

Lancaster Intelligencer.

FRIDAY EVENING, JAN. 26, 1883.

An Uncalled-for Bill.

A bill is under discussion in the lower House of the state Legislature, which requires employers to make compensation to their employees for personal injuries suffered by workmen in their service. That such a proposition should be seriously discussed in a law making body is not complimentary to its good sense.

The Canadians take their fun like a good many people do champagne—on ice. Our boys, for another tumble. The frolicsome boys will soon be putting in a claim for their injuries.

The resolution providing for the printing of 5,000 copies of the governor's inaugural into the wrong way yesterday, and Mr. Pattison's active opponents were not slow in getting all the fun they could out of a clerk's mistake.

The man who is drinking Schuykill alone in Philadelphia shows signs of weakening. Like the man who proved his capacity to eat crow and then quit, so Spener on his fourth quart of tadpoles shows very plainly that he can't haake after the disgusting diet.

Of Oscar Wilde's future plans the London World says: "He goes back to America in the fall, then to Australia, and ultimately to heaven." An esteemed contemporary rises to inquire if the apostle of the ineffable could not be induced to reverse the order of his trip.

THREE more Philadelphia election officers have gone to join Mount. The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they turn out a pretty good crop yesterday in the conviction of the rascals who made a fraudulent return of the vote cast at the municipal election of 1881.

THE pretenders must go. Who says the French republic has no backbone? The legislative committee of the Chamber of Deputies has adopted a resolution excluding from French territory all members of families having reigned in France, depriving them of political rights as citizens, declaring them ineligible to any office, and preventing them from belonging to the army.

EXPERTS IN LUNACY.

SOME QUESTIONS CONCERNING LUNATIC ASYLUMS. Discussed by the Association for the Protection of the Insane.

The national association for the protection of the insane and the prevention of insanity met at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the hall of the college of physicians, Thirteenth and Locust streets, Philadelphia. Dr. Joseph Parrish, of New Jersey, was called to the chair. Dr. Samuel D. Gross delivered an address of welcome, on which he dwelt on the enormous number of the most damnable crimes committed in the manner of treatment whether with or without medicine or restraint.

Dr. Gross offered a resolution setting forth that as a large proportion of female cases of insanity are due to sexual diseases, the association recommend that a thoroughly trained gynecologist be added to the medical staff of every hospital. An amendment by Dr. Elliott, giving the preference to female physicians, was warmly discussed, Bishop Simpson, Francis Wells and others speaking in favor of it, while a lady physician and others warmly opposed it.

Dr. Charles K. Mills, of Philadelphia, discussed nervous diseases in general, lamenting the great lack of proper facilities for instruction in the majority of medical colleges and advising the establishment of separate wards in college hospitals and the employment of specialists in the treatment of mental diseases. At present, he said, comparatively few are qualified to certify to cases of insanity for admission to the hospitals.

Dr. Parrish, in a paper on how to protect the insane, stated that the majority of the insane in the United States are of the sane, and that the ratio of insanity to population, and that whereas formerly the percentage of cases ranged from 40 to 60, in late years it has fallen to from 15 to 20 per cent. of the cases treated. The fault, he ascribes to the want of treatment in the insane asylums, where patients are closely confined to the same scenes and surroundings.

The secretary, Miss A. A. Chevallier, of Boston, read the annual report, in which a committee is suggested to ask Congress to institute a national lunatic asylum. In the evening the Rev. R. Heber Newton, of New York, read a paper on the obligations of the sane toward the insane, in which he made a strong and vigorous denunciation of the present possibility for wrongful restraint on the part of the keepers of the insane.

Dr. H. Marion Simms, of New York, then read a paper giving several instances from his own practice of the insanity of the sane. Dr. Greely, who, he said, suffered from acute meningitis and the resulting delirium was mistaken for insanity. He was fully informed by Dr. Atlee, who took occasion to vigorously combat the idea thrown out by Mr. Newton that monstrous abuses existed in the public asylums and that, not one sane person had ever been confined in the Pennsylvania hospital.

