ABOTHER DIVORCER WEDDED.

Entrings of a Conspicuous Journalist. we was a wedding here a few days to quiet and simple as to be quite in not with that of the short term milnator from Colorado a week co. In one respect only was there any relianty. The groom had been recently two of from his wife. It was the old tory of incompatibility, endured quietly ompetent to choose between their father ad mother. It was a hard choice, for he so been a good father, and she a devoted or the two sons, who have been here, and at be a sorrow for the daughter, now a ime, remained with her mother. In one comes the parents have been as widely reparated for fifteen years as they could have been if divorced then, instead of a few months ago. But the children have been a tie that has prevented the legal ion before. It hardly seems like al life, but more like the story of a The marriage of Stilson Hutchins ditor of the Washington Post, under ordicumstances would attract attention. Miss Brady is also well and favorably known by her family and connections, and ause of her cleverness and ability. She has occupied a position in one of the departments for some years, and at one time wrote letters for the Chicago Inter-Ocean, leaving the department for a year to devote herself to this work. But findng the labor too hard and not sufficiently remunerative, she gave it up and returned to her desk, where she remained until resigning to marry Mr. Hutchins. He made ample provision for his family, and, indeed, has always been very generous in the support of his wife and their children.

Whatever Mrs. Hutchins felt of sorrow. the accepted the legal separation as per haps the better way to bring happiness to both, and terminate the years of estrangent with their semblance of married And he on his wedding day received a letter from this wife of his youth and ther of his children, full of kind wishes for his future happiness and prosperity, and expressing the hope that this union would bring him the contentment he had failed to find in his first marriage.

The woman who could do this must ossess a strong, magnanimous nature, est enough to sacrifice herself for her sildren, and also for the man who put her aside for another woman. He could hardly forget his wife in New Hampshire. sending from her home among the bleak, granite hills a sort of blessing on his wed-ding, in such brave Christian words. Mr. Hutchins, with his new wife, sailed for Europe the next day, having left here soon after the ceremony for New York. On their return in the autumn they will begin housekeeping in the elegant house being built by the side of ex-Senator Wir-dom's handseme home on Massachusetts avenue. His wedding present to the bride was this house, given to her with full right and title, and the deed bearing her me. She was not a young, frivolous girl, but a mature woman of 35 or more. and not many years the junior of Mr.

A CLEVER SOAMP.

A Rural Community Defrauded of a Quarter of a Million Dollars.

O'Neil are still the town talk at Schenectady, N. Y. They will reach $250,000. Some of the creditors are impoverished, especially in his native town of Duanesburgh, where the people had unlimited confidence in his integrity and business capacity. They readily loaned him all of their savings. A number of widows and orphans have lost their all. In several instances he has forged assignments to mortgages and also sold notes in one or two instances and then resold copies so adroitly made by himself that the forgeries were not detected. He also forged the county clerk's certificate to mortgages, record and all. In one case he sold a note of $600 and when the maker came to pay it gave him a copy of his note, the signature and copy having been made by O'Neil so cleverly that the maker did not detect it and paid the forged note. He now is called upon to pay the original. His mother and sister are deprived of all of their income. The town of Duanesburgh has received a set back in prosperity which it will take years to recover from. The day before the break-up in his affairs the president of one of the banks in that city told a lady from whom O'Neil wanted to borrow $5,000 that O'Neil was as good as gold. No one knows where he has gone. Speculating in Wall street was the cause of his ruin and all of the misery which follows it.

FRIENDS AND PATRONS—This may be the last chance to secure the greatest bargains in fine Heavy-Weight WOOLENS ever offered in this city. Remember, I am going to close them out if possible this season. I have handled this class of goods for over 25 years. I am thoroughly familiar with the merits of all the leading makes of cloth in the market and do say I think the F. & H. and Johanny Edrecons are superior in finish, more reliable in color and more durable than any cloths produced in the WORLD. Remember, also, I am the only man in this city that has the NERVE to tackle these fine, high priced goods. They can only be had in large cities at prices not less than $70 to $75. I am closing mine out at $40 a suit.
