

COLUMBIA NEWS.

REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE. Events Along the Susquehanna—Interest in and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelligencer's Reporter.

Two runaways occurred on Locust street yesterday morning. One was a street car of which the driver was the amusement to a large crowd of spectators. The other was a team occupied by a lady from the country. It had been standing in front of Dr. Roger's office when a passing bicycle frightened it. Had it not been for the coolness displayed by the occupant of the buggy and the timely assistance of Mr. Paul Bletz, a serious accident might have resulted.

Mr. P. H. Calman, a Reading and Columbia railroad passenger engineer, died at his late residence on Manor street, yesterday, at 3:30 p. m., of consumption. The funeral will be held in St. Ann's cemetery, at Schuylkill Haven, Pa., to which place they will be removed on Saturday. Deceased formerly resided in Cressona, Pa., but entered the employ of the Reading & Columbia railroad, as an engineer, at the age of 21 years.

The town was thrown into a state of excitement last night by the alarm of fire. The ringing of bells, shrieking of whistles and cries from excited throngs of men and boys raised a perfect pandemonium for a while. When the alarm was learned to be a false one the different fire companies returned to their engine houses. Crowds still lingered on the streets, however, and a fire started at the result of a dispute which occurred on South Locust street. The police finally secured quiet by arresting two of the disturbers of the peace. The alarm of fire originated on South 4th street, but, of course, no person knows who started it. It was doubtless done to create a little diversion and excitement.

The Borough Budget. Mr. Jacob Kistler, one of Columbia's councilmen, and an employee at Bachman's planing mill, had his left hand so badly mangled by having it caught in a machine last night at 10 o'clock, that the four fingers required to be amputated at the first joint. Dr. Craig performed the operation.

A number of Columbians have received invitations to attend the commencement exercises of the Philadelphia college of pharmacy, which will be held at the Academy of Music, March 16. Mr. Harry B. Fasig, of this place, forms one of the executive committee.

Pennsylvania railroad engine No. 870, had its pilot torn off at the R. & C. railroad crossing in the east yard of the former road yesterday morning. The broken ring of a switch caused the mishap.

The Keely stove company stock offered at public sale last night was not sold. The owners would not leave it to go at the sum offered, which was $200.

The falling limb of a tree which was being trimmed on Union street yesterday, struck Mrs. Catharine Hardy on the head and severely bruised her.

The pay cars of the Pennsylvania, Frederick and Port Deposit railroads were here yesterday paying off their employees of the respective roads. Yesterday was also pay day at the St. Charles furnace.

The cellar are now being dug for ten new dwelling houses, on the street between Walnut and Chestnut streets. They will be completed without tenants being completed, if not to large rents are demanded.

On Tuesday evening, by the Rev. Walter Thompson, pastor of the A. M. E. church, Samuel Smith and Annie Dargone were united in marriage. The high church ceremony was performed by Rev. Thompson. A number of number of new telephone connections are now being made in town.

The new pastor of the United Brethren church, Rev. J. P. Pank, will preach his first sermon on Sunday morning. The place was called Soudersburg by Benjamin and Jacob Souders, the proprietors. They were both Methodists, Benjamin being a local preacher. Methodism was introduced here in 1791, and a house of worship was built in 1801.

The conference is this referred to in Asbury's journal. On the Sabbath, May 27, 1804, the Rev. John Souders, of Lancaster, preached at the conference in Baltimore. Bishop Asbury presided and the Rev. Henry Boehm, the noted revivalist, who died lately at an advanced age, and who, it will be remembered, was born in this county, about six miles below Lancaster. In the chapel which bears Boehm's name and was the first Methodist church of this region, the Sunday, Bishop Asbury preached on the conference before the assembling of the Soudersburg conference.

Information Wanted. About the Pope who issued a Bull against the Comet.

Editors Intelligencer.—In an editorial article upon the subject of the tariff March 13 inst., I notice that you make use of the expression "an inconsequential conference" but against the comet. The word "ineffectual" would have probably conveyed your meaning better than "inconsequential." But no matter. We will not split hairs upon that. Being of a curious turn, and supposing from the off hand manner in which you quote that you have had some proof of the fact, or at least, good authority for your implied belief in the existence of such a bull, or decretal, I would be pleased to learn of you the name of the pope who issued it, its date, and, if possible, the text.

There is nothing better than a writer than the power to verify his quotations, at least, so says some notable English writer, I forgot whom.