He was followed by Mr. Wells, who said that this association was upon trial and it was not to be a mere society for the purpose of doing good, but to be wise and to discourage those stories of wise and foolish quackeries that exist only in the imagination of the uninformed. Clark Bell, a New York lawyer, read a long paper on the legal rights of the insane that touched on every side of this aspect of the case.

Dr. H. M. Stanley, the other evening telling a distinguished company in London an incident in his discovery of Livingstone. Coming to the climax of what was really a most pathetic incident, he repeated the words of an old African woman encountered in the story, to the effect, "It is the white man's fault."

"NOT GUILTY."

HOW THE VERDICT WAS REVEALED.

The closing incidents of Wednesday's oil market gave assurance that Thursday would be a day of activity and excitement in oil circles. Early in the morning the people began to flock into the lobby of the Pittsburgh exchange, and by the time of the opening at 10 o'clock the exchange was filled, men being present who have given the market the cold shoulder since the November break.

Business had been very heavy, the sales on the first call being estimated at 3,000,000 barrels. During the recess some one in the lobby got a telegram stating that the Patterson was not dry, but flowing heavily and this created a scare, and there was a great deal of carb-stone business, in which oil sold down to $1.

It could not be maintained, however, and gradually dropped until the close, the last sale being $1.04. The day's sales aggregated 5,900,000 barrels. If the favorable reports from the Patterson well continue the sales will be double that amount.

THE RING. A hard-glove fight took place in New York between Professor Charles Hadley and McVeagh's unknown, of Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening. Four rattling rounds were fought, the first and second being continual slugging with no attempt at science.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR. Marriage of Senator Bayard's Daughter. The wedding of Miss Mabel Bayard, eldest daughter of Senator Bayard, of Delaware, and Mr. Samuel Warren, jr., of Boston, took place at the Church of the Ascension, in Washington, Thursday afternoon, the presence of a distinguished company of invited guests.

HILSEN'S FATAL PLUNGE. An explicit letter and the Seneca's Haggagoo come to light. A registered letter from Thomas Hilsen, of Philadelphia, who flung himself over Niagara Falls last Monday, was received by his friend, Edwin Selvage, of New York, on Wednesday. It throws further light on the motives which induced the eccentric wood broker to take the cold plunge.

WOULD'NT PRINT THE MESSAGE. How the Resolution to Print Patterson's Inaugural Got Into the Senate. An amusing incident occurred at Harrisburg in which the House, the Senate or the clerks of the House were the victims.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE RING.

Glove Fights of Four Rounds.

A hard-glove fight took place in New York between Professor Charles Hadley and McVeagh's unknown, of Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening. Four rattling rounds were fought, the first and second being continual slugging with no attempt at science.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR. Marriage of Senator Bayard's Daughter. The wedding of Miss Mabel Bayard, eldest daughter of Senator Bayard, of Delaware, and Mr. Samuel Warren, jr., of Boston, took place at the Church of the Ascension, in Washington, Thursday afternoon, the presence of a distinguished company of invited guests.

HILSEN'S FATAL PLUNGE. An explicit letter and the Seneca's Haggagoo come to light. A registered letter from Thomas Hilsen, of Philadelphia, who flung himself over Niagara Falls last Monday, was received by his friend, Edwin Selvage, of New York, on Wednesday.

WOULD'NT PRINT THE MESSAGE. How the Resolution to Print Patterson's Inaugural Got Into the Senate. An amusing incident occurred at Harrisburg in which the House, the Senate or the clerks of the House were the victims.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

OIL PASSES THE DOLLAR LINE.

Excitement on the Pittsburgh Exchange.

The closing incidents of Wednesday's oil market gave assurance that Thursday would be a day of activity and excitement in oil circles. Early in the morning the people began to flock into the lobby of the Pittsburgh exchange, and by the time of the opening at 10 o'clock the exchange was filled, men being present who have given the market the cold shoulder since the November break.

Business had been very heavy, the sales on the first call being estimated at 3,000,000 barrels. During the recess some one in the lobby got a telegram stating that the Patterson was not dry, but flowing heavily and this created a scare, and there was a great deal of carb-stone business, in which oil sold down to $1.

