THE VANDERBILTS. How They Live and Manage to Spend Their Money
New York Letter in Charleston News and

William H. Vanderbilt, the richest man in the world, may be seen driving his mare. Maud S., which rumor says he is sporting by injudicious handling, almost any tine afternoon on Fifth avenue. Look for a large, heavy man, with dark eyes, swarthy skin and black side-whiskers, an metently carnest but not over intelligent face. If the weather is cold, the owner of ant dd millions will be wrapped up in a close-titting coat of sealskin, and have for. The superb horse or horses that he happens to be driving do not seem to be going very fast as they dance along, but it be noticed that he goes faster than other people, and the groups of sightseers who stop for a moment to gaze at the well-known figure, wrapped up in his sealskins, as he flits by, get but a brief glimpse of him. Perhaps Jay Gould, looking out of his library in the second story of his big house at Forty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, wonders that a man with such magnificent opportunities for making more money does not devote his days and his nights to it instead of trifling away his time driving fast horses. Jay Gould never drives fast horses or indulges in any kind of sport except money making. From 2:30 to 4:20 every afternoon Vanderbilt drives his horses. Then his horses go to their stallof malogany, trimmed with silver, and Vanderbilt goes to his palace. He always passes his evenings at home, not having been to the theatre or opera this year since Wallack's was opened last January.

When the Baron James de Rothchild died in 1868 near Paris, his wealth was estimated at 700,000,000 francs, and he was accounted the richest man in the world at . that time. At the present the distinction of being the richest man in the world cer tamiv belongs to William H. Vanderbilt. With the $70,000,000 which his father left him he has made twice that sam and, moreover, put his railroad property into such shape that it produces an income of at least 8 per cent. At 4 resent he has an meome of $10,000,000 a year, or $20 a second. Thirty years ago be did not know where to turn for $5,000. Vander Entr has eight children and eleven grandchildren. His four daughters are marmed to New Yorkers, and two have been presented with small palaces costing $600, (10) a piece, while he is building house for the other two at the corner of Fifth avenue and Fitty-fourth street, adjoining St. Thomas' church. The ground for the two baildings cost $400,000 last spring. and I suppose the houses will cost double

His two eldest sons, Cornelius Vander bilt, jr., who is destined to occupy towards his father the same relation that William II. held to the commodore, and William is. Vanderbilt, the second son, are already millionaires in their own right, and are new finishing palaces which even eclipse the new house which Vanderbilt moved into last year. Cornelius Vanderbilt is the tinancier among the sons while William K. is the a-sthetic member of the family, having employed Richard M. Hunt to build his white stone chateau, at the corner of Fifty-second street and Fifth avenue, and and having paid $283,000 for the carving alone on the inside of his house. Some of the tapestries for his house are now on exhibition at the Metropolitan museum, while the painters and decorators are giving the last touches. The house has been three years in building and has occupied the whole time of two architects working under Hunt, and six draughtsmen. The design for one of the mantels alone required three month's work by two men.

[From Andrew's American Queen.] CLEOPATRA,

Queen of Sheba's Beauty

WAS BUT SKIN DEEP. The renowned Queen of Shaba, with all her oyal pomp, magnificers ap; reland brillian retinue, would never have appeared within the presence of the grandest of the monarch of the past, had she not also possessed that which is the crowning glory of the temale per son-a skin unchailenged for its Oriental sof ness and its almost transcendental purity Cleopatra, holding emperors at bay, and ruling impires by her word, had quickly lost her charm and power by one attack of blotches, or

of pimples, or of horris tan and freckles. WOMAN RULES THE WORLD, by her beauty, not less than by her purity of character, loveliness of disposition and unselfish devotion. Indeed, in the estimation of perhaps too many men beauty in a body take precedence over every other consideration Seauty thus forms an important part of wo man's " working capital," without which too many (if not bankrupts in what relates to induence within the circle where they move) are powerless for great good. Hence we see not only the propriety but the duty of every lady preserving with zealous care that which to her is essential to success, and influence and usefulness in life. And since "beauty is but skin deep," the utmost care and vigilance tre required to guard it against the many ills that flesh is heir to. Among the great an anloying enemies of beauty,

OF EITHER SEX, is well as of comfort, happiness and health, tre those pestiferous and horrid skin disease -tetters, humors, eczema (salt rheum), rough and scaly eruptions, ulcers, pimples, and all diseases of the hair and scalp. For the cure of di these, Dr. C. W. Benson, of Baltimore, atter cars of patient study and investigation de of all to diseases of the skin, at last brought rth his celebrated SKIN CURE, which has al ady by its marvelous cures, established itwill as the great remedy for all diseases of the kin, whatever be their names or character its success has been immense and unpara! ded. All druggists have it. It is elegantly put up, two bottles in one package. Internal nd external treatment. Price, $1.0.
