THE LATEST NEWS.

THE FIRST OF THE WEEK'S BUDGET.

The Crimes, Conflagrations and Disasters That Occurred in a Day--A Glance at Current Events.

The house of L. Harmon, near Ripley, Iowa, was blown down by a tornado. Mrs. Harmon had a leg broken, and her children severely bruised.

A Lehigh Valley railroad train collided with a gravel train at Coxtown, and P. Costello, the engineer, received fatal injuries.

A fishing boat, supposed to belong to Elliott Hunter, of Southampton, Ontario, capsized off Bain du Dore Point, and all on board are believed to be lost.

During 8 o'clock mass in the Church of St. Lawrence, in New York, part of the ceiling over the east gallery fell with a loud crash, causing a panic among the large congregation present. Three women fainted, but no one was seriously injured.

A log cabin occupied by a colored family on the farm of Mrs. Marshall, in Lunenburg county, Virginia, was burned a few nights since, and all the occupants perished. It is believed the cabin was set on fire.

A fire in Frankfort, Kentucky, destroyed Lee & Mangum's livery stable, the Major opera house, with part of the city records, and the postoffice. Buhl's new hotel and a dwelling, causing a total loss of $68,000. The fire was started in the stable by a colored man smoking a pipe while putting away hay.

The body of Joseph Kivet, interred in a cemetery, in Colosse, New York, was "resurrected" and robbed of a new suit of clothing, a gift from the firm by which Kivet was employed.

Eight hundred and fifty immigrants arrived in California last week by rail. Letters have been received in San Francisco from sixteen states and two territories and from England, Germany, France and Canada, asking information in regard to the resources of the state.

Josiah B. Smith killed his 11-year-old son by cutting his throat, at Santa Ana, California. Smith and his wife are insane on religious subjects, and they claim that "the Lord commanded the sacrifice."

Neil Ferguson, a canal lock keeper, was fatally stabbed by Donald Uquichart, a collector of customs at St. Peter's, Nova Scotia.

S. McKavin was murdered by unknown assassins in Putnam county, Georgia, a few days ago.

R. B. Allen, colored cook of the U. S. steamer Portsmouth, who killed Belmont the steward, will be tried by the authorities of Rhode Island.

Eleven new cases of yellow fever and one death from the disease were reported at Pensacola, but it is believed that these reports are very imperfect.

Clarence B. Gibson, and employee of the Pittsburgh postoffice, was sentenced to three years imprisonment yesterday for robbing the mails.

Five Upon His Wife. Louis Olsen, with his wife and three children, arrived at New York late Saturday night from Minneapolis, Minnesota, and put up at an up-town hotel. Olsen had been drinking heavily and early this morning quarreled with his wife. He fired two shots at her, one of the balls taking effect in her arm, near the shoulder. The injured woman was taken to Bellevue hospital and it was found necessary to amputate her arm. Her condition is considered dangerous. Olsen was arrested. He said that he shot his wife because she was engaged in a conspiracy with several men to rob him. The children were turned over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

TAKEN FOR A DEAL. A Pennsylvania Hunter Who Was Shot by Mistake and Killed. A party of Greene county hunters, just returned from the forests of Michigan, reported a seal affair which occurred at which instead of their return home. Sam'l Tarbox, a prominent and highly respected citizen of Xenia county, constituted one of the Greene county party, and one evening about dusk, while he was out a short distance from camp, he discovered bear tracks, and upon looking about thought that he discovered the animal in the thicket a short distance in advance of him. Mr. Tarbox raised his rifle and fired and brought down the object to the ground, but on advancing was horrified to find that his rifle-bull had pierced the body of a man instead of the animal, as he had supposed. The man wore a suit of dark clothes and a tight-fitting skull cap and was in a stooping position when Mr. Tarbox shot him. The supposition is that the unfortunate man was after the same bear Mr. Tarbox was tracking, as he was one of a party of Pennsylvania hunters who were occupying a short distance from the camp of the Greene county men. The coroner of the county in which the accident happened was notified and an inquest held. It was ascertained that the man from all criminal intent, but since his return he has been almost crazed with grief and it is thought the shock to his nervous system may affect his reason. The name of the victim of Mr. Tarbox's mistake could not be learned.

