tobacco of the season is ruined. Some farmers lose as high as thirteen acres. J. F. Herr had eleven acres, very little of which had been cut So it is all through this section; very little of the largest tobacco had been harvested. From Strasburg down to Bart (nearly over the same route of the big storm of last The Laucaster daily INTELLIGENCER year) this storm passed, leaving nothing celebrated its nineteenth anniversary on standing but the bare stalks. On down through Eden, into Coleraine, some of the "boss tobacco" which has been frequent-Friday, the 1st inst. This journal is a stanneh Democratic sheet in a Republican stronghold; but is able to hold up its end ly noticed in this paper, fell before the deof the beam in politics, reportorial news stroyer. Around Providence and Camargo, the and as an able defender and exponent of storm was very heavy. The streams were swollen almost as high as during the late big flood, and the roads and bridges are again in bad shape, and the tobacco is ruined. This same section suffered from a very beavy storm just about a year ago, which used up corn and tobacco badly. In the vicinity of Quarryville the hail was not so severe; some fell just north of the village and the crops of Daniel Mc-Laughlin, and several others, were badly damaged. East of the village about two miles, the damage is extensive, but west of it the severest part of the storm seems to have gone, and the Buck was the centre of that strip. A more comseen than the corn and tobacco fields show plete scene of desolation could not be Friday evening. His theme last night at this place. The tobacco was fully three was "God's relation to sin." The proweeks late in that section, and as a consequence there was comparatively little cut; and had the storm held off for two weeks more there would have been housed a very fine lot of tobacco for this year. The heaviest losers are such well-known growers as Dr. Deaver, Downes, Kauffmans, Penny, Moores, Walton, Johnson, McMichaels, Rineherts &., all of whon are large growers, aggregating saveral hundred acres.

The roads and bridges are very badly washed, and in some places are almost im passable. It is about the same along the

In and around Centreville and over by the storm going through that section. The damage extended into Chester parties from there say the damage is very heavy. The hail insurance companies will lose largely and the adjusters have so much to do that other parties have been called in to appraise losses.

In many cases the loss is total and is so made by the adjustment. As we said before, this storm has been is a crushing disaster to them, and many of them will not plant another crop. As course, the very late will be ruined.

From Our Salisbury Correspondent. At a late hour on Friday night a terrific thunder storm, accompanied by hail, passed over this section of the country. There was some heavy thunder and sharp damage was done to the tobacco, corn and all. other crops by the hail. Along the mountain considerable tobacco and garden crops were seriously damaged by the hail. The corn in some places has been entirely stripped of its blades, and in other places badly beaten down by the rain. five acres of tobacco badly riddled and his last. It appears that while Mr. Maloney neighbor, G. A. Worst, had a fine patch was assisting in shifting cars, his ner each had five acres of tobacco battered to pieces. Peter Esch had three his person from friends at Bird in-Hand acres cut to pieces. But little damage was and to-day his parents received a letter done to the crops in the White Horse or Gap, but a great deal of tobacco was much cut up at Compassville. At Buyerstown the tobacco crop suffered great losses. Isaac Eby lost a large number of acres of fine tobacco, there being as high as twenty holes cut in one leaf. Across the line in Sadsbury township the storm proved more disastrous than in this township. Many hundred dollars worth of tobacco is destroyed. In Simmonstown the house occupied by Silas Austin was struck by lightning and the roof was badly shattered. The cornice was torn off and the porch post splintered. None of the inmates were injured. The hail near the Nine Points was as large as cherries and was very severe. Window panes were shattered to pieces and the crops were literally cut up. At a rough estimate there is at least $20,000 worth of tobacco lost in this township.

Many poor people who had nothing to depend on except their tobacco crop will be almost rendered destitute. The majority of the crops were not insured.

The following is a list of unclaimed letters remaining in the postoflice for the week ending Sept. 11, 1892:

Ludies List-Ellen Brown, Lizzie Bowers,

M. Helen Brown, Mrs. George Caldwell, r., Mr. and Mrs. Jas. B. Decker, M. Effinger, Mary A. Hinerdeer, L. Kilhefer, Jennie McDonel, C. M. Pearce, Mrs. E. E. Stains, Mame E. Stewart, Mrs. Winnie Umphrey, Miss Agnes Wenderoth.

Gents List.—David Crow, Martin Dea, Editor German Democrat, H. J. Frey, Jacob Harman, George Hime, Litner Heisley, W. T. Hogan, Thomas H. Hogan Isaac Houser, F. Koller, John S. Lardis, David Leeche, James McGibney, Jacob Yoat.

The third week of common pleas court began this morning with Judge Livingston presiding. Of the nineteen cases on the list but six were found to be ready upon the calling of the list. No cases were attached for jury trial this morning, and court adjourned until 2:30 o'clock. Jacob Rinehart, an insolvent debtor, was

SUICIDE An Aged Man Ends a Weary Life. Last evening about 6 o'clock Peter Ham-ilton, aged about 70 years residing in the nt of Wm. Cornelius' house No. 701 South Queen street, was found dead lying upon a lounge in his room, and beside him was found an empty two-ounce vial labeled laudanum. Coroner Shiffer was notified and empanneled the following named gentlemen as a jury to hold an inquest : Thes. F. McElligott, David G. Hirsh, Lewis Sylves ter, B. F. Batholemew, John F. Kraph, John B. Shiffer. Dr. Wm. Compton acted as the coroner's physician.

