voted in the interest of public economy and political reform." On motion of Dr. J. M. Dunlap a com mittee of five was appointed by the chair to prepare an address to the voters of the Northern district. The chair appointed the following: Abraham Kline, Manheim Col. W. M. McClure, Columbia; Isaac K

Huber, Norwood ; Christ Smith, Ephrata ; Christ. H. Nissley, Florin, East Donegal. Capt. Bricker and Abr. Kline made ringing speeches in denunciation of machine metho is and machine men, and gave the most encouraging assurances that if the Independents are true to their principles and to themselves a victory in the Northern district will reward their efforts and the shame under which Pennsylvania lies through her misrepresentation by Cameron in the United States Senate will be washed away. Mr. Graybill made a brief speech in support of honest government and the convention adjourned with cheers.

The convention, though not large, was composed of a better class of men than has been seen in any Republican convention in this county for years. They were almost exclusively sturdy farmers, mer-chants and business men, who have cut loose from the machine organization with a determination to crush it. There was not a lawyer nor a professional politician in their ranks, and scarcely a man whose name has ever prominently been men tioned in connection with office.
