

Events Along the Susquehanna—Items of Interest in and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelligence Reporter.

The E. E. Lutheran festival will be continued to-night in the armory, as a large quantity of articles are yet to be disposed of. A mixed quartet, composed of Messrs. W. U. Barr and Michael Shanley and the Misses Hattie Vache and Alice Welsh, rendered several fine selections at the festival on Saturday night.

Passed His Junior Examination. Mr. L. W. Schroeder, of this place, has just passed his junior year examination at the Philadelphia college of pharmacy. Of a class of 250 members 225 were examined. Only 114 of this number passed the examination, and of the 10 who stood highest in the class and received honorable mention Mr. Schroeder was one.

Assigned Partially. The Columbia people want to know why preferment is given to persons not residents of town, in the matter of position at the stove works? This is a question to be answered by the board of directors. They probably may tell why Columbians are not employed.

Personal Mention. Mr. G. M. Foster has gone to Philadelphia. Mr. David Wallace, of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of this place, is now in town on a visit.

Mrs. M. Baebenheim is entertaining her sister, Miss Amelia Loeb, of Lancaster. Mr. Martin Irvin, residing on Walnut street, sold his household effects at public sale on Saturday and this afternoon.

Church Matters. The Right Rev. Mr. A. De Wolfe Howe bishop of Central Pennsylvania, preached to a large audience at St. Paul's P. E. church, last evening. The religious officiated at the church in Marietta, in the morning. Evening prayer will be held in St. Paul's, to-morrow evening at 4:30 P. M.

"Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," was the subject of the illustrated lecture at the E. E. Lutheran church last evening.

The usual large congregations were present in the Methodist church yesterday. Fourteen probationists were connected with the church during both services of the day. The great revival meetings will be continued during the remainder of the present week. Next Sunday will be missionary Sunday at the church.

The Young May Die. Arthur C. Brugh, aged 9 years, died at the residence of his father, Mr. P. S. Brugh, last night at 10:14 o'clock, of scarlet fever. The funeral services will be held to-morrow at 9 P. M. at the residence of the Rev. G. W. Ely, Locust street. The Rev. G. W. Ely, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach the funeral sermon.

Various Points. No military drill in the armory to night, on account of it being occupied. A large crowd of Hungarians went through the city.

The waters of the river are on a standstill. A slim audience attended the "World" on Saturday evening. There was but little promenading yesterday. The bad walking no doubt prevented it.

The frosts have damaged many pavements in all parts of town. The heirs of James Schroder, deceased, have disposed of the piece of ground at the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets, to Mr. Frederick Bucher, at private sale.

LADIES' FAIR. The Articles Chanced Off and Voted For. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the fair in progress at Temperance hall was thronged from early in the evening till midnight, and the Lancaster city band was in attendance. The business at the tables was very prosperous, and many of the articles to be voted for and changed off were awarded to the successful competitors. They were: The wax cross, Miss Katie Shoenberger received 1824 votes; Master Charles, Plagg, 1344; the ladies gold watch, Jacob C. Neff, 455; cigarette, Mrs. J. H. H. 214; telegraph instrument, Chas. Sheek, 962; Charles Nauman 90, Michael Sheridan, 747; K. of P. badge, Jonas A. Goodman, 317; Sir Knights uniform, And. H. Hammond, 372; a canary bird and cage was secured by Mr. Kauffman; alarm clock by Harry Harris; toilet bottles and cushions by John A. Kantz; a worked bobinet apron by Mr. Bowman, and a cushion by John A. Brimmer. The voting on the remaining articles, the organ, sewing machine and necktie and bracelets, was also spirited, and considerable interest manifested as to the results. The chances on the top buggy are being rapidly disposed of, as are also those on the beautiful and life like wax doll.

It was the intention of the committee to have closed the fair on Saturday evening, but the amount of work on hand rendered it impossible. The fair will consequently remain open this evening, but all solicitations for votes are at an end. The orchestra which proved such a card at the opening will appear again to night.

"Davy Crockett." Frank Mayo presented Murdock's play of "Davy Crockett" in Fulton opera house Saturday evening to a good-sized audience. Mr. Mayo has been so long before the public in the title role of the play and has made his impersonation of the rough, but honest and manly backwoodsman so familiar to theatre goers, that nothing in his line of acting has since been acknowledged from his first essay of the part. His support was mainly good, Miss Charlotte Behrens, as Eleanor Vaughn, giving a fine rendition of her part, while the whole play ran along smoothly and satisfactorily, as attested by the frequent applause given by the audience. The scenery was pretty, and the scene in which the wolves make their attack was thrilling.

An Old Paper. Jacob Erisman, tiff-staff in the court house, has in his possession a copy of the New York Morning Post, which was printed in 1773. It is a very interesting old document and contains the farewell orders of General Washington to the armies of the United States.

Assault and battery. Wm. Honer was arrested for assault and battery on his wife, and was held by Alderman McConomy for a hearing.

A cell-mate named Innes, incarcerated on the charge of forgery, discovering the escape, refused to take advantage of his chance for liberty and gave the alarm. Chipley was seen on the roof, nor is he likely to be, as he had several hours' start of his pursuers.

A tramp was arrested and brought before Squire Kegerise, of Richland, Lebanon county, on the charge of breaking into a school house near Richland. He was committed to jail, and was put in the stocks to be taken to Lebanon. When the train was running at the rate of thirty miles an hour the vagrant raised the window leading to the platform of the car, got through it, out on the platform, and while attempting to leap into the darkness for liberty was seized by the conductor and taken to a despatcher's office.

A desperate struggle ensued between the brakeman and the tramp. The latter, however, fell from the platform with great force, and as the brakeman supposed, he would be instantly killed, he pulled the rope, stopped the train, and the cars backed to the spot where the man lay. The body of the tramp, the man had not been killed in spite of his reckless leap. He fled for liberty and has not been recaptured.

THE FUGITIVES. Fox Trying to Make Arrangements for the Dispatch. A dispatch from Baltimore to the Pittsburgh Dispatch gives an interview with Richard K. Fox, the baker of Slade against Sullivan in the proposed prize ring championship, in which he says: "I informed Sullivan that I had no intention of entering the ring, and in Washington until Monday evening, and in Lancaster and Pottsville, Pa., Thursday and Friday next, and expect to hear from him before the expiration of that time." As the Maca Slade combination will be in this city, it is not altogether unlikely that Sullivan will pay attention to Fox's wishes, that the latter may receive word at Lancaster. The impression in sporting circles here is that the fight will certainly take place.

A Colerain Surprise. In anticipation of the removal of Mr. J. B. Caughy, of Colerain township to Chester county, near Colemanville, his numerous friends gathered at his house on Washington's birthday to the number of one hundred and fifty, to express their regret at his coming departure. An ample collation was spread, and all present sat down to the sumptuous feast. The day was within a few days of their wedding, and it was celebrated as such, and the family were the recipients of many presents from the guests.

She will also discuss the importance of attention to health for its influence upon the working power of the brain, and will after the lecture give character readings and phenological examinations of persons from the audience. The lecture is free and an interesting evening is assured.