I have seen and read the bulls of many popes, disciplinary and comminatory, but have not yet met with the one you refer to. Truly, I have frequently met with illusions of it, but they have been generally made by those who have sought to throw odium upon, and to ridicule the Catholic church and its teachers. I do not think that in this case you had any such intention, but would it not be well to have some authority for the sentiment you followmen as to avoid giving offense by scoffing and sneering at what they hold sacred. A belief existed at one time, which I know has not yet entirely passed away—that comets did, or might exert an evil influence upon the human race, and it may be that at some time, some pope may by a bull have called upon the faithful to offer prayer to Almighty God for his protection against cometary or other supposed evil influences, even as we do now when an epidemic of cholera is raging.

That would not be a great danger threat. But that would not be a great danger threat. But that would not be a great danger threat.

Violating Revenue Laws. Deputy United States Marshal J. A. Hollinger last night arrested B. F. Alexander, of Dananodon, Perry county. He had bought a lot of cigars on which the tax had not been paid, and he was taken to the jail. He is held in lieu of $1000.

Death of Mrs. Dais. Mrs. Anna M. Dais, wife of Christopher Dais, groceryman on South Queen street, died this morning, after a lingering illness. She was in the 65 year of her age, and besides a number of children, she left a large family to mourn her loss. It has been but a short time since the death of her son Frank occurred.

Edward Besterman had a hearing last evening before Alderman Spurrier on the charge of larceny of chickens from Jacob Wh. He was held in bail for trial at 1000.

APPLICANTS FOR ANNOU... (partially obscured)

Representative A. Herr Smith desires it to be known that he has selected a board to examine applicants for the naval academy at Annapolis under the competitive system, who will meet for that purpose in the city of Lancaster, on Saturday, April 14, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Regulations: Candidates over 18 on May 15, 1883, need not apply. Certificates from the family physician must be furnished, showing that the candidate is physically sound, well formed and of robust constitution.

Dry Goods Store Opening. Mr. George Fainstock has rented the store on East King, which was until recently occupied by David Henry, and will carry on the dry goods business. He has just opened his store with a bran new stock of goods and it presents a handsome appearance. He has had large experience in the business, and as he is well acquainted with the wants of Lancaster people in his line he should be successful.

A Beautiful Robe. Frederick J. Scheuing has just finished another robe, which is handsomer than the one recently described in the Intelligencer. It is made of several thousand pieces of fur, from different animals, including those of wild cat, skunk, red fox, martin, muskrat, water mink, Siberian squirrel, racoon and others. The design is beautiful and the workmanship very fine.

Erecting a Large Pole. The American rapid telegraph company will in a few days remove their Centre Square office to Bowers' grocery store. In order to have no obstruction in the way of their wires, they have had a very large pole erected in front of Habebush's store yesterday. It was a big job to get the massive stick in place, and it fell once with tremendous force. No one was injured, although several made narrow escapes.

The Amusement Season. But few shows are booked for this month. "The Corsican Brothers" was to have been played this week, but nothing has been heard of the party, which is believed to be a barometer. Mr. Yecker has quite a number of applicants for April, when the business will be better than so near Easter.

An Order That Effects Train Men. Another order of the Reading railroad company that is being enforced at the present is that requiring all trainmen to be at their places during the entire trip. Here-tofore they could be protected from the weather by going into the cab or caboose. "Spotters" are along the road to see that the rule is obeyed.

Revival. The revival which has been in progress in Union Bethel church for some time past, and which was supposed to be about closed, took a fresh start last evening by two persons presenting themselves for prayer. There will be preaching this evening.

Tobacco Sales. John Beard, of Black Horse, Chester county, sold one acre of tobacco to Hoff man & Son, for 23, 12, 6, 3; Peter Souders, of Sadsbury, Lancaster county, sold 24 acres to Hoffman & Son, for 25, 12, 6, 3; same to same, 24 acres, for 20, 10, 6, 3.

Death of a Valuable Horse. A valuable driving horse belonging to David A. Mayer, tobacco dealer, died at Brimmer's stable this morning. He was only taken sick last evening and was valued at $500.

Only Lodgers. The mayor had only three bums this morning and they were allowed to run.

Life Insurance Paid. Mr. W. Virain, assistant superintendent of the Metropolitan insurance company, of New York, has just paid a sum of $1000, the amount of a policy in said company on the life of his sister.

Announcements. "Rip Van Winkle" To-night.—This evening in Fulton opera house Lancaster theatre-goers will have an opportunity of seeing the exceedingly fine and brilliant impersonation of the vagabond of the Catskills by Robert McWade, who has everywhere won high encomiums for his artistic and yet natural conception of the character. Mr. McWade has made the "Rip Van Winkle" a success. He has proven himself thoroughly able to give an adequate rendition of the title role of the play, which abounds in many pleasing incidents and agreeable situations.

Why, what are you putting that on my feet for? "Why, to draw the cold out of your head," answered the confidante nurse. "The deuce you say, I would rather have it stay where it is than to draw the whole length of my body." "Any rate there is a more pleasant method than that, and got me a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
