John Lutz, a lad of tou years, fell on the river, yesterday, and while lying on and Chestnut streets. It was very largely the ice was accidently struck on the head by one of the skaters, receiving a severe the house and grave by Rev. Dr. Knight.

The question has been asked this morning : To whom belonged the runaway team which ran up Locust street last night about 11 o'clock? It has not yet been answered. Where it came from, or where it went to are conundrums.

Mr. Ephraim Kline, residing near Columbia, had 30 chickens stolen from his hen roost, a few nights ago. He was in town yesterday trying to discover a clue to the thieves, but failed to obtain one.

About 25 ladies and gentlemen assembied at the residence of Mr. A. J. Kauffman, last evening, for the purpose of or-ganizing another pusicale. All prescut were enthusiastic over the matter, and a

The older ladies and gentlemen some time be-kingwalt, Musser and Foreman, and the tween Christmas and New Year. From present indications Columbia will be gay r than usual this winter.

Fun and Danger on the ice.

While skating near the Wrightsville shore yesterday afternoon, Mr. John Clark a P. R. R. telegraph operator stationel here, and Miss Clara Booth broke through the ice. Prompt assistance was rendered them by witnesses of the accident. Where the accident occurred the ice had been broken, and had not yet time to freeze thick again.

Mr. Henry Kauffett, a resident of York county, who is 75 years of age, was the object of much curiosity yesterday, on the river. The old gentleman had on a pair of skates, and used them as well, and was as active as any of the younger skaters. He skated to this place to buy some goods, and carried them back with him.

The narrow gauge shifting engine of the Shawnee furnaces called "Shawnee " Nc. 3, was tried yesterday with a view of ascertaining its powers ; 140 pounds of steam was the highest pressure, which it was thought safe to subject the boiler to. The pop safety valve was set to blow off steam at 115 pounds. The engine is a perfect beauty and of the best workmanship.

A Very Serious Fall. James Finney, a carpenter employed at one of the houses which are being built on North Third street, was thrown from the packing houses are closed, and the men and boys are without work and have no money to spend. There is doubtless some force in this reasoning, and there is still another reason given for the comparatively dull season. The farmers are feeding more cattle this year than ever before; many of them were bought with borrowed money, which they expected to pay with the proceeds of their tobacco crop, as they cannot pay it with their grain and hay, all of which they are feeding to the cattle. Of course they will have their reward in due time vigorator. No other. Of druggists. and have plenty of money to spend-but not to day-some other day.
