Joseph Mason took the same view and argued for a home missionary society; missions are needed right in the territory of this conference, as badly as in the Southern states, on the plains or in heathen W. J. Paxson was glad the discussion had arisen; thought it would do good; forward the admission of all fit young men but would have them remain on probation for a greater length of time than is Mr. Elliott again took the floor and favored an increase of the presiding elders of this conference to eight. When we had six, one-half more work was done than has en done since the number has been reduced to four. Mr. MacLaughlin made an animated speech on the same subject.

Mr. A. Johnson and Mr. G. Cummins

endorsed Mr. Naylor as a man well qualified for the work. A vote was taken and Mr. Naylor was received. The name of A. Thopmson was then called and on motion the presiding elder was authorized to withdraw his name but continue to employ him.

The name of F. B. Nixon was then presented. Some objection was made that his physical health was an objection to him, but his fitness was endorsed by several members of conference and he was received by an almost unanimous vote. James S. McKinley's name was called, and on motion his name was withdrawn and the presiding elder authorized to con-

WILLIAM PENN CHANDLER. The First Secretary of The Philadelphis Annual Conference.

The journal of the conference dates from 1800. Prior to that the record of the proceedings of conferences were kept by a clerk, appointed by Bishop Asbury, and these were kept by the bishop. The general conference of 1800 instructed each annual conference to appoint a secretary of its own, and to carefully preserve its journal. The records as kept by Bishop Asbury were destroyed in the fire which consumed the book concern, February 18, 1836. The first journal is in the handwriting of Rev. Wm. Penn Chandler. He was a noted revivalist and had no superior in his day in coducting camp meetings. He was the instrument, under God, of a glorious revival of religion on Chester and Lancaster circuits in 1798. In its sweeping spread it reached Boehm's chapel. As early as 1775 a class was formed at Rev. Martin Boehm's, the father of Rev. Henry Beohm. mother of the latter was one of the first who joined. Until the chapel was built, the grandfather's house was used as the preaching place, except on great occasions, when it was too small; then they used the barn. Boehm's chapel was erected in 1791; so called as it was built upon Boehm's land in Boehm's neighborhood, and because the different families of Boehms did much toward its erection, and were regular attendants there. Jacob the brother of Henry Boehm, gave the land for the house and the burying ground. "Here lieth the dust of William Jessop and Michael R. Wilson." Jessop was stationed in Wilmington, Delaware, in 1789-its

Rev. Thomas Ware had been appointed to the circuit in 1798. Thomas Ware was the presiding elder, William Colbert and William Chandler the circuit preachers. We note one of the places where this wonderful revival broke out-at Boehm's. Henry Boehm records that "the meeting began on Saturday, and while the presiding elder [Ware] was pray-ing the Holy Ghost filled the house where they had assembled. The work of revival commenced, and such were the cries of distress, the prayers for mercy heard all over the house, in the gallery as well as the lower part, that it was impossible for Mr. Ware to preach. He came down from the pulpit, and the brethren went to the penitent ones, as they found them in different parts of the house, and pointed them to Jesus, and prayed with them. They were assembled in different groups praying for the broken hearted. and one after another found redemption in the blood of the lamb. It was impossible to close the meeting, so it - continued all day and most of the night. Sunday morn ing came and they attempted to hold a regular love-feast, but all in vain. The cries of mourners, the prayers for mercy, and shout after shout as one after another passed from death unto life, made it impossible to proceed. On Saturday, when I beheld my niece Nancy Keaggy kneeling near me in an agony of prayer asking for mercy, the comparatively innocent child so intent on forgiveness, my heart was melted, my eyes were filled with tears, and again I knelt down and there 'gave my wanderings o'er by giving God my heart.' There God restored to me the joy of his salvation. Then I united with the church, a duty I ought to have performed years before. was admitted by Thomas Ware." Boehm lived to be the centenarian of the church, and died over a hundred years old. He always claimed Chandler as his spiritual | The chicken is very large.

While attempting to board an eastboun freight train of the Pennsylvania railroad, in the east yards here yesterday, about 1:45 p. m., Harry Allott, a young man of 19, from Wilmington, Del., had the big toe of his right foot crushed and his left leg broken near the hip and badly out at the knee. He contrived to catch the hand rail when he jumped for the car, but his foot missed its hold and went under the wheel. The leg was no doubt broken when he fell to the track, after being dragged some distance, for even after his foot was hurt he still clung to the car. Dr. Lineaweaver amputated the mangled toe and attended to his other injuries. He was sent to the Lancaster hospital for treatment Had it not been for a colored companion of the unfortunate youth, who dragged him from under the cars when he fell, both legs would have been taken off Both of the young men were tramps.

Last Night's Storm. A heavy storm prevailed here for several hours last night. Considerable damage was done to the streets and pavements. The sewers at the foot of Locust and Walnut streets were choked up with the rubbish carried down in the gutters, and rendered useless for carrying the water through to the river. The consequence was that dirt and filth were scattered over the pavements and streets, and several cellars were filled with water. Pedestrians at the street crossings at these points were obliged to wade through water half a foot Burned With a Torch.

Mr. Edward Kesler, an employee at the Pennsylvania railroad round house here. was badly burned about the face and body early on Sunday morning, by the ex-plosion of a kerosine torch which is used to light the fires of engines. Several men were fortunately near by when the acci-dent occurred and rendered prompt assis tance. Had such not been the case he would have met with a horrible death. His injuries have rendered him unable to be at work, but he is much improved to day. Kiver Game.

The sportsmen are rubbing their hands in anticipation of a season of sport with the wild ducks and geese. Large flocks are seen almost daily wending their way farther north. It will be but a short time before the ducking season opens here, and then the crack of guns may be heard on the river at almost any hour. Old prophets predict a good season.

Disorder at a Disreputable Place. Two young men were before 'Squire Young, last evening charged by Jennie Kane with creating a disturbance at her place on Fifth street. They were compelled to pay the costs for being drunk, but no evidence could be brought to show that they had been disorderly. Warrants are out for the arrest of two others.

Led Into a Trap.

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph. It is to be feared that the brethren of the Philadelphia Methodist conference have been adroitly led into a dangerous trap in regard to the tobacco question. A bright young preacher, whose friskiness when a boy made a sudden turn in life towards the pulpit a general surprise to his friends, finds the use of tobacco 'useful" in helping him to keep his extraordinary allowance of nerves under reasonable control, and getting two medical friends to endorse this opinion he successfully pleads to be permitted to continue the indulgence. Here is a precedent touching the tobacco question that may prove almost as demoralizing as the well known weakness of the late Bishop Scott. If a physician's informal certificate is all that is necessary to enable a preacher to "pass" when the tobacco query is presented, there will be no difficulty hereafter in getting through.

Run Over by a Horse and Wagon. John Bostick, of Frederick street, em-ployed at Kulp's foundry, was leading a first pastor-Chandler at the request of horse hitched to a heavy wagon yesterday afternoon, when the animal became unmanageable. The man fell under his feet and was badly tramped in the stomach. The wagon, on which there were 1,400 pound of iron, passed over his body. No bones were broken, but he is very severely bruised and internally injured. Dr. Albright is attending him.

A Fight and an Arrest. Yesterday Henry Ubertus got drunk with Edward Ford. The result was that they had a fight, in which Ubertus came out second best. The vanquished hero remained on the street, however, and after making considerable noise was arrested by Officer Smith. Before Alderman Barr he paid his costs and was discharged.
