SDAY EVENING NOV. 8, 1882 UTIES OF POLYGARY.

Mormon Wife Generally Treats A political convention, in which a por-tion of the delegates are females, would be a very odd affair to our Eastern friends, but here in Utah it is considered the proper thing on the part of the dominant daurch party. In the convention of the Mormon party, which has held sessions at various times last week, there were two female delegates to represent in part one precipet. Both come under the clause in the Edmunds bill and are debarred of their results to work here were described to this, as well as to dandruff, tetter and other scaly diseases producing baldany right to vote because of their polygamous relations. One is a very aged woman, and she told, in a speech she made to the convention last Thursday night, that she had been with her brethren driven in the early days of Mormonism from place to place, until she came to Utah with the pioneers, where she has since resided and labored in the interest of the church. We are told that she has been a leader among the women of Utah in advocacy and perpetuation of polygamy, and that she has practised it by having her husband enter the "celestial" beastliness.
While she upholds her husband in this crime, and tramps the county over advocrime, and tramps the county over advo-cating the doctrine of the chief tenet of the Mormon church, she has shown a bru-tal disposition toward the victims of her husband's lust in the way we would not look for in so carnest an advocate of polygamy. We are told by reliable authority that upon a recent occasion when one of the young wives of the husband of this apost's of polygamy give birth to a child, she was left in a helpless condition, with one to wait upon her, and show that tender cars and provide such comforts as she are and provide such comforts as she are consisted account that a come (Centile). required, except that some Gentile neighbors went and kindly did for the woman what was denied her by those who had persuaded her into this unholy marriage relation. This modern exponent of Mormon polygamy and political manipulator is Mormon conventions would not go near that young wife or her husband, and more than that, issued orders to her own daughters that they must not do anything for that make her comfortable in her hour of sickness. We speak of this incident as another evidence, that in every case of polygamous marriage there is a peep seated jealousy among the women, which they in their natures cannot subdue. This jealousy often prompts them to convince young girls to become victims in polygamy that the "green eyed mons'er" may become appeased. This spirit becomes procuresses in the interest of the institution so long fostered in the Mormon church, and perses them to bear up under

"First-Class Time-Keepers."

MESSES, ZIMMERMAN, MCNAUGHT & Co., Wholesale Agents, Toronto, Canada, says: "Your Watch gives entire satisfaction to the trade here. Our experience of it is good, and we can cheerfully recommend it to jewelers as being a first-class time-piece in every particular. We could send you a hundred testimenials from our customers if they were desired."

Mr. B. Richardson, Aurora, Ontario. writes:
"The Lancaster Watch has given the utmost satisfaction to my customers, who all agree in pronouncing it a splendid time-keeper and first-class in every particular. I have examined and tested them thoroughly, and, in my opinion, as a practical watchmaker, they are unequiled in their time-keeping qualities. They give more value for the money than any other American Watch I have ever handled."

HOME RECORD.

About January 1st, 1862, I purchased a "Melrose" Watch, No. 21,214, manufactured by the Lancaster Watch Company, and ran it until the 10th day of July with a variation of only sight seconds in that time, compared with the time from Washington, having frequently compared the time between the dates above named. This would be at the rate of fifteen seconds variation to the year.

J. B. LAWEENCE.

I hereby certify that I have carried a "Mel-rose" Watch, No. 21,933, manufactured by the Lancaster Watch Company, for more than one year, and that it has never varied thirty seconds from time sent from the National Observatory at Washington.
