The Rainbow fire company of Reading has sent an invitation to the Columbia fire company of this place to attend their 110th anniversary ball, which will be held in Mænnerchor ball, March 19. The Ringgold band is to furnish promenade music at the ball, which is to be a very large one. A number of the "Columbias" will no doubt attend to represent their company. Some person has kidnapped a pair of boxing gloves belonging to this company, and now the boys are on the lookout for that individual. Boxing exercises are of nightly occurrence at the engine house, or rather were before the gloves were taken.

The meeting of the Vigilant fire company last evening was fairly attended by the members. The usual routine business was transacted. More Houses Needed.

More houses are needed, if the improvement to the town is still to continue. Rent is already very high, and as the demand for dwellings increases, so do the prices asked for the houses. A very considerable number of houses could be built and tenants quickly obtained. A number are to be built in the spring, but what are people to do meanwhile?

The tobacco raisers of this section have been visited by a comparatively small number of buyers this winter, and the prices offered have not been such as to induce many to sell their last year crop. Those who did sell were principally small producers, men who needed the money urgently. A large sale of farming implements and stock was held yesterday at Michael Seachrist's farm near Silver springs. Four mules brought $970.

The trustees of the Washington fire engine and hose company, No. 4 called upon the fire committee while in session and offered to sell them the steam engine, engine house, and lot of ground on which it stands for $5,500. Wiggins vs. the Ground Hog. Wiggins, the weather prophet, would like to have people think that the boisterous wintry weather we are having is the beginning of the storm he predicted for the middle of March; but Wiggins would never have ventured such a prediction had he not known that the ground hog saw his shadow on Candlemas day, Feb. 2d, and that, in consequence, there would be severe weather for six weeks, with a grand blow out at the end of that time. Amusements. The " Amish Girl" Saturday .- This plays written by a resident of Reading, is to be presented in Fulton opera house Saturday evening. It deals with the peculiar manners of the religious sect known as the Amish, and this one fact should give it credit for originality, It is said to be a well constructed piece, abounding in fine situations and full of interest. Concerning its production in Reading, the News of that city says : " The lightning bolt in the third scene was realistic and evoked rounds of deserved applause; the fire scene in the fourth act was vociferously applauded, and the curtain rose again in response to the plaudits in both scenes. Mr. Stephen was recalled at the close of the second, third and fourth acts." The Minstrels To night .- Last evening Barlow, Wilson, & Co.'s minstrels appeared in Harrisburg to a tremen lous house. The receipts were $600, and people had to be turned away for want of stan ling room. The troupe

Its Passage. Special Dispatch to the INTELLIGENCER

HARRISBURG, March 7.-In the Senate this morning the time from twelve to one o'clock was taken up with undoing what was done during the previous hour. The Senate went into committee of the whole the Everhart anti-free pass bill, Laird got in his amendment providing that it should not impair the validity of contracts. Cooper fixed it so that passes are permitted for benevolent purposes and for soldiers going to encampment or war, and George Handy Smith had it improved some more by providing that officers and attorneys of railroad companies are not included in the privileged list of employers. The radical supporters of the bill opposed all these amendments. On the question of adopting the report of the committee of the whole, Stewart, Lee, Hall, Adams and Wallace made a strong 87½ C. fight in opposition, claiming that the amendments were added with the purpose of killing the bill. Cooper and Davies replied. The report was defeated by a tie vote, 21 to 21, and the bill remains exactly as it was two days ago. Senator Stehman who voted for the report of the committee moved to refer the bill to the railroad con mittee and the Senate adjourned with his motion pending before taking up the pass

The following bills were passed finally: The bill to provide for the distribution of unclaimed human bodies for medical pur poses; to prevent waste by the production of petroleum from lands in controversy in an action in ejectment.
