FARM AND GARDEN.

NOTES FOR HUSBANDHEN.

Hints for Farmers—Household and Carden —Our Beceipt for Curing Meat. Germantown Telegraph. As the season has arrived when curing pour it over your beef or pork. The meat must be well covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with powdered saltpetre, which removes all the surface blood, &c., leaving the meat fresh and clean. Some omit boiling the pickle, and find it to answer well, though the operation of boiling purifies the pickle by throwing off the dirt always to be found in salt and sugar. If this receipt is strictly foland sugar. If this receipt is strictly followed, it will require only a single trial to prove its superiority over the common way or most ways of putting down meat, and will not soon be abandoned for any other. The meat is unsurpassed for sweetness, delicacy and freshness of color.

Look to the Implements. We desire, at this season of the year, to say that it is a lamentable fact that many farmers lose as much from a want of proper care of implements and ma-chinery as from the actual wear-and-tear of them. Repeated wetting and drying injure, sooner or later, any kind of wood work; the moisture getting into the cracks soon begins the work of decay. This may be prevented by the timely and occasional application of some cheap paint. Much has been said and written upon the value of tool-houses, and it is hardly necessary for us to add our mite to the general array; but providing a tool-house is not all that should be done, if the shovels, spades and forks are brought into it with the dirt sticking to them, and in that con-dition are allowed to remain through the winter, or until they are again needed. All practical farmers know how much better a bright plow turns the furrow, how much easier it is on the team and driver, and yet they will bring their plows and harrows in every fall with the dirt thick upon them, and let them be so until again wanted, entailing a great deal of injury. There are various mixtures which might be applied to the iron to prevent rusting the cheapest of which is common (unsalt ed) grease. A better article may be found by melting together six pounds of flesh (not salted) lard and two of rosin. An old iron pot is a good thing to keep and com-pound the mixture in. As soon as a tool is done being used for the season, clean it off and give it a coat of this mixture, and and even if it remains undisturbed for years, it will come out as bright as when put away. Implements properly cared for will not only last nearly twice as long as when this is not the case, but, as we said before, they are far better in every way. Preserving Garden Flowers. time has come when we shall have to part with many garden pets which have narcotics. given us so much pleasure during the growing season. Such partings always bring regret; and in spite of " nowhere to keep them," people will try if something caunot be done at anyrate. It is believed that it is not so much the degree of cold which kills usually hardy plants, as it is the drying influences of a very cold at-mosphere, and hence many find a very little covering sufficient to save plants, if the covering be such as to keep them from drying out.

We know, for instance, that a raspberry or a grape vine, which would probably be destroyed if left above ground in its natural way, can be safely preserved by being buried just beneath the surface; and it is found that roses bent over to the ground and covered with earth, so shaped as to throw off the water, will enable rather tender kinds to get through the winter unscathed. A friend once told us that verbenas were much hardier than people supposed. He put dry leaves over the bed and then covered the leaves with a board, and they did not injure by the hardest frost.

We should suppose, however, that green succellent matter would rot by contine-ment, as well as hard wood get injured by frost; and we would suggest to all who may be disposed to preserve anything in this way the importance of cutting away half ripe wood or succulent green foliage before entombing the plants for winter.

Pampas grasses, the ostrich feather-like spikes of which are so commonly seen in gardens, cause much discussion as to the best means to protect. Some take them up and put them into a tub of carth and keep them in a cool cellar; but those who succeed in keeping them over winter in the open ground have finer plants and larger and more numerous spikes. Some of our neighbors turn a barrel over the stocks to keep out the water, filling in dry leaves all about the plant; and though some times the plants will be lost treated in this way, generally it is a success. The "rocket" plant does well on either of the plans named for the pampas grass.

