He has accepted a position in a large drug store and will remain there until the fall course of lectures at one of the colleges of pharmacy opens, when he will attend them.

Nothing more is ever heard about the contemplated wagon bridge over the river here. The plan has evidently died for want of support; like the electric light project Pennsylvania railroad engine No. 161

Accordingly, at nine o'clock this morning there was a great crowd of little folks, several members of the board of directors and a goodly number of parents in attendance. It was soon seen that the applicants could not all be seated in the two rooms assigned them. Miss Younker, whose school is in the west room of the first floor, had 86 names on her roll, and Miss Smith, who occupies the west room on the second floor, had 43 advanced pupils. It required but a moment to see that it would be necessary to organize another school. The superintendent and the superintending committee therefore sent for Miss Salome Carpenter, of Miss Brunning's school, and placed her in charge of the east room of the first floor of the New street building, and 43 of the primary pupils assembled in Miss Younker's room were assigned her. It is believed that the three schools organized this morning will very soon have a max ium number of pupils, as all primary pupils living north of James street, east

The Columbia Pire Departme to the Rescue, A special dispatch to the INTELLIGEN CER from Columbia, about 1 p. m. to-day, reported a large fire raging in Middletown and that it had got so far beyond the con-trol of the local appliances that aid from Harrisburg had been sent for and the Columbia engines should be held in readiness to be forwarded at short notice. A later dispatch confirmed the first in formation and added that the conflagation is destructive and threatening; that summary requests for the Columbia engines have been received and at 2 p. m. the steamers and hoses were shipped by a fast freight train.

Further Particulars The INTELLIGENCER's special correspon dent at Harrisburg, in response to inquiries, sends the following:

HARRISBURG, March 12. 2:26 P. M.—A large barn at Middletown, filled with tobacco, belonging to Rife Brothers caught fire this morning from a spark from the Conewago furnace and was totally destroyed. Sparks from the barn were borne by the high winds all over the town, and for a time the citizens were fighting fire on the roofs of a number of houses. The large dwelling house owned by Raymond & Campbell and occupied by the families of Peters and Fralick took fire from a spark and was burned to the ground. The contents were saved. An engine and hose were sent from this city but arrived too late to be of service. A number of buildings were in great danger and for a time there was a panie in the town.

Direct from Middletown The following was received at 3 p. m., special to the INTELLIGENCER, direct from the scene of the fire :

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., March 12-3 P. M -At about 10:30 a. m. fire was discovered in an out building near Conewago iron works furnace, which shortly after communicated with a large stable on the same premises, both being consumed in a short time. A high wind prevailed at the time carrying sparks in every direction, firing four or five private residences on Ann street, which, however, were soon extinguished. At about 11 o'clock a large double house owned jointly by Seymour Raymond and Daniel Peters and occupied and that Mr. John Fraleck was found to be on fire. The building is situated near the P. R. R. station in a perfect nest of frame fire traps, and being dry and no fire extinguishing apparatus being at hand, it was soon destroyed, together with the office of William F. McClure, justice of the peace. Assistance was called for from Harrisburg and Columbia, but it arrived too late to be of much service, the fire having been controlled by the bucket brigade. During the progress of the fire it was feared that the Railroad hotel and the P. R. R. depot would also be consumed. The estimated loss is about six thousand dollars; partly insured.

THE M. E. CONFERENCE.

To Be Held In a Court House for the First The ninety sixth annual session of the Philadelphia conference of the Methodist church, which meets this year in Lancasthat body, held in a court house. When the confrence met in Reading in 1878, it convened for the first time in an opera nouse and several of the gatherings were held in the Presbyterian church. The first session of the conference was held in Philadelphia in 1772, on the 14th of July, where it was also held in 1774 and 1775, which makes it older by three years than any other conference in America. All the preachers present at that time were Europeans. The number of Methodists then in New York was 180; in On Friday afternoon the overcrowded of 1,160. At the last session of the conference there was reported an aggregate of 49,963 in the communion. The Wrong Man. A stranger called at Leaman Place on Thursday evening and offered his valise as collateral for the loan of fifty cents to reach his home by rail. Through sympathy he was promptly furnished the money by an open-hearted citizen and sent on his way rejoicing. Next morning he returned for it, and seeing a gentleman whom he supposed to be his benefactor kindly invited him up to "take something," After a friendly chat and several beers" he found he had the wrong man although in appearance very much alike. The other gentleman being in at the same time made the joke a good one, with the exception that the sparkling beverage did not get where it belonged.

A Poor Family Relieved.

Yesterday the family was brought to this city and fur-nished with tickets for their future home, for which they left rejoicing.

A fire alarm was struck from Box 12, in Centre square on Saturday night about 74 o'clock. It was caused by a small fire in the office of Dr. Cattell on Grant street, between Market and Prince. It appears that two blankets had been placed on a chair near the hot stove, from which they took fire. The foreman from engine com-pany No. 1 soon had a stream on and extinguished the fire after several blankets, chairs and a small hole in the floor

had been burned.

Discharged on a Writ. Andrew Eberly was committed for 30 days by Alderman McConomy, for being drunk and disorderly ten days ago. He was taken before Judge Livingston this afternoon on a writ of habers corpus, and his discharge was asked for. It was shown that Andrew is a hard working man and he promised to do better if allowed to go to his home in Lancaster township and work. There was no opposition to his discharge and be was let go.

Benjamin Butt, on complaint of John A. Shober, was arrested and committed for a hearing before Alderman McConomy. He is charged with the larceny of rags from Shober's paper mill. John Miller, on complaint of August Wilde, was committed for a hearing before
