WHY HE TOOK A VACATION. Ruport's Sad Farewell and the Reason for st Chicago Fribune.

" Will he bite ?" The humming of the bees as they sped from flower to flower and sipped the honeyed treasures of petal and calyx, and the low murmur of the summer breeze sighing among the locust trees, were the only sounds that broke the St. Louis silence of a beautiful afternoon in September. The amber haze of Indian summer ber. The amber haze of Indian summer had fallen upon the land, and from the vivid hues of the sumac bush to the pale gray of the abandoned hoopskirt every object that lay so silently upon the brown bosom of the sun-kissed earth was touched with the withering hand autumn. Away to the westward stretched a vista of grain fields that were laughing in the golden glory of an abundant harvest while the eastern landscape was flecked here and there by a sad-eyed but brindle

"Let us think only of the future, Ru-pert," said Beryl Gillhooly to the strong limbed, all-on-account-of-Eliza young man who stood by her side, looking down into the hazel depths of her beautiful eyes in a wistful, will the old-man-ever-go-tobed expression that sat so strangely upon the Chicago outlines of his pure young face. And even while speaking these words she turned her left foot slightly, so as to shield him from the ardent rays of the sun, and smiled a joyous, happy, you are first-choice - in - every-pool smile that told of the deathless passion that enslaved her soul. "Let us think of the future," she c.n. iqued: "of the bright and happy future, full of matines tickets

" No, no; not that, some other future," eried Rupert McIntosh, a look of haunting horror coming into his face. "I cannot free my mind from this dreadful suspi-

At that moment a book agent was seen ascending the brow of a hill. He entered the portals of Coasteliff Castle, and went up the front steps. In a little while he came back hurriedly and soon a dog was seen at play with some gents' furnishing goods. Rupert kissed Beryl and started

"When are you coming back sweet-"Next August," are the words that the zephyrs bear back to her.

Why do you wait so long darling?' "Because," he answers, in tear-stained tones, "dogs are muzzled in August."

THE LIGHT IN THE EAST. Running Away at the Rate of 2,500,000

Astronomers declare the comet now in view to be the most beatiful vagrant of the skies that has been visible in this part of the globe for twenty years, though it is not as bright about the head as it was one week ago. Its nucleus has diminished to the brightness of a star of the second magnitude, while its tail has remained about the same. The length of the tail is computed to be about fifteen degrees. When puted to be about fifteen degrees. When it is stated that the diameter of the sun is only one-half a degree it can easily be surd how large the tail appears to the naked eye. It extends a distance of 50,-000,000 in space, which is equivalent to little more than half the distance between the earth and the sun. Like all such wanderers in the planetary system it burst into view on the morning of September 17 without the slightest thing occurring to herald its approach. When first seen it was heading for the sun, around which it passed a few days later, and it is now receding from that body at the tremendous speed of two and a half million miles a day. It is thought to be one hundred and twenty million miles away from the carth, and is still moving off, so that persons of a nervous temperament may disabuse their minds of fears of a collision.

Every day from this out this beautiful phenomenon will become visible about five minutes earlier for probably a period of eighteen days, when it will fast fade from view, and in about three weeks it will disappear from the range of vision of the naked eye, and will have wandered off to return, presumably, in eight or nine years, according to the computations made at the Harvard college observatory.

Prittspord, Mass., Sept. 28, 1878.
Sirs—I have taken Hop Bitters and r. commend them to others, as I found them very beneficial.

. Presumption begins in ignorance and ends in ruin." On the other hand, the production of Kidney-Wort began with wise custions and scientific research, and its use ends in restoring shattered constitutions and endowing men and women with health and happiness. "My tormented back," is the exclamation of more than one poor, hard-working man and woman; do you know why it aches? It is because your kidneys are overtasked and need strengthening, and your system needs to be cleaned of bad humors. You need Kidney-Work.
