Event Along the Susquehanna—Items of Interest in and Around the Borough Picked Up by the Intelli-

J. W. Sourber has gone to Williamsport. May Lawrence, of Reading, is the guest of friends on Third street.

The Thursday evening musicale will meet this evening at Mr. F. A. Bennett's, Walnut street.

The new Wrightsville Presbyterian church is going up rapidly. It will be the handsomest church in that place when finished.

Last night the gasoline lamp at the corner of Bethel street and Ridge avenue, exploded, but not much damage resulted from it.

While wheeling a barrow on Locust street, this morning, Harry Simpson, 14 years of age, fell and struck his face against it, receiving a severe cut below the eye.

Mr. William B. Martin, a P. R. R. brakeman, and a resident of this place, is reported to have been thrown from his train about one o'clock last night, at Eagle station, and to have sustained serious injuries. No other particulars could be learned.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold their supper and package auction on Friday and Saturday of the present week from 5 to 11 p. m., in the paragon, on Locust street, between Third and Fourth streets. The public are cordially invited to attend.

Back to His old Home. August Grummel, who went to a point 300 miles west of St. Louis, about ten days ago, returned to his old home near Columbia on Monday night last.

He had received word, at $1.50 per day out West, but not liking the country, returned to a job paying 80 cents per day. So much for love of locality.

Struck With a Stone. Mr. Jacob Metzger received a severe wound on the head, yesterday, by being struck by a stone, which fell from the boys were returning home, and on the Marietta turnpike began throwing stones at the telegraph wires.

One of them struck Mr. Metzger as he was standing in a field near by. The boys were greatly frightened at the noise, and did not linger long in that neighborhood.

An Opera Singer's Illness. On account of the serious illness of a leading actor of the Holman English opera company, the opera of "Olivette" was substituted for the "Chimes of Normandy" much to the disappointment of the audience present.

None, however, availed themselves of the opportunity of recovering their money if they did not wish to see "Olivette." The actor referred to is now lying at the Franklin house seriously ill.

Mr. A. M. Reese's dining rooms were the scene of the festivities of the Galatians last night, and nine of the ten members were present.

The two tables were beautifully arranged and decorated. The officers elected for the following year are: Captain D. B. Cass, president; Mr. H. L. Lichy, vice president; Mr. J. L. Luchy, secretary; Mr. B. Frank Herr, treasurer.

A membership committee and an executive committee were appointed. The membership of the organization is to be fifteen, and the message hereafter are to be annual. The banquet will be held shortly after midnight, and those who were present express themselves as being delighted with Mr. Reese's management of affairs in relation to the supper.

Court of Common Pleas. BEFORE JUDGE PATTERSON. In the case of G. M. Kline and Samuel H. Reynolds, vs. Samuel Kurtz, trustee of Barbara Kurtz and Barbara Kurtz, it was found necessary to amend the caption by adding the name of the husband of Barbara Kurtz, as one of the defendants.

The case was continued, and a grant was made to bring the new defendant. No other cases being ready for trial except the one before Judge Patterson all the other jurors were discharged by Judge Livingston.

BEFORE JUDGE PATTERSON. Louisa Solvert, (nee Mentzer divorced) and her husband and Mary Jane Mentzer for the use of the former vs. Samuel Stauffer. This is an action to recover damages for the loss of the services of Mary Jane Mentzer, daughter of Louisa Solvert.

It was alleged that the defendant had had criminal connection with the plaintiff and she gave birth to a child in September, 1879. The girl brought suit against Stauffer in 1881, before Alderman Barr, for fornication and bastardy. On account of the statute of limitation the case was dismissed.

The plaintiff claims the right to bring this suit under the 1856 law by which the mother is substituted for the father when the latter refuses to or is incapable of supporting his child. The testimony showed that the parties had been criminally intimate. Since the birth of the child the plaintiff has contributed to the support of her daughter and child.

Previous to this affair, the mother had had the frequent visits of the girl's services. The defense was that the mother had not received the benefit of the daughter's services at the time of her acquaintance with Stauffer, but she received her own wages; that the husband of the plaintiff received a divorce from her, and she was also alleged that the girl had other suitors besides the defendant about the time it is alleged the child was begotten. It was further offered to be shown that the plaintiff did not set a proper example to her daughter as required by the act. This was overruled.

In rebuttal the girl was called. She denied having had any other lovers but Stauffer. On trial.

