CHRISTMAS EVE.

ANNIE AND WILLIE'S PRAYER.

It Old, still One of the Best of Christmas Stories.

"Twas the eve before Christmas; 'Gode-light,' had been said, And Annie and Willie crept into bed; There were tears on their pillows; and tears in their eyes, And each little bosom was heavy with sigh, For to-night their stern father's command had been given That they must retire precisely at seven Instead of eight; for they troubled him more With questions unheard of than ever before. He told them he thought this delusion a sin, No such thing as 'Santa Claus' ever had been, And he hoped, after this, he should never more hear How he scrambled down chimneys with presents each year. And this is the reason why two little heads So restlessly tossed on their soft, downy beds. Eight, nine, and the clock on the steeple tolled ten, Not a word had been spoken by either till then; When Willie's sad face from the blanket did peep, And whispered, 'Dear Annie, is you fast asleep?' 'Why, no, brother Willie,' a sweet voice replied, 'I've tried in vain, but can't shut my eyes; For somehow it makes me so sorry because dear papa had said there is no 'Santa Claus'! Now we know there is and it can't be denied. For he came every year before mamma died; But then I've been thinking that she used to pray; And God would hear everything mamma would say, And perhaps she asked him to send Santa Claus here With the sacks full of presents he brought every year.' 'Well, why can't we pray just as mamma did then, And ask to send him with presents a-ton?' 'I've been thinking so, too,' and without a word more Four little bare feet bounded out on the floor And four little knees the soft carpet pressed, And two tiny hands were clasped close to each breast. 'Now, Willie, you know we must firmly believe That the presents we ask for we're sure to receive, You must wait just as still till I say amen, And by that you'll know that your turn has come then. Dear Jesus, look down on my brother and me And grant us the favor we're asking of Thee; I want a nice book full of pictures, a ring, A writing desk, too, that sits with a spring; Bless papa, dear Jesus, and cause him to see That Santa Claus loved us as much even as he; Don't let him get fretful and angry again At dear brother Willie and Annie, Amen.' 'Please, Jesus, let Santa Claus come down to-night, And bring us some presents before it is light; I want he should give me a bright little box, Full of acrobats, some other nice blocks, And a bag full of tandy a book and a toy, Amen, and then, Jesus, I'll be a good boy.' Their prayers being ended, they raised up their heads, And with hearts light and cheerful again sought their beds; They were soon fast in slumber--both peacefully and deep. And with fairies in dreamland were roaming in sleep. Eight, nine, and the little French clock had struck ten Ere the father had thought of his children again; He seems now to hear Annie's half-smothered sigh, And to see the big tears standing in Willie's blue eyes. 'I was harsh with my darlings,' he mentally said, 'And should not have sent them so early to bed, But then I was troubled--my feelings found vent, For bank stock to-day has gone down ten per cent. But of course they've forgot their troubles ere this, But then I denied them the three asked for gifts; But just to make sure I'll steal to their door For I never spoke harshly to my darlings before.' So saying he softly ascended the stairs, And arriving at the door heard both of their prayers, And Annie's 'bless papa' draws forth the big tears, And Willie's grave promise falls sweet on his ears. 'Strange, strange, I've forgotten,' said he, 'By answering their prayers, ere I sleep in my bed.' Then he turned to the stairs and softly went down, Threw on velvet slippers and silk dressing-gown, Donned hat, coat, and boots, and was out in the street-- A millionaire facing the cold winter sleet; He went first to a wonderful 'Santa Claus' store; (Heck no! for he'd passed it the day before) And there he found crowds on the same errand as he, Making purchases of presents, with glad heart and free, Nor stopped he until he had bought everything From a box full of candy to a tiny gold ring. Indeed, he kept adding so much to his store That the various presents outnumbered a score. Then homeward he turned with his holiday load, And with Aunt Mary's aid in the nursery 'twas stowed. Miss Dolly was seated beneath a pine tree, By the side of a table spread out for tea; And writing desk then in the centre was laid, And on it a ring for which Annie had prayed; Four acrobats painted in yellow and red stood in a block on a beautiful sled; There were balls, dogs and horses, books, pleasing to all, And birds of all colors were perched in the tree; While Santa Claus, laughing, stood up in the fog As if getting ready for more presents to drop; And as the fond father the picture surveyed He thought for his trouble he had amply been paid; And he said to himself as he brushed off a tear, 'I'm happier to-night than I have been for a year. I've enjoyed more true pleasure than ever before. What care I if bank stock falls ten per cent. more! Hereafter I'll make it a rule, I believe, To have Santa Claus visit us each Christmas eve.'

And the busy word spoken so soon to repeat? 'Twas the Being who bade you steal softly up stairs, And made you His agent to answer their prayers.

'One must be poor to know the luxury of giving.' That may be so, but we think anybody can enjoy the luxury of giving his fellow-sufferer a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup to cure his cough.

'No eye like the master's eye.' Had Esop lived in our day he might well have added, 'No popular curative like Kidney-Wort.' All eyes are beginning to turn to it for relief from diseases of the liver, bowels and kidneys. Kidney Wort is nature's remedy for them all. Those that cannot prepare the drug can now procure it in liquid form of any druggist.

'Don't wear dingy or faded things when the new Diamond Dye will make them good as new.' They are perfect.

It will immediately free the hair from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. DRY GOODS.

Wanamaker's.

Silk novelties innumerable and indescribable. Everything that ladies or dressmakers have occasion for in matching, decorating, combining. What we are remarkable for, more than for anything else in silks, is variety; or, at least, we are reputed so. You hear it said by everybody: "If you want to match anything, or find a rare silk, even an unexpected one, go to Wanamaker's."

The other peculiarity that everybody expects to find here is less pleasant to speak of; lower prices. We put it second, because there are people who don't credit us with lower prices. Still, we imagine that if one should assert the contrary, almost everybody in Philadelphia would believe it.

Often we speak of other aspects of our trade; aspects less obvious or less recognized. It is well occasionally to give old news.

Warm skirts for ladies, and leggings for ladies, girls and little girls. The warm skirts are satin, satin-and-cloth, satin-and-felt, satin-and-Italian-cloth, and Italian, all quilted; cloth, flannel and felt prettily trimmed, not quilted, warm enough without. The leggings are all sorts; one very useful and fairly pretty sort, woven, at two-thirds value, 25 to 65 cents.

Furs have to be thought of. We're busy enough as to making. If we advertise at all, we ought to say what will not oppress us with too much making. Perhaps this is. A great many seal coats and fur-lined circulars are ready-made. More sizes are ready-made here than anybody expects; especially the unexpected sizes. Ready-made work we can make in July. Why shouldn't we make all the shapes and sizes ready-made? 1303 Chestnut.

Black satin rhademaes and satin de Lyons, 25 to 35 cents below our own recent prices, of all grades from $1 to $2; and we guess our prices haven't been very high; have they?

Next-door circle, south entrance to main building.

Wool serge embroidered with silk dots that ought to sell for $1.50--no that isn't the way to put it; it ought to sell according to our theory, for just as little as we can afford; and that is 75 cents.

Look out for such now. It's time for over-buying and all sorts of mistakes to show themselves. We try to keep ready to turn other folk's mistakes to account for ourselves and for you.

Next-door circle, south entrance to main building.
