Lucy present at every battle, and from whose decisions as to what constitutes a "foul" there shall be no appeal. Still, after tak ing all these precautions, what certainty can we have that unprincipled soldiers will not use lead bullets that kill and wound instead of the regulation accesthetic bullets? Suppose, for example, that Germany and France should agree to fight under the rules of the International Fighting association : that the German troops should begin a battle with anæsthetic balls and should suddenly find themselves mowed down by a storm of lead bullets fired by the perfidious Frenchmen-what redress would the Germans have? Of course, they would claim a "foul," and the umpire would decide that they had won the battle, but of what practical use would such a decision be to them, if the Frenchmen refused to pay any attention to it and in sisted upon marching on Berlin and capturing it? It may be said that if auy nation should thus unlawfully use lead bullets the enemy would also have the right to use them, but in this case the horrors of war would instantly reappear and all the benefits of the invention of ances thetic bullets would disappear.

Then again the introduction of anes thetic bullets would make it possible for dishonest soldiers to soll their battles. As the anæsthetic bullet leaves no mark upon the man whom it strikes, it would be impossible for any one to tell whether a soldier who should fall on the field and remain motionless had really been made insensible by an anæsthetic bullet or was merely shamming. It would often be pos. church. sible for a regiment or a brigade to insure the defeat of the rest of the army by fall. ing down at the first volley of the enemy and pretending to be insensible, and no matter how fairly an army fight be beaten charges would always be made that the battle had been "sold," and that the noble art of war was passing under the control of betting men and speculators.

Whether it is worth while to get rid of the horrors of war at the cost of reducing | war to the level of American athletic sports is a serious question. At present nations who go to war are usually anxious to win honorable victories, and soldiers, unless they happen to be South American soldiers, never think of selling a battle to the enemy. It is painful to think that men should try to maim and murder one another in battle, but whatever we may think or say of soldiers we are not yet compelled to class them with professional oarsmen and baseball players, and we should think twice before adopting any scheme which would involve any such result.

BOARDING HOUSE SWINDLERS.

A Notable Case of Robbery in Which a Lan-lady Lost $2,000.

New York Letter.

The great annoyance of our boardinghouse keepers is the dead-beats which habitually prey upon this unfortunate class. The expedients to which the beats resort to keep up their credit are numerous and ingenious. A very common one, however, is the postal card trick. These cards are mailed by themselves and contain promises of payments of large sums. The landlady is supposed to read these, which ought to help the dead beat's credit, but this trick is rather worn out. The boarding house thief is also an object of dread, since he penetrates the highest as well the lowest abodes. No long since asseries of depredations occurred in a firstclass house, and it was eventually discovered that the thief was one of the lady boarders. She was a married woman of elegant appearance, and even her hus-band was surprised by the revelation which followed detection. He found that his wife was an expert thief, and in this COAL. manner was enabled to dress in a style much beyond their means, which she ex-830 NORTH WATER ST., Lancaster, Pa., plained by a tale of imaginary presents.
