OBITUARY.

Death of Edward D. Mullenberg. Edward Duchman Mullenberg, son of the late Dr. Frederick A. Mullenberg, died this morning at 10 o'clock, of Bright's disease of the kidneys, at his residence on South Queen street. He was born in Lancaster on the 18th of May, 1832, and spent his boyhood days in this city. After receiving a good English education in our local schools he was sent to Yale college and graduated in the class of 1850. He adopted the profession of a civil engineer, and from the time of his graduation until 1857, he was engaged in that capacity on various railroads and canals in this state. In September, 1857, in company with a party of railroad men he went to Brazil, to assist on the line of the Dom Pedro Segunda railroad running from Rio Janeiro, nearly due west, on which there was some very heavy grading. He remained in Brazil until 1861, when news of the rebellion in the United States having reached him, he resolved to come home and take a hand in the conflict. On reaching Philadelphia, in September 1861, he was elected lieutenant colonel of a Pennsylvania volunteer regiment then forming. Soon afterwards he was ordered from the war department a commission as 1st lieutenant in the 4th U. S. artillery, Co. F, known as Best's battery. At the battle of Chancellorsville, Col. Crosby, the commander of the battery, was killed and for quite a time thereafter the command devolved upon Mullenberg, and he won high praise for his bravery and soldierly qualities during the campaign that followed. During the campaign terminating with the battle of Gettysburg, he was attached to the 12th corps and was for a time chief of artillery of the right wing of the army. After Gettysburg he went west with Hooker and did good service at Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge and other points in Tennessee and Alabama. He remained with his battery until December, 1864, when he was appointed adjutant and regimental quartermaster. He left the army in May, 1866, and resumed his profession of civil engineer, being employed on the Kansas Pacific, the Reading & Wilmington, the Texas Pacific and other works until about 1873, when his health became impaired and he returned to this city, where he had been engaged, being for the most of the time out of business. Mr. Mullenberg was a man of fine intellect, well educated, and of gentle, courteous manners, which made him a favorite in a large circle of acquaintances. He held a high rank as civil engineer, and as a soldier he was brave and dashing. He had a wonderful retentive memory, was possessed of a vast fund of practical information, was an excellent story teller, was eminently social, had hosts of friends and no enemies. His funeral will take place on Tuesday next at 10 o'clock.

DEATH OF MRS. CHRISTIAN SMITH.

Mrs. Christian Smith, the oldest woman in West Willow, died last night, aged 83 years. She was an excellent old woman, known to everybody in the vicinity of her home and was a consistent member of the Methodist church.

THE FLOODS.

The Mississippi Still Declining, but the Situation Precarious. HELENA, Ark., March 10.—The river has declined half an inch and will probably continue to fall slowly for several days with a more rapid decline is expected. The levees are still being strengthened and will be made thoroughly secure in this vicinity. The backwater is still rising in the overflowed districts below. This will continue until the decline in the river is great enough to draw the water back through the crevasses. Most terrific currents, the roar from which can be heard here during the still hours of the night, are tearing through the country below, carrying destruction with them.

Everitt to the supreme court of the United States. The court decided that the bond of $15,000 which the firm had filed was insufficient, as it did not cover the reasonable costs of the appeal, and an order was made that the firm should on Saturday next enter real estate security to the sum of $50,000.

Chicago's Cat Telegraph Wires.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Judge Drummond, of the U. S. circuit court, this morning rendered his final decision in the case of the Mutual Union telegraph company. He emphasized his former opinion that the mayor's action in cutting the wires was unlawful, and action, but held that as mutual rights had terminated under the charter the court could not order wires repaired or prevent the city from carrying out the ordinance which prohibited stringing wires.