Dahlias, tuberoses, gladiolus and such like summer flowering roots, there is no trouble with. All they require is to be taken up as soon as the first frost has injured their flowers and spoiled their blossoming for the season, and after drying a little put them in some moderate cool and dry place secure from the frost. The Sugar-Beet. The department of agriculture at Wash ington appears to have ascertained that the prizes of money offered by the department to stimulate the production of the sugar-beet and Chinese sorghum in this country were made without authority from Congress and were therefore illegal. Payments have, therefore, been suspended for the present, and in all probability the matter will be acted upon at the ensuing sossion of Congress and favorably. We do not ourselves entertain any high expectations of valuable results being likely to be reached by stimulants of that sort. Still, we always regard with favor any and all efforts made by the department of agriculture to encourage the production of saccharine crops in the United States As regards the sugar-beet, it is rather a reproach upon the caterprise of Northern agriculture that the Mormon colony in the territory of Utah, under the rigorous despotism of Brigham Young, succeeded in producing its own supply of domestic sugar from the beet 20 years in advance of any successful effort in the same way in any of the Atlantic states. This was done before the opening of the Pacific railroad, and at a time when the Mormon prophet was despotically bent upon making the Mormon community en tirely independent and self sustaining. The example thus set has since been slowly imitated by voluntary enterprise in the states of Delaware, New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois and Maine, with irregular and varying results. Perhaps the case would have been different but for the unfortunate attempt of the department of agriculture to force a sudden development of the sugar production on an immense scale by means of a rapid and widesmead cultivation of the Chinese sort.

To one gallon of water, take 1½ pounds of salt, ½ pound of sugar, ½ ounce of salt-petre, ½ ounce of potash.*

In this ratio the pickle can be incrased to any quality desired. Let these be boiled together until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skimmed off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold pour it over your beef or pork. The meat

BEVERLY, MASS., Oct. 25, 1882.

LANCASTER WATCH COMPANY.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in adding my testimony as to the comparative merits of your Watches. Having had many years experience in the manufacture of Fine Watches—eighteen years with the American Watch Company of Waltham, Massachusetts, on their best grades; with the Nashua Watch Company, the Auburndale Watch Company, and also with the Lancaster Watch Company, for some two years in charge of their Adjusting Department, I have mad ample opportunity to examine and compare the various grades of all the leading Watch Factories in America; and without hesitation, my decision is in favor of the Lancaster Watch as The BEST TIME-KEKPER FOR THE MONEY WITHIN MY

REST TIME-KEEPER FOR THE MONEY WITHIN MY KNOWLEDGE.

The "Lancaster." when adjusted close, has run, while carried in the pocket, to one second a month with standard time, and can be rated to keep as close time as any watch made anywhere in the world.

The winding and setting arrangements at the stem are the best I have seen-simple, strong, and not liable to get out of order. The new stem-wind I like very much. It works so smoothly, and the changing does not throw the minute hand out of place, as in some other American movements. The BEST TIME-KEEPER FOR THE MONEY WITHIN MY not throw the minute hand out of place, as in some other American movements. The patent regulator is the best in use.

Indeed, I regard all your changes as improvements, and teel assured that the Lancaster Watches, as they become known, will be properly appreciated by all good judges.

Yours truly,

CLOTHING. &C.

Our exhibit in the Trades Procession of the Bi-Centennial Celebration on October 25th will illustrate the great stock of men's and boys' clothing now ready in Oak Hall. Our preparations for the trade of this Au tumn and Winter already reach

One Million Dollars.

Our stock is in all respects the best we have ever offered, and we firmly believe has never been equaled in volume by any retail clothing house in America.

Do not fail to visit Oak Hall. Look at the Clothing and Piece Goods, go through the workrooms and see how the vast place goes on. We have a hearty welcome for all, whether buyers or visitors. The tens of thousands of friends we have made in the country about Philadelphia during the last twenty-two years are, we are sure, more firmly our friends than ever before. We have gained their confidence by giving them the best dollar's worth of clothing to be had anywhere, and we offer a new pledge of fidelity in our low prices and elegant Autumn stock of this year's sales.
