The Gin Slinger Arrested for Arson. The grand jury in the Newhall house saster, at Milwaukee, yesterday found a true bill against Scheller, former lessee of the bar room, charging him with arson. The indictment has three counts. The first charges him " with wilfully, maliciously and feloniously setting fire to and burning the Newhall house at night, causing the death of Thomas B. Elliott, David G. Power, Robert Howie, Kate Conners, Lizzie Anglin, and Libbie Chellis." The repeats the first and add that the building "was owned by the Newhall house stock company, a corporation created and existing by and under the laws of Wisconsin." The third count is a repetition of the second, with the addition that "the building was leased to and occupied by John T. Antisdel." Scheller was taken into court in the after noon, and pleaded not guilty to the indictment. His bail was fixed at $10,000. The grand jury was still in session last evening considering the responsibility of the owners and managers of the hotel.

A new cook had just commenced work and the first batch of biscuits he mixed with a can of strychnine, used to poison wolves, by mistake for baking powder. The deadly biscuits were eaten by every man in camp and 70 out of 80 died in horrible agony, no physician being near and nobody being familiar with antidotes at hand. The story seems improbable, but is given for what it is worth. Capt. Fitzgerald says the news comes from reliable sources and he believes it is true. The camp is 20 miles from telegraphic communication in the
