WIDOW'S SHOCKING SUICIDE.

sed to Have Been Caused Throug Anxiety and Affliction-Other Casualties and Events.

Miss Emma Sidney, the widow of Jas. C. Sidney, formerly a well-known architect of Philadelphia, committed snicide early Friday morning at 1707 North Twenty-second street, by cutting her throat with a razor. The unfortunate woman is supposed to have been driven to self-destruction by domestic trouble and while temporarily deranged. She had been with her daughter Emma, stopping temporarily with Mrs. S. H. Marion, a triend, in whose house the terrible deed was committed. Mrs. Sidney had fall about two weeks severe ago, and was found lying at the foot of the stairs in a partially insensible condition. For a week afterward she complained of her head, and at times her mind appeared to be not altogether well as being short and stoutly built, and balanced. She spoke to several friends of trouble with one of her sons, and exhibited great mental distress when talking on the subject. A few days ago, Mrs. Sidney discovered a razor belonging to ther. She asked whether it was always or remark at the time. On Thursday night Mrs. Sidney retired rather later morning Mrs. Marion's son had occasion to see the dead body of Mrs. Sidney lying in fatal. a pool of blood near the sofa. Her throat was cut almost from ear to ear The jugular vein had not been severed, and death had evidently been caused by loss of blood. The dead woman was very scantily clothed and had evidently removed some of her night clothing after securing the 12201, then seated herself near the sefa and drawn the keen bladed weapon acress her throat. When discovered she had been dead several hours. Information was at once given to the police, and the coroner was notified. An it quest was held Fr day morning. Mrs. Sidney's tragic death is probably band was prominent among architects and surveyors half a dozen years ago, and enjoyed the reputation of having designed buildings. When quite a boy he distinguished himself by drawing and designing the ground plan for a purt of the Laurel Hill cemetery. In later years he devoted the greater part of his time to building, and eight years ago his income was esti mated to be in the neighborhood of $20 -000 per annum. He planned the site of Sea Grove, now known as Cape May Point, and did similar work in Florida and other parts of the South. He designed the peculiar architecture of Hamilton Dission's residence, of Broad and Master streets About two years ago Mr. Sidney went on a roof to inspect some work and was seized with vertigo. He fell to the ground and died a few hours later. This, taken with the tact that his financial affairs were not in as prosperous a condition as supposed, in september, 1881, sold her house, North Seventeenth street, and children, went to live with her son, at Rath- | ware way, N. J. She returned to Philadelphia after a time, and paid a visit to Mrs. Marion about three months ago. It is presumed that her husband's sudden death and the auxiety consequent upon her domestic troubles affected her mind Dutch and led to her untimely end. Mrs. Sidney's daughter was in Germantown when her mother's dead body was discovered, and knew nothing of what had happene i until advised by messages. She returned to Mrs. Marion's house almost frantic with grief, and is now suffering from extreme nervous prostration.

An Important Arrest in Dubliu—O'Brien and Harrington Go to Jail. A man named Smith, an employee of the board of works, was arrested Friday at Dublin, in connection with the conspiracy to murder government officials. This ar-rest is regarded as important. It is stated that Smith, who worked in the castle yard kept the vigilance committee posted when they were batching the plot to blow up a part of the castle with dynamite. A divingbell and heavier drudges than heretofore employed are to be used in the rings end basin in the search for the knives of the assassins now undergoing examination. THE MURDER AT ECKLEY. A Man Who Professes to Know the Fact Important developments in the Eckley murder case have just come to light at Wilkesbarre. A young man named Murphy surrendered himself on Wednesday to Mayor Detwiler, of Uniontown, and information received since makes it more than possible that he has important information. It will be remembered that about three months ago, while a party of Hungarians were having a social time at a mighbor's house in Eckley, they were moiested by a party of drunken Irishmen, who, just for the fun of the thing, shot one of the Hungarians and mortally wounded one of the women. Murphy told Mayor Detwiler that his conscience worried him; that he imagined everybody was about to lay hands on him the thought it heat to surrounder. It is stomach, lassitude and a general feeling of goneness: but a capital joke to find that Burdock Blood Bitters remove all these symptoms and only costs $1. For sale by II. B.