It could not be maintained, however, and gradually dropped until the close, the last sale being $1.04. The day's sales aggregated 5,900,000 barrels. If the favorable reports from the Patterson well continue the sales will be double that amount.

THE RING. A hard-glove fight took place in New York between Professor Charles Hadley and McVeagh's unknown, of Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening. Four rattling rounds were fought, the first and second being continual slugging with no attempt at science.

AT HYMEN'S ALTAR. Marriage of Senator Bayard's Daughter. The wedding of Miss Mabel Bayard, eldest daughter of Senator Bayard, of Delaware, and Mr. Samuel Warren, jr., of Boston, took place at the Church of the Ascension, in Washington, Thursday afternoon, the presence of a distinguished company of invited guests.

HILSEN'S FATAL PLUNGE. An explicit letter and the Seneca's Haggagoo come to light. A registered letter from Thomas Hilsen, of Philadelphia, who flung himself over Niagara Falls last Monday, was received by his friend, Edwin Selvage, of New York, on Wednesday.

WOULD'NT PRINT THE MESSAGE. How the Resolution to Print Patterson's Inaugural Got Into the Senate. An amusing incident occurred at Harrisburg in which the House, the Senate or the clerks of the House were the victims.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

THE CAPTAIN WHO SUNK THE CIMBRIA. The irritation against the captain of the steamer Sultau is rapidly abating. Two Germans who were on board the Sultau at the time of the disaster, have been examined before a magistrate, and they fully confirm the statement of the captain of that steamer.

OBITUARY.

Death of William Wiggins.

Intelligence has reached his friends and relatives, of whom there are a large circle in Lancaster and Harford county Md., of the death, at a late hour, of William Wiggins, of Perry county, of William Wiggins. About a year ago he experienced a slight stroke of paralysis and had some apprehensions of a recurrence of it. He had, however, enjoyed good health until last Friday evening, and that that time was supervening the erection of a new stable, when feeling at attack of faintness he called for his cane and assistance.

William Wiggins was born in Harford county, Md., in 1818; the maiden name of his mother was a lady who resided near Claybank, Perry county, of William Wiggins. About a year ago he experienced a slight stroke of paralysis and had some apprehensions of a recurrence of it. He had, however, enjoyed good health until last Friday evening, and that that time was supervening the erection of a new stable, when feeling at attack of faintness he called for his cane and assistance.

He was a man of great natural intelligence and force of character, and of no mean acquirements, being an omnivorous reader and having a dispassionate judgment and an even temperament. He delighted in reminiscences of his old home and associations and maintained frequent correspondence with his eastern friends, and in having great quantities of simple city and old book and manuscript, and was fond of the English classics, and though leading a plain and simple life was a shrewd observer of the cause of passing events and quick to discern the signs of the times. His manner was kind and appreciative, and a visit to him, even six years ago was the source of equal satisfaction to him and his friends in these parts. He leaves a widow and family of children who revere his memory and inherit many of his good qualities.

PAT ROONEY. First Appearance Here of His Company. Pat Rooney had reason to feel proud of his reception here last night, for notwithstanding the large number of shows here he had a very large audience. He deserved it all, for he had an excellent company of artists, and no better entertainment has been given in this city for a long time.

Stolen Clothing Recovered—Juvenile Thieves Arrested. For some time past it has been known in police circles that quite a number of pieces of stolen clothing were being sold to the children attending the public schools had been committed, the thieves entering the vestibules or cloak rooms of the school houses and stealing the pupils' overcoats and hats, and the girls' dresses.

Robbing the Schools. For some time past it has been known in police circles that quite a number of pieces of stolen clothing were being sold to the children attending the public schools had been committed, the thieves entering the vestibules or cloak rooms of the school houses and stealing the pupils' overcoats and hats, and the girls' dresses.

Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Events across the County Line.

A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News.

Events across the County Line.

A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.

Neighbors' News. Events across the County Line. A fatal disease is raging among horses in some parts of Montgomery county. Reading has twelve candidates for mayor of that city.