Haag about 10 o'clock on Sunday morning that he had taken enough laudanum to kill a mule but that it had no effect on an old fellow like him. He had on several previous occasions said to some of his friends that he was tired of life and that he would end his days. Wm. Cornelius, in whose house he had been living for the past eight years, testified that Mr. Hamilton had been drinking a good deal since the death of his wife in May last, and that yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock he heard him snoring very loudly, and supposed he had been drinking. At 6 o'clock he found him dead. The vial of laudanum bore the label of Dr. B. F. W. Urban, on which was printed the quantity it was safe for children and adults to take at a dose.

The jury after hearing the evidence re turned a verdict that the said Peter Hamilton, came to his death by taking a dose of laudanum with intent to commit sui

Mr. Hamilton was a brother of the late John Hamilton of this city, and was a man of fine education and excellent qualities. In his younger days he was a successful school teacher. Later in life, he had charge of Gable's saw mill on the Conestega, which he run for many years. Recently he was employed in R. A. Smith & Co's, coal yard, but in-firmities incident to old age, compelled him to quit work. He was an ndustrious, houest, upright man, and it was only after the death of his wife that he became despondent and drank more than was good for him. He was the father of three or four children, only one of whom survives him-a son, residing in Selinsgrove, Snyder county. On Saturday last he made sale of his household effects and said he was going to Selinsgrove to spend the remaining days with his son. Some of his friends are loth to believe that he committed suicide, and hold that he may have inadvertently taken an over dose of the drug to gain relief from severe pains with which he was afflicted.

SWINDLED OUT OF $3,000.

A Bogus Judge from Lancaster County Vic-timizes a Farmer.

"Rev. William Miller, Lutheran clergy man, of Uniontown, and Judge Wilson, of Lancaster, late of the supreme court of Liberty Square suffers badly, but Pennsylvania," swindled Jacob Livengood out of $3,000 at Salisbury, about six miles some of the vegetable matter being beaten from Meyersdale, Somerset county on down into the ground and nothing left of thursday. The old gentleman was so the tobacco but the stalk. the matter public until next evening. way of the Unicorn the loss will be heavy, Mr. Livengood is a wealthy member and the damage is great down about of the Dunkard church and lives Pleasant Grove, as well as almost the on one of his farms near Salisbury. a serious accident. As it was, one of the less. New Texas seems to have been a ladies jumped out of the vehicle and the very heavy sufferer, the heaviest part of Jacob." M. M. Hilliard's "Great Pacific Equescurriculum " exhibited in Salisbury on Thursday, and the two swindlers seen county and into Cecil county, Md., and to be its most profitable attractions. The alleged preacher made his acquaintance with Mr. Livengood, and took him to the show to see a marvelous curly haired horse which was supposed to be there. There he introduced the old farmer to "Judge Wilson," who said he was a prospective can-didate for the United States Senate and solicited Mr. Livingood's support. The two took the farmer into an annex and showthe most extensive ever been known in ed him a lottery game, which at once this county and those adjoining, and the struck the preacher as an improvement on loss will fall very heavily on many who are not able to bear it, being wholly dependent on this crop for their living, and sinful uses and utilize it for the good of having nothing else to depend upon. This the church. The judge vouched for the preacher as a man of substance, but the farmer had no money with him. The to the corn it is so far grown that the loss preacher drove him to Myersdale, however, where he drew $3,000 of his accuwill be mostly confined to the fodder. Of mulations out of the bank. Then they drove back to the show ground, and before they were long under the canvas the old man's money was out of his hands. Just how it went or who got it he cannot explain, but avers that Mr. Miller wept lightning. The rain fell in torrents for bitterly at his misfortune. Officers are in about four hours, and in consequence the pursuit of the show, and intend to seize streams were greatly swollen. Great the whole concern, curly-haired horse and

FATAL KAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Sames Maloney, jr., of Bird-in-Hand, this county, a brakeman on the Pittsburgh. Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, was killed Benjamin Weaver, near Springville, had at Allegheny City on Wednesday night entirely destroyed. The crops in the vi- foot caught in a frog and before emity of Pequea Presbyterian church are he could release himself a train ruined. Samuel Worst and Henry Wan. passed over him, cutting him in two. He was identified afterwards by letters on containing the sad news. He was twenty years old and a son of James Maloney His brother, John Maloney, left this afternoon for Allegheny, for the purpose of bringing on the body.

> BAPTISM AT THE ALMSHOUSE. Religious Revival at the Almshouse and

A very unusual ceremony took place at the almshouse yesterday, namely, the baptism by immersion of two aged male inmates. The impressive and solemn rite was per formed by Rev. John Swank, chaptain of the hospital, assisted by A. C. Leonard, in the presence of Steward Brock and a number of the inmate.

Lately quite a religious feeling seems to have been created both at the almshouse and at the prison, many of the inmates of both places having professed repentance of sin and faith in the Saviour.

On Friday a resolution was published which the county commissioners passed authorizing their solicitor to take steps to prevent the poor directors from the work of erecting the back wing of the insane asylum. This morning the commissioners, a committee of the poor directors and the solicitors of both bodies held a confer ence, at which they concluded that the commissioners were the ones who should have charge of the public buildings and they could erect if they thought necessary. The directors can now make what suggestions they desire and the commissioners will consider them.

Saturday was the forty-fifth birth-day of John Powell, or "Jack" as he is better known, a finisher in the smith shop of Norbeck & Miley's carriage church street, near Lime, where they gave him a serenade. Walter Bateman made a speech of congratulation to Mr. Powell. and after the music the whole party was taken into Mr. Powell's house where that gentleman gave them a fibe entertainment. happy evening was spent by all present.

Train Jumpers. Special Officer Pyle gathered in two train-jumpers who being unable to pay the fines and costs were sent to jail for ten days each.