A FRIGHTFUL RUNAWAY. Last evening while a car of the Millersville street car line was riding at the Pennsylvania depot, the driver attempted to change the horses from one end of the car to the other previous to starting down street. The animals were quite spirited and just as the driver was about hooking them to the end, where he wanted them, they took flight and started to run. He was unable to hold them and they had no trouble in getting away. With the heavy tongue between them on which were two heavy single trees and double trees, they dashed down North Queen street at a furious rate. As they passed over the Belgian block they left a trail of fire from their shoes. At Orange one wanted to turn, but the other was too strong, and they continued to Centre Square where both fell very heavily at the northwest corner of the monument. They were soon on their feet, however, but were caught before they got away. Upon examination it was found that both had been terribly cut about the legs, body and head. They were covered with scars and bled freely, but no bones were broken. One of them received a bad cut above the right eye which, it was feared, might affect his sight. The horses were badly damaged.

The accident occurred just about six o'clock, at an hour when the streets were crowded. Every one seemed to be getting possession of the street. Several times they got on pavements but did no damage. Luckily no one was injured in the least.

Another Circus in this County. The Circus Royal, which is managed by John O'Brien, is to-day billing Marietta for its appearance there. On the advance car are George Myers and George Carr, of this city, who have been with the show all season. The car will pass through here on its way to Downingtown this evening.

OBITUARY. Death of George W. Trimble. George W. Trimble, a gentleman well known in this city, and indeed throughout Pennsylvania and adjoining states, died yesterday afternoon at 9 o'clock at Taylor's hotel, Schuon Lake, N. Y., whither he had gone in hopes of having his impaired health restored.

Mr. Trimble's home was in Stark county Ohio, a few miles from Massillon, where he owned an extensive distillery, which had been conducted for many years, before his time, by his father and grandfather, all of whom had long held a high reputation for the distillation of pure whiskeys.

Mr. Trimble was some two or three years ago married Miss Anna M. Smith, a young lady of high social position, and took her to his home in the West. Last November during a deer hunt in the mountains of Pennsylvania, Mr. Trimble contracted a severe cold from exposure to inclement weather, and was prostrated from the effects of it.

Early last spring he went to Philadelphia for treatment, and failing to receive any material benefit he went to the Adirondacks last July, and took rooms at Taylor's hotel, at Schuon Lake. But he failed to rally, and died as above stated—his death being caused by a complication of disease, of which the inflammation of the heart and hemorrhage of the lungs were the most serious. He was about 40 years of age and possessed many many qualities that won for him hosts of friends.

He was a devoted and successful farmer and an orphan daughter. His remains will be taken for interment to Philadelphia.

From New York to Washington. Considerable curiosity was aroused last evening by the arrival at the Stevens house of a stylish English drag, containing two persons and driven by a liveried coachman. Inquiry developed the fact that the occupants were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. McCandless, of New York city, who are on their way to Washington, and will drive the entire distance. They came to this city by way of Allentown and Reading.

To the Bi-Centennial. A special train will leave this city as second section of fast line on Tuesday morning for Philadelphia. The train will like the 10th Nov, who will participate in the parade, and as many others who desire to reach the city at an early hour.

The fare for the round trip to Philadelphia over both roads will be $2.06.

Arm Body Cut. This morning Andrew Meisell, jr., who is engaged by Lobkowitz & Co., turning shops, met with a serious accident. He was at work at the spoke lathe when the knives on the cutter head struck a piece of iron and were broken off. One of them hit Mr. Meisell on the arm cutting a terrible gash. He was taken to his home where Dr. Welchman attended him.

Zach Root. Zach. Root, who, while attempting to escape arrest, was shot by Officer Mercer, continues to improve. This morning he was taken to visit him in the county jail—presumably to induce Mercer to make complaint of felonious assault and battery against him.

A United States Juror. Robert Montgomery, esq., of Eden, is a juror in the best of the State courts in Philadelphia. Two weeks ago, when that court met, all the jurymen drawn were discharged but twelve, who were chosen to try a case, and Mr. M. was one of them. The case comes up to-day.

Death of Professor Aust. Prof. Emil Aust, the musician and piano-tuner, well known in this city, died in New York a few days ago. He was a man of some ability in his profession, but his unsteady habits, together with his domestic tribulations, proved an insurmountable bar to his success.

James Kelly for insulting ladies on the street, was committed for thirty days.

Mr. Barrett's previous performances here have awakened favorable comment and the performance to-night is said to be among the strongest of his repertoire. Mr. Barrett is supported by a strong company, including Louis James and Marie Wainwright.

Special Notices. By contracting a severe Cough and Cold, I was compelled to give up my daily work and keep to the house. A neighbor recommended me to try a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and it procured and used to my astonishment relief was instantaneous.

E. W. CLAYTON, Waverly, Md.

A Verse from the Bible. I take this opportunity to bear testimony to the efficacy of your "Hop Bitters." Expecting to find them nauseous and bitter and not to find them so, I have a great contract for their sale. I have a great contract for their sale. I have a great contract for their sale.

The entire front and side walls of the building, a three story brick structure, were blown out and the front of the house No. 4744 next door was partly demolished. A Mrs. Hoff was seriously burned.