He and the Good Little Boy. Chicago Tribune. One day when little Charles, the good boy of whom I have told you, was on his way to school, he passed by a large orchard, in which there were a great many kinds of fruit; and as the sunshine came streaming through the branches of the trees and fell upon the rosy-cheeked apples, the sweet mellow peaches and the red cherries, Charles thought they looked so beautiful indeed, and would go down nicely with the lunch which his kind mother had wrapped up in a white napkin for him, and placed in the little basket he carried in his hand.

Some of the fruit hung very near the fence, and as Charles looked at it thoughtfully he said to himself: "How easily I could climb over there and pluck several of the Apples and Peaches without being discovered, for there is no one in the Orchard now. But that would be wrong, and if I did it I should always be Sorry, and suffer dreadfully from the Pangs of Conscience."

So he stood there a little longer. The little Birds in the Trees were singing their Merriest Lays, the soft and balmy Zephyrs of early summer were kissing the Flowers as they nodded their pretty heads in the grass by the roadside, and all Nature seemed rejoicing in its Strength.

Many times Charles looked up at the fruit, and thought how easy it would be to take it, but everything he did this the Small Voice would say: "That would be wrong Charles," and he would resolve not to make any such Break.

But pretty soon a Bright Thought struck him, and his pure young face lighted up with a Sunny Smile. "I will go to the Owner of the Orchard," he said, "who lives in yonder House," and he told him how he had conquered Temptation. Then he will give me all the Fruit I want, because that is the way Sturdy Farmers always do in the little books I got at Sunday school."

So she went boldly up to the farm house, but just as he entered the Gate a fierce Dog grabbed him by the seat of his Trowsers and wiped the Ground with him for a few moments. The nice Lunch that his mother had put up for him was Distributed all over the Yard, and his new jacket looked as if it had been Out With the Boys. When the Farmer heard the Noise he came running out of the House and called out the Dog.

"What do you want my Little Man?" he said to Charles.

So Charles told him he had been tempted to take the Fruit, but would not do so because it was Wrong. And then he asked the man for some Fruit.

The Farmer looked at him for a Moment, and then said: "I have two more Dogs, both larger than the one you Tamed, and unless you are out of here in Three Jerks of a Lamb's Tail they will be Lurching, and you will be Quite Conspicuous in the bill of fare."

So Charles ran quickly away, not even stopping to get his Basket. A little way down the Road he overtook Thomas Tom, who was eating a Delicious Peach.

"Where did you get the Peach, Thomas?" asked Charles.

"Over in the Orchard" replied Thomas.

"I waited until the Old Crank who owns the place had gone to Breakfast, and then I appropriated myself Receiver of the Orchard."

"You are a very wicked boy," said Charles.

"Yes," replied Thomas "I am a trifle wicked, but I keep Getting to the Front all the time, and my clothes don't seem quite so much Disarranged as yours. You will also notice that my Lunch Basket is with me, and that my piece of Pie for the Noonday Meal is not lying in Farmer Brown's Garden."

When Charles went home that evening he told his Papa what he had done. "You know, Papa, he said, 'that I would sooner be right than President.'"

"Yes," replied his Papa, "but I am not seriously alarmed about you being President, either."

to vigorously push a business, strength to study a profession, strength to regulate a household, strength to do a day's labor without physical pain. All this represents what is wanted, in the often heard expression, "Oh! I wish I had the strength!" If you are broken down, have not energy, or feel as if life was hardly worth living, you can be relieved and restored to robust health and strength by taking Brown's Iron Bitters, which is a true tonic--a medicine universally recommended for all wasting diseases.

501 N. Fremont St., Baltimore. During the war I was injured in the stomach by a piece of a shell, and have suffered from it ever since. About four years ago it brought on paralysis, which kept me in bed six months and the best doctors in the city said I could not live. I suffered fearfully from indigestion, and for over two years could not eat solid food and for a large portion of the time was unable to retain even liquid nourishment. I tried Brown's Iron Bitters and now after taking two bottles I am able to get up and go around and am rapidly improving. G. BREWER.

Brown's Iron Bitters is a complete and sure remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Weakness and all diseases requiring a true, reliable, non-alcoholic tonic. It enriches the blood, gives new life to the muscles and tone to the nerves.

For sale wholesale and retail by H. B. COCHRAN, Druggist, 127 and 129 North Queen Street, Lancaster.
