A COSTLY MARRIAGE.

Yesterday afternoon eighteen young men were arraigned before Alderman Sanson to answer complaints of malicious threats against their betrothed.

The circumstances of the case as developed by the testimony, are briefly as follows: The prosecutor was recently married and the defendants, all of whom are young men, determined to give the happy couple a serene time.

The bridegroom was at the premises, a short distance from Dillerville, on Saturday evening, and made night so hideous that the father of the groom was awakened from his peaceful slumbers and was not quite sure but that the day of judgment had come.

By this time the bridegroom, who had been soundly sleeping the sleep of the just married, woke up, slipped on his trousers and rushed to the front, threatening to annihilate the disturbers of his nuptial dreams.

One of the serenaders was induced enough to hit a snuff box behind the ear which very naturally aroused his anger, and he made dire threats against the whole gang, four or five of whom he recognized. The serenaders retired, and so did the groom.

Next morning he engaged counsel and proceeded to prosecute for assault and battery, and for malicious trespass, and Peter Connelly, John Goodman, John Binkley, Claude Bullock, Herman Binkley, Ed. McEvoy, Frank Reah, John McEvoy, Samuel Hamer, William McEvoy, Jacob Myers, Abram Kaufman, John Kaufman, John Kiehl, Andrew E. Miller and George Ackerman. It appearing from the evidence that George Ackerman was not present, the complaint against him was dismissed.

The fine and costs in each case amount to something like ten dollars—say $180 in the aggregate. We understand that the young men intend to appeal from the judgment of the alderman, their defence being that they were not trespassers, having been authorized to visit the premises by the bride-groom.
