TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 17, 1882 FROST.

For the INTELLIGENCER. Thy cheeks are as the pink-white rose, Thy line the red one's blushes. Thy laugh the softest breeze that blows. Thy singing shames the thrush's.

But an! the frost will come full soon, To touch those summer treasures, And wilt thou then have virtue's boon Wilt find worth's garnered pleasures ? - Will F. McSparran Usedition of the Local Crop-New York and Other Markets-Notes and Comments--The Lancaster Market.

There is little to say in regard to the weed. All the new is in the sheds-some farmers having just finished whilst others have been done for two months. It seems a good deal of difference in time, but of "sich" is the lot of the tobacco grower.

There is still some growling over damage in the sheds and part of the last week

From the meeting of the directors of the Lancaster county hail insurance company we see their losses were some $12,000: from this some idea of the serious damage done the crop by bail this last season can be had. As this was the first year for that company, their risks were comparatively light. The York company had a very much greater number of risks in this county, and the Southern Mutual had quite a goodly share. Strange as it may appear the percentage of those insured at all in this county is not large. Why it is we do not know, but there is considerable prejudice against hail insurance, and in some parts of the county no insurance was held and the farmers lose all. There was considerable old tobacco sold during the last week in small lots, One county packer sold 200 cases of '80, and if packers would break their packings much more would have been sold

About five years ago B. G. Berr bought from H. B. Swarr, esq., the old "Barclay Farm" in Colerain township. Mr. II. has been farming and living on it since, and has been one of the most extensive growers of tobacco in that section. This last week he sold the property to Mr. Kauffman, of Manor, the price paid we have not heard it being private, but Mr. Herr assures us he made $2,000 by sale. The farm contains about 140 acres.

"They never tell a lie?" " Never! never!" "Don't weep, Sammy. Did you ever hear them blow?" We caught him in time, as he was about to fall against a telegraph pole in a

How many of those alleged 1,500 case were sold is an unsolved question. About 700 are accounted for. The price is another mystery. Some say it is 8 cents; some say it is twenty ; some say it is dirt; some say that it is worse, while some declare it to be fine tobacco. So much for this sale, which created quite a stir in the market and filled the breasts of anxious holders of '81 Pennsylvania with courage and new hope. New York state, Wisconsin, Havano seed and Housatonic of the '81 crop aga... found ready buyers. The sales amounted to over 1,500 cases. The buyers spoke in the most jubilant terms of their purchases. Gradually these crops are leaving the market, and in a few weeks little will be found in first hands. Then the trade will have to fall back upon '81 Pennsylvania. The poorest will sell first. There is no risk in buying it. The finest, too, will sell; it will sell quickly if holders come down in figures; it will sell in drops and driblets, equivalent to an unprofitable business, if they persist in asking high prices.

Old tobacco moved slowly this week buyers preferring to invest in such new stocks as seemed to be scarce in the market.

The sales of the week were as fellows Crop 'S1.

The Tobacco Journal publishes a detailed statement, taken from the custom house records, showing the quantity of leaf tobacco and cigars imported during the fiscal year ending June 1882. The leaf tobacco is put down at 11,889,823 pounds, and the cigars 802,872 pounds.

It may surprise many to learn that cigars are received in this country from such places as China, Germany, Nova Scotia, Quebec, British Columbia, East Indies, Mexico, Netherlands, Peru, San Indies, Mexico, Netherlands, Peru, San Domingo, Turkey, United States of Colombeg, Venezuela. Belgium, France, England, Scotland, Azore, Maderia and Cape Verde islands, Brazil, Japan, Norway and Sweden, and even from the icy mountains of Greenland, Iceland and the Farce Islands, Yet the custom house books them this to be the case. show this to be the case

Briar Root Pipes A writer in a Dublin journal thus elucidates the origin of the term "briar root" as applied to the pipes now so popular, under the above designation: "Ata large wooden pipe manufactory, in the course of inspection with a friend, we were shown under construction the identical so called briar root pipe of commerce, and I naturally named it as such to my companion, looking at the same time at our guide for a confirmation of the statement. 'Yah, yah,' said he, but he added in German, 'It is not bri-root, but biroot (Beirout), from which place this description of pipe originally came.' My friend and I immediately looked at each other with a significant smile, the light having broken in on the turer, who showed us the wood+I forget what he called it-of which they were made, and laughed very heartily when we told him the notoriety which the root of the brier has throughout Great Britain.' Philadelphia Market.

Seed Leaf-The past week proved only regular, fair weekly business done Dealers, as well as manufacturers, appear to hold back; at least, it seems to be impossible for buyer and holder to establish a price satisfactorily; goods to all purposes cost packer too much for the use of manufacturers. Nevertheless, for the stock sold—which was not small—a fair, remunerative price was obtained. Pennsylvania and Wisconsin wrappers have the irst call so far for 1881 tobacco.

My friends o whom I have sent the cigars pronounced them superior to Havannas. I predict that in the future the trade between the United States and European states and Mexico will grow into large proportions and tobacco of your country will prove an important part of that trade.

. S. Tobacco Journal. The tobacco and eigar industry is b bacco and cigars.

Now or never is the cry. Year after after year the repeal of this ouerous taxaation has been asked for. The agitation of the question, which has always upset trade, has usually ended with promises for the future. The majority of large manufacturer's don't want any reduction ; they want, if anything, a total abolition of the tax on cigars and tobacco.

All manufacturers want to see the in famous bond regulation buried forever. They want to give more licenses and de sire to free themselves from the police their actually boundless philanthropy and like surveillance that for twenty years kindness, furnished us with the informa- has been exercised over them and their ndustry

The internal revenue officials have of late carried out the law and their instructions in a liberal and efficient way. The trade finds no fault with them. In case of the abolition of the tax men like Kimball, Blake, Sparks and Boyd should be transferred to offices where their tried and proved efficiency could be employed for the benefit of the public.

The Republican party has totally ur-heeded the demands of the industry. At the last session of Congress it contracted the enmity of most every person employed
