NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

pleased to learn that the great artiste Helena Modjeska (Countess Bozenta), will appear here on Saturday evening next, December 2. Modjeska's success this season is something unprecedented, crowded houses greet her, and she creates a perfect furore. Modjeska will appear here to her great character of "Adrienne Lecouvreur," She will be supported by the splendid company of the Globe theatre. Boston. The Philadelphia Ledger says of Modieska as " Adrience :" Last night a large and characteristic audience assembled at the Chestnut street opera house to see "Adrienne Lecouvreur" as it was never before put on the Philadelphia stage. If it were possible to "paint the lity," Modikeska in the title role has even surpassed her former self. In this play, perhaps, her most wonderful personation, the plot affords scope to her pathos, which sentiment is her strongest condition of acting, and one in which Modjeska is unrivalled. It has been made the subject of criticism in another role that the passions were brought torward too early in the play, and left no sufficient climax to the denouement Last night the innocent pride, the rising above the jealousy of her rival, her despair and tragic gleam of delusive happiness, suctheearly scenes Modjeska cannot be excelled, The famous scene of the recitation from "Ariadne," caded forth the full powers of the actress' pride and scorn, and was loudly appreciated by the audience."

Cosnocton Station, N. Y., Dec. 28, 1875. GENTS-A number of people had been using your Bitters here, and with marked effect. In one case, a lady of over seventy years, had been sick for years, and for the past ten years has not been able to be around half the time. About six months ago she got so teeble she was helpless. Her old reased es,or physicians, being of no avail, I sent to Deposit, forty-five miles, and got a bottle of Hop Bitters. It improved her so she was able to dress herself and walk about the house. When she had taken the second bottle she was able to take care of her own room and walk about to her neighbor's, and has improved all the time since. My wife and children also have derived great benefit from their use. W. P. HATHAWAY,

DEAD OR ALIVE? THAT IS THE QUESTION FOR THE JURY

The Mysterious Highspire Murder Case, in Which the Defense Claim That The Victim Still Livee. HARRISEURG, Nov. 22.—The testimony for the commonwealth in the mysterious

Highspire murder case, in which William Andrews is charged with murdering and burning his wife was concluded at twelve o'clock to-day and the defense went to the jury without submitting any exidence. The commonwealth mitting any evidence. The commonwealth proved by expert testimony that the charred matter found in the burned building was of an animal character and that the blood on the defendant's clothes was the blood of either an animal or a human being. It is on this point that the case rosts, and on account of which so much interest is manifested in the trial. The defense in closing endeavored to impress upon the jury that the wife was still alive, that her remains had not been found and that a conviction could not therefore be estab-

INDICATIONS. WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- For the Middle Atlantic states, fair weather, northwesterly winds becoming variable, stationary or higher temperature and pressure. Oh! the Mighty Voice.

Oh! the Mighty Voice.

Homer says of Flyssess, one of the Greek heroes in the great Trejan war: "You had thought him a fool, so stiffly he held his sceptre and so downcast were his eyes: but as soon as he began to speak—oh, the mighty voice, and the words thick as the falling snow."

Looking at a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, one would never suspect its concealed power, greater than the eloquence of Ulysses. But when it begins its work with a patient who is afflicted with any kidney or liver disease. "Oh! the mighty voice," and the wonderful healing effects produced in an incredibly short time. As there was but one "wise Ulysses" in all the camp of the Greeks, there is but one Hunt's Remedy in all the list of Bidney remedies; and there is none that works such marvelous results. Physicians have discovered this, and freely prescribe it to their patients; and multitudes of the cured sound its praises.
