Frank, in his offer to surrender, says he is not as bad as he is represented and that in his sufferings he has done penance for his past life. Crittenden's answer made no promises, but advised Frank to appear before the courts. Since the surrender Governor Crittenden says he will considred the propriety of a pardon after the conviction and sentence of Frank,

THE RISKS OF THE RAIL. A Passenger train Wrecked Without Seriou

COATESVILLE, Pa., Oct. 6.-The seven o'clock p. m. train on the Wilmington & Northern railroad was wrecked last night by a switch being left open at the company's round-house at this place. The train, which was going very rapidly, ran into a shifting engine and some freight cars that were standing at the roundhouse, completely wrecking the two engines and several of the freight cars. Peter Kinslar, a watchman, who was setting on the shifting engine, was badly scalded about the hips. The passengers, though badly shaken up, escaped injury. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train also escaped uninjured.
