RESCUED FROM DEATH. The following statement of William J. Cough we beg to ask for it the attention of our read ers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and med icines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a triend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I laughed at my friends, thinking my case incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years. "I writethis hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough in almost entirely disappeared and I shall ..... be able to go to work. old by H, B. Cochan, 187 North Queen street

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE

OPENING OF THE BI-CENTENNIAL.

Philadelphia in Gala Dress-A Magnificent Demonstration and a Great Crowd -The Landing of Penn.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—No more fitting weather could be wished for than that which prevailed here to-day. The air was clear and crisp and the sun shone brightly. The immense crowds and pro fuso decorations were astonishing. Indeed at no time, not even during the Centennial year, was any event so thoroughly and heartily celebrated by the public. One vast crowd filled the streets, the boats on the river, the front windows and roofs of houses, and other places where a view could be had. Shortly after eight o'clock tug boats, barges and other vessels formed in line on the Dela parade. On passing the five men of war in midstream, the procession was saluted by the squadron, and again when passing the naval station at League crafts turned and steamed along the river front to Kensington. On returning to Innumerable bells were rung and whistles blown and guns fired, both on water and ashore, while the multitude checred lustily. The party was received on the wharf by men dressed to represent Swedes, Dutch, Indians and others. Fifteen thousand people were jammed in Dock street to witness the entrance of Penn into the 'Blue Anchor inn' and although police roped off a space the crowd broke the cordon at every point, and tremendous

Poetry and Fact.

In Keat's beautiful poem, "Lamia," a young man has been led captive by a phine in girl and is made the slave of her beauty and it an old teacher comes in and fixes his eye upon the figure, and it vanishes in its true form of a slimy serpent. This is poetry; now for fact. Disease in various forms series upon young men and old, and especially does it affect the kidneys and liver, and begin institiously to work ruin and death. But Hunt't Remedy, as the old teacher, comes in, and the slimy serpent of disease glidea away. At first, men think that a diseased liver or disorderest kidneys is a mere phantom, and go on their way neglecting the evil, and not realizing their danger. But this is not something to be trified with. Call in Hunt's Remedy at once; it will both reveal the demon and cust it out. For kidney, liver and urinary complaints there is nothing like it.
