Before the jury was sworn the parties amicably settled the case.

Daniel D. Hess vs. Elias Dohner. These were two actions on promissory notes and the parties settled them themselves. Disturbing the Court.

Abraham Myers, of this city, was a witness in the Parry & Sensenig case yes terday. While another witness was on the stand Myers who was in the audience. disturbed the court by calling to a witness to tell an attorney in answer to a question that it was none of his business. He was taken before the court by Tipstaff Hollinger and the court fined him $5.

THE TRANSIT OF VENUS.

Observations in all Parts of the World. The astronomers of all civilized nations, who for months had been preparing to observe the transit of Venus, yesterday. reaped the fruits of their labors. The phenomenon occurred within a minute or two of the calculated time and although all over the United States the 'atmospheric condition was far from generally favorable, interfering in the great number of cases with an observation of one or more of the contacts, the results, on the whole, were highly valuable. They were such at any rate as to leave accurate data on almost every point that can be of interest to the astronomers of the twenty-first century, when Venus again will cross the Observations of the transit were taken vesterday in our city by Wm. L. Gill, S. M. Sener and Prof. Theo. Appel. The correct time of contact at egress is given by them to be as follows: Internal contact at egress 2h., 44m. 45s.; external contact at egress, 2h. 55m. 57s.; time occupied in egress, 11m. 12s.; at 2h. 50m. 21s, the centre of the planet was directly over the edge of the sun. At time of egress the observers did not notice any indication of the black drop so often spoken of in connection with former transits. It is to be regretted that the cloudy condition of the sky prevented taking time of ingress. Observations Eisewhere. Telegrams from many American cities give generally favorable accounts of the observations, though owing to a partially cloudy sky in some places, all the contacts were not noticed. A dispatch from New Haven states that the transit was carefully watched at the Yale observatory. The most elaborate preparations had been made by Prof. Leonard Waldo and his assistant, Prof. J. E. Kershner, professor of astronomy in Franklin and Marshall college of Lancaster. There were five observers on duty at the heliometer, and the operations of the complicated instrument were carefully noted. The photographs were taken with the new equatorial, which has a photographic lens of about ten feet focus. Over 150 plates, showing the whole sun, with Venus on its disk, were secured. These photographs are about one quarter the size of the government photographs. They have a reference line photographed on each plate, formed by a horizontal surface of mercury. With the beliometer a very satisfactory and complete series of measures was obtained. It includes a determination of the angles at which Venus entered and left the sun, the diameter of Venus while in the sun and measures of the position of Venus during the transit, about two hundred and forty measurements in all. The heliometer times of contact were approximately 9 hrs. 7 min. 54 sec. ; 9 hrs. 29 min. 9 sec. ; 2 brs. 51 min. 22 sec.; 3 brs. 12 min.

OBITUARY. Death of a Promising Young Ean. Conrad S. Miley, aged a little more than twenty years, and son of Jacob Miley, of the firm of Norbeck & Miley, carriage builders, died at half-past one this morning of typhoid fever, after an illness of one week. Deceased was a young man of fine promise, and his untimely taking-off will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances, among whom he was universally popular, on account of his good habits, manly disposition, his genial and lively temperament and uniform courtesy to those around him. Mr. Miley was a musician of ability, being a member of the City band in which he played the cornet, and also the leader of an orchestra which frequently was engaged to play at social parties. He was quite a skillful artist, and specimens of his admir. able crayon work have frequently been on exhibition in the store windows about town. By trade he was a woodworker, being employed in the coach works in which his father was partner. His greatest interest was in music, and up to the eve of his fatal sickness he displayed his fondness for it by lending his services wherever they were needed. On Wednesday evening of last week he played in the orchestra at the Liederkranz sociable; the following day (Thanksgiving) he was taken with the illness that has just resulted in his death. Had he been alive and well to day he was to have played in a duet with his sister at a concert this evening at the First Reformed church, of which his parents are members. The deceased was a

A COLD SNAP.

Reautiful Appearance of the Heavens. Yesterday the mercury was away up on the fiftys; at daybreak this morning it had fallen to 38, and in an hour after-wards is dropped to 26. It stood at this rent. The jury ren- were lines of indigo, lilac, blue, purple and other shades from pure white to deep black. From the san, which was creeping around toward the southwest, there were fan-like radiations of various colors prettily blended and extending to the zenith. The wind, which was high, rapidly carried this grand panorama to by two o'clock the show was over.

A THU MILLION MORTGAGE.

Delaware River & Lancaster Railroad To day there was left in the office of the county recorder, to be recorded, a first mortgage of the Delaware River & Laneaster railroad, to Augustus T. Post and Hugh M. North, trustees, in the sum of $2,000,000. The mortgage which occupies about a dozen pages of parchment, was engrossed by Sam. Matt. Friday, our handsome prothonotary, in his well known style of penmanship. It is an admirable executed piece of work—equal to the finest engraving, and is creditable to the skill of the pennan and of the good taste of the company that commissioned him to do the Scroll Work and Carving.

A number of very handsome articles in scroll work, sawed and carved by John S. Rohrer, are now on exhibition in the window of A. C. Kepler, North Queen street. Among them is a writing desk, lady's toilet, several clock cases, card cases, coller and handkerchief boxes, &c., &c. They are exquisitely designed, carved or inlaid in various colored woods, and executed with a master hand. Mr. Rohrer is an amateur workman, never having learned the trade he takes so much delight in. He spends 1 o'clock his leisure hours in making these pretty ornaments, not for the purpose of making money, but for his own amusement and as souvenirs to his children.

Election of Officers. Last evening the following officers of Camp 19, Sons of Veterans, were elected Captain-W. W. Franklin. First Lieutenant-J Frank Zeigler.

Died at the Hospital. There were two deaths at the county hospital to day. Henry Decker aged 77 years, and who had been an inmate for considerable length of time died at the upper hospital at 11 o'clock this morning. We did not learn where he hails from. John Bishop, who belongs to Elizabeth town, but who also has been for some time an inmate, died in the lower hespital at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Oxford Accidents. George Ferrill was badly crushed in the body while coupling cars on the Baltimore Central railroad at Oxford. A number of bones were broken, and his recovery is doubtful. Elmer Vonnerman had one of his feet terribly mangled by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting. Amputation was necessary, and he is in a critical condition.

Too Melancholy to Live. George Berger, a basketmaker, residing at Freystown, a suburb of York, committed suicide by hanging in a stable in the rear of his dwelling. He was about forty years of age and a married man with no children. He has been in ill health and melancholy, and to this is assigned the cause of the act.
